General Strike Is Terminated At Pekin, Ill.

POLICE CHIEF IS TARGET OF UNIONS

Remains On Job, However, Despite Demands Made By Strikers

(International News Service)

PEKIN, Ill., Feb. 7.—Business, paralyzed for 52 hours by a general strike, returned to normal today as the toil-hardened hand of labor relaxed its strangle hold.

Both threats and compromises figured in the strike termination.

Union leaders decided to call off the strike when informed officials of the American Distilling Company, whose labor troubles were the basic cause of the general walkout, agreed to keep the plant closed until its labor difficulties had been settled.

Police Chief Remains

However, labor's demand that police chief Harry Donahue be ousted was unsatisfied. Enmity against Danahue was occasioned by his zeal in dispersing pickets, attempting to prevent reopening of the distilling company plant, by means of tear and stench bombs.

So bitter was antagonism towards Chief Donahue, demand for his ouster overshadowed the distilling company controversy where strikers charged the company discriminated against union laborers.

Mayor W. E. Schurman, whose refusal to oust his police chief gained him the enmity of strikers, today estimated Pekin's enforced "holiday" cost merchants "between $500,000 and $1,000,000 and gave the city a blackened name which will take 25 years to outlive."

PA NEWC OBSERVES

An unusual sight was noticed last night on one of the street cars of New Castle. A Cascade Park car was noticed bearing the destination "Grant Street." This error attracted quite a bit of attention from pedestrians.

* * *

An autoist attempting to park in front of the postoffice last night failed to stop at the curb and the car slid up over the sidewalk and almost on the lawn. The car narrowly missed striking several pedestrians who were on the walk.

Young Pa Newc registered his first fall of the season this morning on East Long avenue, as he was about to enter his car. The writer fell flat on his back, sustaining a lacerated elbow.

A group of North Hill boys were indulging in a dangerous practice recently, which was promptly broken up by their parents when it was found out. The boys had read about youngsters somewhere else using picture frames, with the glass in them, as windshields on their sleds. One youth, unable to get a picture frame was using cardboard and coasting "blind". He ran into a bobsled and lost most of his front teeth.

About three weeks from tomorrow, a considerable number of New Castle and Lawrence county folks will observe an unusual birthday, one that actually comes every four years. They are the persons who were born in Leap Year, on February 29. If you are one of these persons who will celebrate a birth-

Gets Greeting From Landon

West Middlesex Nurse To Baby Landon Is Remembered On Birthday

MRS. BAIRD IS MUCH PLEASED

In all her 85 years of living Mrs. Mary Reed Baird of West Middlesex, nurse to Governor Alf Landon of Kansas, never had as much fuss made over her birthday as she has had today. Letters and telegrams and personal visits are marking the day, and the highlight of them all is a letter from Governor Landon.

In the letter to the charming old lady he said, "Permit me to congratulate you for a life that has been spent in making the road brighter for those about you. May the years continue to be good to you, and may God bless you for your good and kindly life. Many happy returns and best wishes."

Mrs. Baird was overjoyed today at the attention she received. Speaking of Governor Landon, she said: "Maybe he'll be President, but it seems just yesterday when he was a little baby and I held him on my knee. If he's elected this rug I'm making for him may be used in the White House."

Argue Contest Over Election Of Cooper To House

Youngstown Congressman Is Facing Probe Before House Committee

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—Argument in the contested election case involving Rep. John G. Cooper (R) of Youngstown, Ohio, were postponed until tomorrow following a preliminary hearing by the house elections committee today.

The committee is considering charges on fraudulent election charges brought against Cooper by Locke Miller, of Youngstown, the defeated Democratic candidate.

Through his attorney, Timothy T. Ansberry, Miller asked for an additional 24 hours in which to study Cooper's general denial of the charges.

The charges included allegations that Cooper distributed West Point and Annapolis appointment for "political reasons" and misrepresented his congressional activities to voters.

In his denial, Cooper said he had won the election fairly by a margin of over 4,000 votes.

Miners' Leaders Refuse Heavy Salary Increases

By HARRY WARD
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7—John L. Lewis and other officers of the United Mine Workers today refused to accept the heavy increases in salaries voted them yesterday by the annual convention now meeting here.

The pay raises were voted late yesterday amid considerable confusion, with a large bloc of delegates shouting "no" and arguing that with many miners and their families in dire straits it was no time to boost executive salaries. In Lewis' case, his salary was increased from $12,000 to $25,000 a year, which would have made him the highest paid labor leader in the country.

Lewis announced to the convention at the morning session the officers' decision not to accept the increases. It was greeted with a mixture of applause and protest.

He ascribed their decision to "the

NEAR LEADERLESS SAYS KILGALLEN

Will Be Badly Split At Democratic Convention In Philadelphia

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN

(Copyright, 1936, By International News Service)

NEW YORK, Feb. 7.—Tammany Hall has lost its "punch" and cunning.

Lacking a unified front and its former "common touch" with its own people, Tammany is giving every indication of going to the Democratic national convention in Philadelphia as a house divided, with its prestige slumping to a new low and its leaders quibbling among themselves.

Tammany today is in a sorry position and, according to competent political observers, its chief trouble is that it lacks a real, hard-hitting spokesman.

The Situation.

2—Jim Farley is the big Roosevelt man of Tammany.

3—Al Smith is the big anti-Roosevelt man of Tammany.

4—Jimmy Walker is in political retirement.

6—Jim Foley is a judge and, being on the bench, is silent.

So who talks for Tammany these days? Nobody. Dooling is never quoted in the press. He is even more inarticulate, publicly, than his predecessor, the tight-lipped John F. Curry.

Farley Dominates.

Dooling was put in as Tammany leader through the influence of James A. Farley, Democratic national chairman, but, political sharps say, Dooling "hasn't measured up".

A few nights ago it was necessary to have 100 policemen on the job to maintain order at a meeting at which a Dooling aide was chosen Tammany leader of the 19th assembly district.

Tammany hasn't been able to "take the play away" from the fusion mayor, Fiorella La Guardia, even though all kinds of things are going askew in the La Guardia administration.

Local Delegation To Go To Beaver County To Hear Presidential Aspirant

New Castle and Lawrence county will be represented in Beaver Falls tonight when the 25th annual dinner of the Beaver County Manufacturer's association will be held in the Brodhead hotel. Col. Frank Knox of Chicago, Ill., possible Republican candidate for president will be the speaker of the evening.

His address will likely follow along the lines he has laid down in other addresses. He is and has been for some time anti-New Deal and his address tonight is expected to be in the nature of a bid for support of the Pennsylvania delegation in the Cleveland convention in June.

State Cold Wave Moderates Some

ALL TRAFFIC IS UNDER HANDICAP

(International News Service)

A heavy blanket of snow fell over Pennsylvania today, hiding the treacherous ice that sheathed sidewalks, streets and roads throughout the commonwealth.

Temperatures were somewhat "mild" compared to the recent bitter cold marks, Philadelphia reported 15 in the morning, Harrisburg 14 and Pittsburgh 19.

The blinding snow wreaked havoc with all forms of transportation in western Pennsylvania. Flights were canceled in Pittsburgh. Trains were behind schedule. Automobiles crept along at a snail's pace. Highways outside the city were dangerous.

Several Injured

The snow fell just as highway workers were viewing with satisfaction their progress of the past several days. More men were immediately mobilized to clear away the flakes.

Several were injured in falls in Philadedphia. Minor automobile accident were numerous there. Snow of at least six inches was predicted for the Quaker city. Two inches were expected at Harrisburg. Pittsburgh weather officials said it would continue to snow probably today and tomorrow.

Films Satirizing Administration Being Held Up

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Feb. 7—Foes of the Rooseveit administration today belabored the city's board of censors as they awaited the decision of police Commissioner John Allman on the showing of three motion picture films criticizing and satirizing the administration.

Police Lieutenant Harry Costello, head of the censor board, said last night he would have to submit the matter to Commissioners Allman after viewing the films with the board members.

Lieut. Costello said he objected to all the films because they "are propaganda against the Roosevelt administration."

"I'm a Democrat," Lieut. Costello said, "I thought the pictures were disrespectful. They hold the president up to ridicule. After all, he's our president, and he shouldn't be held up to ridicule."

The censor board head said he wanted his "boss," Commissioner Allman, to make the final decision."

Long Controversy Is Waged Insurance Rate On Mayor's Relief Workers

Aetna Life Insurance company, of Hartford, Conn., has been awarded a judgment, amounting to $3,485.92, against the City of New Castle as a result of the suit brought months ago by the company to force the city to pay its claim for insurance on mayor's relief committee's employes taken out several years ago, it was stated in council today. The decision given by Judge Gibson in U. S. district court may be appealed to the supreme court by the city.

The decision reads:

"On January 19, 1935, this court in deciding a preliminary action, filed a memorandum opinion which recites the controversy between the parties subsequent to the date mentioned. The plaintiff and defendant have waived jury trial and pursuant to that agreement the matter was tried by the court.

Governor Hoffman Turns On His Critics

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Feb. 7.—Governor Harold G. Hoffman of New Jersey observed his fortieth birthday today by turning on the critics who have attacked him for his intervention in the Hauptmann case.

The governor spoke at the annual dinner of the H. G. H. Birthday Club, composed of his personal followers, here last night and voiced his determination to give his foes "a fight—plenty of fight,"

The executive's address was a direct reply to the action of the Republican state committee on Wednesday, when it announced at Trenton that it was replacing the governor as active head of the party in his state.

No Mention Of Reprieve

He made no mention of his action in reprieving Bruno Richard Hauptmann but charged his political enemies were chagrined at "my effrontery in being elected governor without their help."

Far Eastern Border Crisis Appears Near Explosive Point By Reports

PEIPING, Feb. 7.—More than 5,000 Japanese-Manchukuo troops were reported moving toward the Soviet-controlled border of outer Mongolia today to forestall an allegedly planned Soviet-Mongol invasion of Manchukuo.

The long-smouldering Russo-Japanese Far Eastern border crisis, which flared increasingly frequently in recent weeks, appeared near the explosive point as a series of ominous reports poured into Peiping.

To Dislodge Mongols

The march of the Japanese and Manchukuon troops, crack units already noted for their ferocity and effectiveness as a result of their "capturing" much of Chahar province for Japan, was said in dispatches from Manchukuo to be aimed at dislodging Mongol forces now occupying the Heilumoto and Urahatga districts.

Frenzied Marital Relations Of Aged Man Are Climaxed In Shooting

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)

KEARNEY, Mo. Feb. 7—Zenus F. Milburn, 89, wrote a new chapter into his frenzied marital relations with his 22-year old estranged wife today when he shot and killed her stepfather, Jacob Fiscus, 60.

The scene of the shooting was Milburn's home here which has housed the aged man and Fiscus and his wife since last November when Milburn's "in-laws" moved in on him from their home in Independence, Mo.

Neighbors told Joseph Thompson, Kearney town marshal, that there had been frequent quarreling in the Milburn home. Milburn told the marshal that he had quarreled yesterday with Fiscus over a $65 check.

Heavy Snowfall At Washington

At 8:30 last evening, they were called to the home of E. J. Trent, of 411 East Washington street, where a child playing with a candle, set fire to the window blind. The damage was small.

Tax Program To Be Restricted

Administration To Limit New Taxes To Replacing Processing Taxes

INFLATION DRIVE WILL BE SHATTERED

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—The administration decided today to restrict its new tax program chiefly, if not wholly, to replacing the processing taxes outlawed by the supreme court.

As the program was shaped for submission to congress next week there were further indications of intensified efforts by the administration to minimize the effect of a campaign year tax bill by lopping off governmental expenditures.

The program means abandonment of proposals to levy new taxes to pay for the soldiers' bonus and efforts to hold relief appropriations down this session.

Convinced that there will be no bonus taxes, congressional leaders declared the drive of house inflationists to pay the bonus with new currency will be shattered. Having decided to provide $450,000,000 to $500,000,000 to finance the new farm program the administration was seeking "painless taxes" for submission to congress.

High officials hinted of tax levies which could be enacted in the face of a national campaign without arousing intense opposition either in or out of congress.

Some Plans Proposed

The processing taxes, as they existed under the new scrapped AAA may not be reenacted, except retroactively to recover $200,000,000 freed by courts and to protect the $1,000,000,000 processing taxes already collected and in the treasury.

Spreading of processing taxes over many farm products, instead of confining them to a few as under AAA, a general sales tax and "luxury" excise levies were among the suggestions for new tax levies. A definite decision will not be made until next week.

Because the supreme court linked processing taxes with farm benefit

House Committee Report Displays Diversity On Plan

ONE MEMBER SAYS PLAN MERITS DEFEAT

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—A three way split in the house agriculture committee on the administration's proposed new $500,000,000 farm program was disclosed with the filing of the committee's formal report on the bill today.

Democratic members backed the bill. Seven Republicans demanded hearings on a permanent plan, and Rep. Boileau (P) of Wisconsin, said the bill in its present form should be defeated.

Republican members, in their minority report asserted that the administration's bill is inadequate to meet the farm problem and would injure dairy interests.

Favor Landon's Plan

They proposed that, a new bill based upon principles approved by Gov. Alf Landon of Kansas, Republican presidential prospect, be worked out.

Chairman Jones (D) of, Texas, who filed the majority report asserted that the bill is a sound substitute for the outlawed AAA, and is constitutional. He said:

"Under the temporary plan, the producer is completely free to do as he pleases with his farm. There is no coercion upon him to change his practices, to adopt any particular practice, or to fail to adopt any practice. Not only has the farmer freedom of choice, but the secretary of agriculture is expressly forbidden to bind him to any choice."

Soil conservation, the majority report, asserted is necessary to protect fertility of the land.

The temporary plan, it was pointed out, is effective only until Dec. 31, 1937. After that, the "little AAA" plan, under which the federal government makes appropriations to aid the states to control production is provided for.

The seven Republicans who signed the minority report were: Reps. Hope, Kansas; Anderson, Minnesota; Kinzer, Pennsylvania; Tobey, New Hampshire; Marshall, Ohio; Goodwin, New York; and Gilchrist, Iowa.

California Waging War On Itinerant Indigents

(International News Service)

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 7.—With his "foreign legion" effectually sealing the state's borders, Police Chief James E. Davis today had sent into action his home "troops" as the second drastic step in a campaign to purge Los Angeles of itinerant indigents.

As reports from the "front" showed a marked decline in the number of itinerants journeying to California, Gov. Richard Kirman of Nevada made an official plea to California Governor Frank Merriam to stop the threat of vagrants being turned back into his state. At the same time Gov. Merriam revealed he had appealed to the federal government for aid in solving the indigent transient problem.

Chief Davis, who started it all by assigning 136 Los Angeles officers to various border points hundreds of miles out of the city, today ordered flying squads of city police to round up all vagrants and beggars in the city.

Sheriff Eugene Biscailuz issued similar orders for Los Angeles county. A plea was issued to Los Angeles women to notify authorities at once if any "panhandler knocked at doors in the residential districts.

PLAN PACIFIC COAST DEFENSE

Secret Plans Are Given To Congress

Project Would Strengthen Defense Against Attack From Air

COAST ARTILLERY TO BE INCREASED

By KINGSBURY SMITH
International News Service Staff Correspondent
(World Copyright, 1936, by International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—Secret plans for strengthening the Pacific coast defenses have been submitted to congress by the War Department.

The plans are now being formed into a five-year defense development program by Rep. Tilman Parks (D) of Arkansas. Parks plans to press for house action at this session on the bill when drafting has been completed in order that the program may be launched this year.

Involving the expenditure of millions of dollars along the Pacific coast and in Hawaii, the plans call particularly for strengthening the defense works of the Pacific coast against the danger of enemy aerial raids.

Mobile Anti-Aircraft Units

They call for establishment of Mobile anti-aircraft units in the San Francisco and Oakland, Calif., area for the protection of the new San Francisco bay bridge. This bridge is now considered by army experts to be dangerously vulnerable to aerial attack.

The army wants to establish Mobile anti-aircraft units, such as 3-inch anti-aircraft guns; 50-calibre machine guns; searchlights and sound locators, in the nearby army posts and airfields, especially at Fort Winifield Scott on the San Francisco side and Benton field on the Oakland side.

With adequate anti-aircraft equipment stationed at these nearby posts and air fields, the army high command believes it could protect the bridge from destruction at the hands of enemy aerial raiders. The plans envisage rushing the motorized anti-aircraft guns not only to both ends of the bridge but on the bridge itself and, by rapid-fire, throwing up a ring of steel that would spell destruction for any enemy war-bird that ventured within striking distance of the bridge.

The anti-aircraft defense situation along the entire Pacific coast is now considered deplorably weak. There is only one anti-aircraft unit on the Pacific coast north of the Panama Canal. This is stationed at Fort MacArthur and is considered in itself inadequate for the protection of San Diego.

The new plans also call for increasing the personnel of the coast artillery defenses along the coast. The harbor defense works all along the Pacific are considered not only inadequate but dangerously undermanned.

Your Income Tax In Brief

No. 11
EXEMPTION ALLOWED HEAD OF A FAMILY

A head of a family is defined by income-tax regulations as "an individual who actually supports and maintains in one household one or more persons who are closely connected with him by blood relationship, relationship by marriage, or by adoption, and whose right to exercise family control and provide for these dependent individuals is based upon some moral or legal obligation." The exemption allowed a head of a family is $2,500. The phrase "in one household" may be interpreted as meaning the taxpayer's personal residence, an apartment, rooms in a boarding house, hotel, etc.

Under certain circumstances it is not necessary that the taxpayer and his dependents live under one roof during the entire taxable year in order that the taxpayer may claim the exemption. If, the common home being maintained, the parent is away on business, or a child away at school or on a visit, the exemption is allowed. Moreover, if a parent is obliged to maintain his dependent children with relatives or in a boarding house, while he lives elsewhere the exemption still applies. If, however, without necessity, the dependent makes his home elsewhere, the benefactor is not the head of a family.

The same ruling applies to husband and wife "living together". If occasionally and temporarily the husband is away on business or the wife on a visit, the common home being maintained, the $2,500 exemption still applies. The unavoidable absence of husband or wife at a sanatorium does not preclude the exemption. But if the husband continuously makes his home at one place and the wife at another, they are not living together within the meaning of the revenue act.

prayer that I may be right more often than I am wrong—but I will make them myself."

Meanwhile Hoffman was preparing today for his first conference with Col. H. Norman Schwarzkopf, superintendent of the New Jersey state police, on the progress of his re-opened investigation into the Lindbergh case. The governor ordered Col. Schwarzkopf to report to him weekly.

No G-Men Aid

From Trenton came a report that Gov. Hoffman's known desire to be the Republican nominee for the vice-presidency may cause him to forego his feud with Col. Schwarzkopf and reappoint him when his term expires in June. The governor had previously been represented as desiring to replace Schwarzkopf with a man of his own choosing.

Active aid to Governor Hoffman in the renewed Lindbergh investigation has been refused by the federal government. Attorney General Cummings announced in Washington that he will not assign G-men to the case, though he will make their Lindbergh files available to the governor's investigators.

"Nothing of any consequence has happened in the case since Hauptmann's arrest," was Cummings' comment.

many manifestations of disagreement," with the conventions action, and said under the circumstances they would not accept the money.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—Over the protest of a dissenting minority, the United Mine Workers today substantially increased the salaries of the executive officers.

President John L. Lewis was raised from $12,000 to $25,000 a year, Vice President Phillip Murray and Secretary-Treasurer Thomas Kennedy from $9,000 to $18,000, Ellis Searles, editor of the Miners' Journal, $4,000 to $7,000; executive board members $300 to $500 a month.

A large block of delegates opposed the increases and there was a demand for roll call. This, however, was refused because the opponents of the raises could not muster the necessary 30 per cent for a roll call.

One of the important changes in the union's constitution opened an additional point of controversy with the A. F. of L. The amendment covers jurisdiction over workmen "in and around coal processing plants". The change will affect about 100,000 unorganized men in by-products and gas and chemical plants which the miners wish to include in their union.

The convention is expected to take action today in support of the national radio and allied trades which reported the A. F. of L. executive council had refused to grant them an industrial union charter and, against their wishes, had transferred them to the International Brotherhood of Elecrical Workers.

"We ask the mine workers to protest against such arbitrary action and to support the right of the organized radio workers to establish a national union in the radio industry," officers of the radio group told the convention.

In response to a query from the floor regarding possibility of the union withdrawing from the A. F. of L., Lewis said such withdrawal would "depend on conditions" and that the union's executive board would determine the policy as conditions might arise. For the present, he added, "the status quo remains."

TAMMANY HALL ORGANIZATION IS BADLY DISRUPTED

The schools are in a deplorable condition. During former Mayor Walker's regime he took pride in his slogan: "A seat for every child." But today the children are going to school part time.

Overcrowding in the city's high schools reached its peak this week when 259,173 pupils presented themselves for the opening of the spring term. Double sessions prevail in the high schools, with triple sessions in several institutions.

Vice Is Rampant.

Vice is rampant. A special prosecutor of rackets, Thomas E. Dewey, recently staged synchronized raids in which 164 plainclothes men invaded shady places and made wholesale arrests. Bail of $435,000 has been set for ten alleged ring leaders of a syndicate accused of operating 200 disorderly houses in New York City.

When "Honest John" Hylan was Democratic mayor of New York City he drove prostitutes from the city's streets and Jimmy Walker, who followed him, also kept the nation's biggest city clean of "women of the evening".

Even though the New York City situation today is 'made to order" for the Democratic party, Tammany is marking time in do-nothing fashion. Tammany—in the words of a prominent Tammanyite—has "lost its punch, its leadership, its spirit, its fight" and for the first time in a generation is taking things lying down.

Tammany is hibernating, "doing a Rip Van Winkle," and failing to take advantage of the weaknesses of the incumbent administration to inspire those still loyal to the Tammany organization.

Nationally, this condition bodes no good for Tammany prestige at the forthcoming national Democratic convention. And out of the vortex of the local mixup the American people as a whole visualize only two outstanding Tammany figures—Al Smith and Jim Farley. Smith in the public mind is identified more with the Liberty league than with Tammany. Farley is identified more with President Roosevelt than with Tammany.

So, political experts ask, where is the "leaderless' Tammany Hall going?

TAX PROGRAM TO BE RESTRICTED

payments, the administration may expand the tax program slightly so that it can be called a "general revenue" bill and survive any court action.

Chairman Doughton (D) of North Carolina of the house ways and means committee, said:

"I hope we won't ever have to levy taxes for the bonus. I think that by economizing in many ways we can minimize the need of new taxes for all purposes."

Doughton hinted that the administration may be forced to seek a small tax levy to finance relief expenditures. This cost, as yet undetermined, figures in the administration's calculations.

The Democratic house steering committee went on record against new taxes to finance the bonus or other expenses but agreed to "substitute" taxes to finance the farm program.

Deaths of the Day

H. H. Longwell.

H. H. Longwell, locally known resident of Indiana, Pa., died suddenly at his home there on Wednesday evening, friends here were informed late yesterday. The message said Mr. Longwell, a wholesale confection dealer, collapsed and died upon returning from his office that evening.

Mr. Longwell is survived by his wife. She is the former Mrs. Charles Schmid, known by many here.

Funeral services will be held from the Indiana home on Saturday, February 8 at 2:30 p. m.

Mrs. Jennie M. Bassett.

Mrs. Jennie M. Bassett, of Kane, Pa., widow of Leon D. Bassett, died suddenly of a heart attack at 7:45 o'clock this morning at the home of her son, Melvin R. Bassett, 127 Fairfield avenue, where she had been spending the winter.

Mrs. Bassett would have been 73 years old in June. She was a resident of Kane for over fifty years, but had been with her son since the first of November. Although her health was not good, her sudden death came as a great shock to the family.

In addition to her son she leaves one grandchild Margaret Joyce Bassett, this city, and one sister Mrs. A. C. Snyder, of Elizabethtown.

The body was removed this morning to Kane, Pa., where funeral services will be conducted.

Miss Larrimer Funeral.

Funeral services for Miss Jennie Larrimer, of 410 East Leasure avenue, were conducted from the home of her niece, Mrs. Georg Mackin Lingle, at Osceola Mills, Pa., Thursday afternoon, with Rev. Goshorn, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of that city, in charge. Interment was made in the Osceola Mills cemetery.

Pallbearers were nephews of the deceased, Ditlef Seeger, Gerald Seeger, George Mackin, Harvey Larrimer, William M. Larrimer and Jas. Sterling.

Frank Kirker Funeral.

Friends of the late Frank Kirker of Hamilton street filled the Central Christian church to capacity Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock when funeral services were conducted. There were many beautiful flowers to further signify the high regard in which the well known resident was held by all who knew him.

Rev. C. H. Heaton, D. D., pastor of First Baptist church, was in charge of the services, assisted by Rev. F. E. Stough, pastor of St. John's Lutheran church.

Mr. and Mrs. David Lewis sang two beautiful numbers, "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere" and "Christians, Good Night", accompanied by Mrs. Stanley Jones.

Pallbearers were Stanley Jones, George Shelar, William Barber, Albert Bauman, R. H. Thompson and Mr. Montgomery. Interment was made in Oak Park cemetery.

James Ferguson.

James Ferguson, a Lawrence county resident of many years, died at his home in Salem, O., this morning at 3 o'clock, at the age of 84 years.

He was born at Indiana, Pa., on January 27, 1852. Having passed many years of his life in New Castle and Pulaski he always considered this county his home, although having resided in Salem for the past 15 years. He came frequently to the annual Old Timers' Day reunions here and last summer took part in the grand march.

He leaves two grandsons, James Ferguson of Cleveland, O., and Lynn Ferguson of Salem, O. His son preceded him in death several years ago. He also leaves a niece, Mrs. Mary Ashton of 1113 Pollock avenue, New Castle.

Funeral services will be conducted at the residence Monday afternoon. The hour was not announced in the message received here.

Miss Beulah B. Kemm.

Miss Beulah B. Kemm, of 1004 East Washington street, a well-known New Castle school teacher, died in the New Castle hospital at 6:30 a. m. today, following an operation.

Miss Kemm's death comes as a great shock to her many friends as her illness was of a very short duration. She had conducted her classes at Benjamin Franklin junior high school Wednesday, as usual.

She was born in New Castle, daughter of E. J. and Mary H. Kemm, who survive, and had always lived here. She had taught English for a number of years at the Benjamin Franklin school, being one of its first teachers. She was a member of the Pennsylvania State Education Association and the Epworth Methodist Episcopal church.

Funeral services will be conducted from the home, 1004 East Washington street, Monday at 2 p. m. Dr. J. A. Galbraith, pastor of the Epworth M. E. church, will be in charge. Interment will be made at Leesburg.

Miss Susan Rumstay.

Miss Susan Rumstay of this city died at 7 a. m. today at the age of 81 years.

She was born at Hamburg, Mercer county, on October 23, 1854, daughter of Peter and Susan Rumstay. Surviving are one brother, James, of this city, and two sisters, Mrs. Samantha Pruett of Crab Orchard, Ky., and Mrs. Sophie Kelsey of Russellville, Ky.

Funeral services will be conducted at 2:30 p. m. Sunday in the Jos. S. Rice, Co. chapel with Rev. C. H. Hauger of the Croton M. E. church in charge. Interment will be made at Briar Hill cemetery, East Brook.

Mrs. Mary S. Magee.

Mrs. Mary S. Magee, 84, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. N. E. Neely, 458 Liberty street, Grove City, Thursday at 3 p. m., after five months of illness. She had been preceded in death by her husband eleven years ago.

Mrs. Magee had been a lifelong resident of Mercer county and a member of the Nazareth M. E. church at No. 5 Mine. She leaves, in addition to her daughter, three sisters, Mrs. Caroline Hodge, Guys Mills, Pa., Mrs. Margaret Firscer, of Corry, Pa., and Mrs. Rebecca Miller, of Sandy Lake, one brother, William Elliott, of Carlton, Pa., three grandchildren and four great grandchildren.

Funeral services will be conducted at the Nazareth M. E. church, No. 5 Mine, Sunday at 2 p. m., with Rev. George Marquand in charge. The body is now at the Cunningham funeral home in Grove City. The family will be there Saturday from 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p. m.

Mrs. Margaret Dight Nelson

Mrs. Margaret Dight Nelson, aged 66 years, of 917 Marshall avenue, widow of J. Whitten Nelson, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Lester Offutt, Plaingrove, at 6:30 a. m. today, after an illness of two months.

Mrs. Nelson was born in Liberty township, Mercer county, daughter of W. H. and Adeline Shearer Dight, but had passed most of her lifetime, until 1918 when she moved to New Castle, in Plaingrove township, Lawrence county.

On October 25, 1888, she was united in marriage with J. Whitten Nelson, who died eleven years ago. She was an active worker and member of the Second United Presbyterian church of New Castle, the Annetta McKee Bible class and the Frances Willard W. C. T. U.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Ada N. Offutt, and Mrs. Ethel M. Pollock, both of Plaingrove; three sisters, Mrs. Ella Wolford and Mrs. F. L. McCoy, of New Castle, and Mrs. I. B. Eagleson, of New Wilmington; one brother, John Dight, of North Liberty, and five grandchildren.

Funeral services will be conducted at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Lester Offutt, Plaingrove, Monday at 2 p. m., with Rev. C. K. McGeorge, D. D., of the Second U. P. church, New Castle, in charge. Interment will be made in the Plaingrove U. P. cemetery.

W. S. Carpenter Funeral.

Funeral services for William S. Carpenter were conducted at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon from the home, 207 South Crawford avenue, with Dr. C. K. McGeorge, pastor of the Second United Presbyterian church, in charge. A large number of friends were present.

Pallbearers were Edmund, Arthur and Charles Carpenter, Bert Pence, Robert Caruthers and Kenneth Beer. Interment was made in Greenwood cemetery.

Reports from Kalgan, capital of Chahar province, said Inner Mongolian troops were aiding the Japanese-Manchukuon forces and stated there was possibility of a revolt of the Inner Mongolian tribes as a result of the impending military activities.

Aimingto dispel rumors a rebellion was under way in Inner Mongolia, the government here published a joint telegram from 29 chiefs and princes reaffirming loyalty to China and denying any independence moves were afoot.

In recent weeks General Fu Tso-Yi, Chinese governor of Suiyuan province, spread strong forces of troops along the Peiping-Suiyuan railway as precaution against possible invasion.

Suiyuan is the Chinese province lying just west of Chahar, which already is under virtual Japanese control. It was reported the Japanese-Manchukuon troops, with Inner Mongolian aid, were planning a drive into Suiyuan to add it to the vassal Japanese states on the mainland.

COURT REJECTS STAND OF CITY

court that the Pennsylvania act of May 17, 1921 (P. L. 682) is constitutional and that the rate of insurance fixed by the Pennsylvania Compensation rating and Inspection bureau, and approved by the insurance commissioner of Pennsylvania, was valid and enforceable; and that the rate fixed was not unfair and unreasonable. Judgment will therefore be entered for the plaintiff in the sum of $3,485.92, with interest from January 1, 1934."

After City Solicitor Robert White had read the opinion to council he informed the officials that he still believes the action unconstitutional. He maintained the rating bureau did not make the rate but that it was made by a rating bureau secretary and committee. White asserted that only the legislature can make the rate.

He said that so far the city has not lost any money by fighting the case. White pointed out that the company maintained the city owed the money and he asked if it were the opinion of council to accept the verdict lying down or fight it standing up.

To Discuss Action

The solicitor said there were some attorneys here whom he believes are versed well in constitutional law and he asked council if it were their desire to call in one of the several, have him pore through the law to see whether or not he was right, the decision rendered wrong and if it would be the advice of this attorney to appeal to the supreme court.

White said that it was his belief that council should discuss the matter, the qualifications of the attorneys then make a decision. If it is not carried to the supreme court White stated that the city should make claim to the state, if the money is paid, for a refund out of the liquor license fund which is provided for by law though he added, the fund now is empty.

The controversy developed out of the insuring of employes of the mayor's relief workers some years ago. The insurance, according to White was taken out at a certain rate in January. In May, the company said a certain rate had been fixed and made the rate retroactive to the city which upon White's advice refused to pay, hence the court suit and resultant judgment. Judging from the tenor of the remarks made by Mayor Charles E. McGrath and colleagues the city does not intend to pay if there is an opportunity of winning in a higher court. They have been engaged in another controversy over the alleged high premium for a city treasurer's bond and seemed anxious in session today to continue what they claim they want, a fair deal from the insurance companies, stating that every penny they expend belongs to taxpayers.

Sterilization Accusations Are Strongly Denied

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Feb. 7.—Remaining in seclusion, her whereabouts known only to her lawyer, Mrs. Maryon Cooper Hewitt McCarter, today issued another contradiction of the "sterilization" charges of her daughter, Ann Cooper Hewitt, of San Francisco.

From a "sick bed somewhere in New York," Mrs. McCarter declared "sinister influences" were responsible for the $500,000 damage suit brought against her by her daughter.

As for the Mayhem warrant issued for her and two physicians in San Francisco, that is unsupported and without legal standing, she declared.

PHILATHEA SOCIETY HAS BIRTHDAY DINNER

Philathea Society members of the Central Presbyterian church held their annual birthday dinner affair in the church dining room Thursday evening at 6:30 o'clock. The affair proved one of the most delightful social functions undertaken by this organization.

Tables adorned with an array of valentines, intermingled with glowing tapers carrying out a color theme of red and white, made an attractive setting. Much attention was given the huge birthday cake which adorned the center. The central circle group, with Mrs. Samuel White chairman, served a delicious dinner at the designated hour.

Adding to the enjoyment of the occasion, a "Stewardship" program was conducted by Mrs. Carl Wilson, chairman. She led the devotional period, with prayers being offered by Mrs. George W. Conway, president of the Shenango Presbyterial, and Miss Blanche Bright, president of the Philatheas.

Mrs. Benjamin Jenkins was introduced, who gave an informative talk on "Africa" relating to life and conditions in general. Mrs. C. B. Wingerd followed with a humorous reading entitled "The Red Wagons", which pleased. Others who appeared on the program were Mrs. Minerva Rowan, who presented a discussion on "Just What Does Stewardship Mean" and Mrs. George Lyon, who centered her talk on "What Has Stewardship to Do with Our Homes?" Each topic was well given and created much interest among the assemblage.

A business meeting was called by Miss Blanche Bright, who turned over the study period to Miss Alice Sterling. She had charge of the study subject, "Under the Southern Cross", which dealt with South America.

The next regular meeting of the society is to be held March 5, at the church.

FAREWELL SHOWER FEATURES LUNCHEON

Yesterday afternoon in the home of Mrs. McCready Eroe, Delaware avenue, members of the Thursday Afternoon club were pleasingly entertained at a 1 o'clock luncheon party. The occasion was featured with a handkerchief shower for one of their number, Mrs. Kenneth McCaslin, who is leaving here to take up residence in Butler, Pa. She received an array of dainty hankies as mementoes of her club associates.

The hours that ensued were devoted to cards with Mrs. Al McKissick and Mrs. William Hamill carrying off attractive prizes for holding top honors.

Plans for their next meeting were completed, Mrs. Ralph Fisher, of Edison avenue, being named hostess on February 20.

KUS KUS KA MEETING IN NEW CASTLE SOON

Members of Kus Kus Ka chapter, Daughters American Colonists, is being notified of a change in schedule for the February meeting which will be held in New Castle, instead of Beaver Falls as planned.

The chapter will assemble in the Elks club on February 14, with Mrs. John Emery in charge of arrangements. At this time, delegates and alternates will be elected to the National General Assembly in Washington, D. C., and also to the state conference.

As Kus Kus Ka members reside in various parts of Western Pennsylvania, it is hoped that weather conditions on the 14th will be such as to permit a large number to attend.

To Attend Banquet

Mrs. Mary McBride Beisel of Wallace avenue and Miss Elizabeth Slaver of East Moody avenue will go to Ellwood City this evening to attend an Eastern Star banquet.

Miss Slaver will take part in the program to be presented afterwards, giving two readings.

JAMESON HOSPITAL OFFICE GIRLS GUESTS

Among the delightful parties of Thursday evening was the informal event held at the home of Ruby Spence at her home on East street, when she entertained the girls employed in the office of Jameson Memorial hospital.

Cards and other favorite diversions claimed attention and at the close of the various contests, novel prizes were given to Leota Hall, Helen Brown, Kathleen Shuttleworth, Mary Porfilio, Nellie Brown and Virginia Ramsey.

At a suitable time, the hostess served an attractive lunch. She was assisted by her mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Spence and eldest sister, Mary Spence, with this feature. Novelty valentine appointments prevailed, and the menu was enjoyed by candle light. Seasonal favors were carried home by each participant, as a memento of the occasion.

DORCAS CLUB HAS ENJOYABLE PROGRAM

Dorcas Sunday school class of the First Congregational church assembled this week in the home of Mrs. Clarence Klingensmith, on Garfield avenue, for the February meeting.

Following devotionals under the direction of Melvina Davies, there was an enjoyable program. Hanna Richards offered a humorous sketch entitled "Antique Furniture" which drew forth hearty applause and she was awarded a special and clever prize.

A variety of contests were of further interest, after which the group was invited to the dining room for lunch. A beautifully decorated table attracted comment, the hostess using a color theme of yellow and white in appointments. The centerpiece was formed of yellow flowers, with tapers of a like hue, on either side. Mrs. Harry Davis assisted her sister in serving a flavorful menu.

The first Tuesday of March, the next meeting will be held in the home of Melvina Davies, on Electric street.

THIRD BIRTHDAY EVENT AT McCRUDDEN HOME

Mr. and Mrs. F. A. McCrudden, McClelland avenue, entertained at a beautifully appointed dinner a few friends in honor of their son Billy, it being his third birthday anniversary, Thursday evening.

The dining table was attractive with its appointments of the valentine season, combined with the birthday idea, a large tiered cake topped with three glowing candles adorning the center. Special guests included Mr. and Mrs. Joseph H. Kilch and son Marcus, of Youngstown, O., Mrs. Mary McCrudden and son Joseph McCrudden.

Billy received many nice gifts in remembrance of the celebration, and during the later hours of the evening a group of other friends called to extend birthday greetings.

JUNIOR CLUB HAS THEATER PROGRAM

Nellie Ringer was hostess Thursday evening to the Junior Woman's club, Mary Wilson, the president, presiding over the regular business session. At this time, the program committee for 1936-37 was appointed: it consists of Georgiana McNees and Mrs. A. H. Borland.

The program for the evening was on the theatre. Wanda White gave an excellent talk on "Famous Actors of Today," after which a very interesting discussion on the theatre was enjoyed by the group. The next meeting is booked for February 20, with Stella McVay hostess.

Hadassah Board

Next Tuesday evening, February 11, there will be an important meeting of the executive board of New Castle chapter Hadassah, in the home of Mrs. H. Klivans, Leasure avenue.

MRS. INGALS HOSTESS TO LAWRENCE CO. CLUB

Mrs. C. Allan Ingals was a gracious hostess to the Lawrence County Garden club of which she is the president, when it held the February meeting yesterday, in her home on Englewood avenue.

Lunchion served buffet fashion was the initial procedure at one o'clock, the guests helping themselves to many tasty viands which were arranged most attractively on the large dining room table appointed artistically, with valentine tones.

For the program following, the members derived benefit from two excellent talks, one on the subject of "60 years of Forestry in the United States," and another on the topic of "Termites" by Mrs. C. S. Royce. Both themes provoked much discussion, several of the members participating and bringing out many instructive points.

A letter was read from Mrs. W. C. Eckenroad, acting chairman of the Shade Tree commission, requesting the club to devote one program during the year to the subject "Community Responsibility". An interesting question period followed, concerning the trimming of trees and the work of the Shade Tree commission. Various city ordinances in connection with this subject were outlined.

Members staged an interesting arrangement of evergreens in the Japanese manner, for another part of their program. Roll call was answering by naming "favorite local trees".

L. A. B. CLUB HAS GUESTS AT MEETING

Mrs. Flora Cunningham, East Grant street, extended delightful hospitality to members of the L. A. B. club Thursday evening at their usual bi-weekly event. As special guests, the hostess had Mrs. W. G. Sapper, Mrs. Alice Billitter, Gertrude Pyle, Joella Parker, Mrs. B. J. Parker, Beryl Harrison and Mrs. Kathryn Ryan, the latter of whom is from McDonald, O.

A tureen dinner was planned during the business period, to be held February 20, at the home of Mrs. James Grove, on East Washington street. Following, the group turned attention to 500 and bingo contests. Mrs. John Sweet and Mrs. Lucy Covert were winners of the prizes. An exchange of gifts from their "Peanut" girl friend, was the next feature.

The hostess served a tempting lunch at tables nicely appointed in valentine suggestions. Novel heart favors marked each place.

JUNIOR P. H. C. HAS SENIORS AS GUESTS

Wednesday evening in the I. O. O. F. hall members of the Junior P. H. C. entertained as their guests, the senior group, at a tureen dinner and informal social time afterwards. The menu was served at 6:30 o'clock, and during the time that ensued, bingo and other events held attention. Several prizes were awarded.

The regular meeting of the junior order was conducted prior to the festivities, and plans were made for a representation of their particular organization at the convention to be held in June here. They will assemble again in two weeks.

Senior P. H. C. associates will gather Wednesday evening in the I. O. O. F. hall at 7:30 o'clock for their regular meeting, the coming week.

SILLIETTES CLUB GUESTS THURSDAY

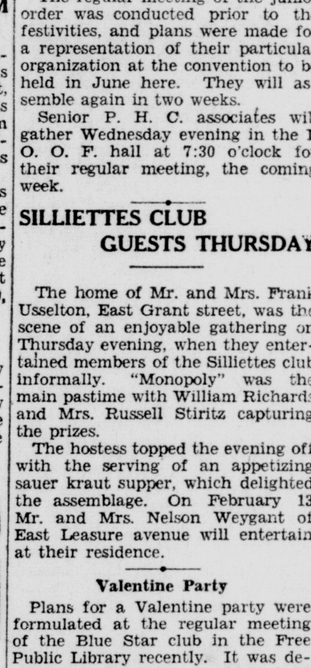
The home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Usselton, East Grant street, was the scene of an enjoyable gathering on Thursday evening, when they entertained members of the Silliettes club informally. "Monopoly" was the main pastime with William Richards and Mrs. Russell Stiritz capturing the prizes.

The hostess topped the evening off with the serving of an appetizing sauer kraut supper, which delighted the assemblage. On February 13 Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Weygant of East Leasure avenue will entertain at their residence.

Valentine Party

Plans for a Valentine party were formulated at the regular meeting of the Blue Star club in the Free Public Library recently. It was decided that the party should be held next Wednesday, February 12. The place decided upon was the story-hour room in the basement of the building.

Following this business session, members of the club adjourned to the pleasant pastime of making lacy Valentines. These will be used for decorations at the party next week, and as some very nice ones were completed it will be very easy to transform the story-hour room into a place of beauty.



DESSERT-BRIDGE AT J. MELVIN RESIDENCE

The home of Mrs. Jack Melvin, West Sumner avenue, was opened Thursday afternoon to members of the Le Dejeuner club, for a dessert-bridge event. Upon the arrival of all associates, the hostess served a most delicious dessert at a table beautifully decorated in cupids and hearts, in keeping with the approaching holiday, St. Valentine Day. A cluster of choice flowers graced the center.

Afterwards bridge held sway and at the close of competition, favors were awarded to Mrs. Jack Melvin and the traveling trophy went to Mrs. Leon J. Lawton.

Their next meeting is scheduled for March 5, at the home of Mrs. John Morgan, East Washington street. On February 17, the club women will entertain their husbands at a dinner party in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Leon J. Lawton, East Morton street.

IRETTA V. DART CLASS CHANGES TO NEW NAME

Thursday night in the parlors of the First Christian church, members of the I. V. D. class held the regular meeting. This class formerly known as the Iretta V. Dart class voted at this meeting to be henceforth known as the I. V. D. class.

A short business session was held with the president in charge and matters of importance were transacted. The remainder of the evening was spent with various forms of amusement, the guests enjoying themselves highly.

At a suitable time a delicious luncheon was served, which was featured with colors in keeping with the valentine season. Mrs. Herman Workman and Miss Anna Rae acted as co-hostesses and performed their duties most efficiently.

It was decided to hold the next regular, meeting on Thursday, March 5, in the church parlors with Mrs. Jessie Smith and Mrs. John A. Earl, hostesses.

VALENTINE PARTY FOR SEMPER FIDELIS

In a Valentine setting, Mrs. Rose Fazzone received members of the Semper Fidelis club Thursday evening, in her home on Park avenue. A delightful feature was a shower of pretty handkies for Mrs. James Cherol and Mrs. Al Scarazzo in honor of their birthdays.

During the business period, plans were made for a theatre party on February 11. Afterwards, cards were played and music enjoyed. Prize winners were Mrs. Carm Sacco and Mrs. Marie Felasco. The hostess was assisted with a dainty appointed valentine lunch by her daughter, Benetia. Mrs. Antoinetta Ross was a special guest.

On February 20, the next regular meeting will be held in the home of Mrs. Marie Felasco, on Huron avenue.

G. T. E. CLUB PLANS PARTY FOR HUSBANDS

Mrs. Sadie Richardson was welcomed as a new member of the G. T. E. club when it met Thursday evening, with Mrs. Charles Richardson, on Vogan avenue.

The game of 500 furnished a pleasing evening's diversion, the prizes falling to Mrs. Clyde Boyd, Mrs. Cecil Logan and Mrs. Jack Jones. A business session was held at which a valentine party for the husbands was planned for the evening of February 15, in the home of Mrs. Jack Jones, on Forest street.

Mrs. Earl White will be hostess for the next regular club at her home on Ray street, February 20.

Wedding Date Set.

D. D. 500 Club Meeting

Regular meeting of the D. D. 500 club members, was held Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Carl Staeber, Edison avenue, who had as joint hostess, Mrs. Orville Potter. In the 500 contest, which held attention during a greater part of the early hours, Mrs. Milton Wood and Mrs. Robert Robinson were the fortunate prize winners.

In serving lunch, the hostesses were assisted by Mrs. William Nickel. The latter with Mrs. Albert Flick and Mrs. A. J. Barnsley, were special guests. The club will meet again in two weeks.

Their next meeting is dated for two weeks, the hostess to be announced.

SPORTIER MALE ATTIRE

"COLOR" is to be the watchword of the well-dressed man next summer. We have it on the authority of the International Association of Clothing Designers, in session in Philadelphia. Many cannot qualify in the category of the sartorially proficient, since the head of the designers asserts the average adult male in the United States possesses only one and one-third suits and slightly less than one overcoat. Still, those who cannot buy can have a vicarious joy in others' gayety of raiment.

More color in men's clothing is good news for most. Youth should take to it eagerly. Always there are some elderly persons who wear bright colors and sports clothes and seem to fear no evil. Vast reforms have been worked in men's attire in the last two generations, especially in the lightness in weight in the ordinary clothing. And nowadays a man in his 50s, at least on the golf course, may be arrayed like Solomon in all his glory and attract no especial attention.

It is good to read the prospectuses of the convening tailors, with talk of sportier cuts in clothing as well as livelier colors. They breathe a comforting optimism; they offer hope. They assert that a man who will never see 60 again can be as tastefully, as sportily dressed as the stripling of 25 years. He can be, but, speaking for the generality, probably will not. Nevertheless, though he may eschew plum-colored suitings and maroon jackets, he need not garb himself as a valetudinarian.

NAVAL ARMAMENT SITUATION

After an argument gets about so hot, it is customary for one of the disputing parties to show his good faith by laying a little something on the line and suggesting that the other fellow match it if he can.

This stage seems to have been reached in the current international argument over naval armaments.

The conferees met at London and got nowhere at all with great rapidity and dispatch. The Japanese, indeed, finally announced that they were ready to call it a day and go home, which seems to have been about the most sensible action taken by anybody at the entire meeting.

On the heels of that, your old friend Uncle Sam carried the discussion to its logical next stage by adding an extra bit of polish to his fleet.

A naval contract for 114 new bombing planes has just been placed in Washington. These planes, which will cost upward in Washington of $3,600,000 without their engines, are supposed to be the very latest thing in long-distance killing.

They are fast and capable of high altitude flight, they can carry either bombs or torpedoes, and they are expected to be put into service on the new aircraft carriers Yorktown and Enterprise, which are to join the fleet next year.

Our record in the matter of naval armaments is fairly clear. If the idea of limitation is to be discarded, the blame is not primarily ours.

And if the naval powers of the world are to build without restraint, Uncle Sam will demonstrate that he can play at the game as well as at the other.

HUMAN NATURE

It is because the world delights in finding fault that the motto, "Boost, don't knock," or variations of it, preaches from so many walls. It seems to most people so much easier to find fault than to praise and approve.

One of man's weaknesses is the sense of pleasure he derives from discovering a weakness in the other fellow. Such discoveries give the discoverer a delightful feeling of superiority, for nearly all criticism of the other fellow's faults boils down to this: "He grades lower than I. Hot dog! Three cheers for me, the super-man!"

There are good people and bad people, but human nature varies little between the good and bad and in-between. In some degree the weakness of one are present in all.

The average of normal individual strives to be decent and to be considered so by society. He would like to be perfect but his own imperfections can not conceal themselves from him. Finding perfection unattainable in himself, it is natural for him to find satisfaction in knowing that it is no less elusive to the other fellow.

When one does something he is ashamed of or has a trait which he knows amounts to a faultt, it doesn't mean that he is bad or insincere in his desire to be decent. It indicates merely that he is an ordinary human, possessed of the ordinary human's imperfections and faults.

There is always the danger, though, that the discoverer of another's faults makes the mistake of magnifying them to the unwarranted exaltation of his opinion of himself.

WHAT'S IN A WOMAN'S HANDBAG?

One of those surveys with which someone seems always to be prying into odd nooks of human behavior recently hit upon a woman's handbag as an object of research.

The idea was to discover what it contained in the bag carried by the average woman. The survey did bring out the average woman has $6.74 in cash with her—which may surprise many—and it also came across such novel freight for handbags as electric light bulbs, shoebrushes and sandwiches, but otherwise its results were unexciting.

This was only to be expected. If there is one field where research seems unnecessary, it is this. Anyone can surely figure out, without cross-examining a cross-section of womanhood, what the average handbag is likely to contain.

Buried somewhere in the litter one may be certain, will be found a compact, a lipstick and a tiny wisp—known as a "hanky." Present also, more than likely, will be a comb, a couple of keys, paper matches and a pencil or two, usually without points. A notebook or address book, cigarettes, pins of various types, a driver's license and a bank book will be found stowed away in many bags.

And one may be very sure, without delving too deeply into the mystery of a woman's handbag, that it will contain anywhere from one to fifty odd scraps of paper, powder-smeared, their writing usually illegible, and concerning whose history or utility the woman who treasures them has not an idea in the world.

The Duke Is Here.
An Unfortunate Killing.
Enterprising Yomiuri.
Mr. Morgan On Leisure.
By ARTHUR BRISBANE

THE YOUNG Duke of Marlborough, great-great-grandson of the original old Vanderbilt, is here, looking much like his grandfather, William K. Vanderbilt, and, like so many young Americans, taller than his ancestors.

He is "deucedly afraid of your terrible gangs over here," but brings his four children, Lady Sarah, Lady Caroline, Lady Rose Marie and the Marquis of Blanford, all on their way to visit the Duke's mother at Palm Beach.

Too bad the original old Vanderbilt, who ran his boat from Staten Island to New York, could not see them. He would be proud, although he would not understand their conversation.

THE ASSASSINATION in Switzerland of Wilhelm Gustloff, Nazi propaganda agent, by David Frankfurter, a young Jew, is unfortunate for the 600,000 Jews in Germany, already objects of race persecution.

After killing Gustloff, Nazi organizer of anti-Semitic hatred in foreign countries, Frankfurter surrendered, admitting the killing, regretting that he had not been able to kill Hitler himself.

Jews in Germany, who have shown marvelous patience and endurance under persecution, are now accused by German newspapers of "subversive atrocity work, endangering world peace."

WHEN COMMODORE PERRY entered a harbor of Japan that hitherto had not welcomed strangers, no Japanese reporters met him. If one had said to Commodore Perry, "Soon we shall be getting news from Europe by wires under the water, radio without wires through the air, and flying ships bringing photographs," Commodore Perry would have said, "These people are crazy."

But Publisher M. Shoriki, of the Yomiuri Shimbun, able Tokio newspaper, will send photographs of 1936 Olympics from Berlin to Tokio by airplane.

Congratulations to Mr. Shoriki and the Yomiuri.

J. PIERPONT MORGAN, always a hard worker, says:

He may be right, although those that started civilization, 1,000,000 years ago, had no leisure class. According to reporters. Mr. Morgan includes in the leisure class any family keeping "a hired girl."

There is a super-leisure class that keeps twenty hired girls and as many hired men, just as there are 16-cylinder super-automobiles.

A Gfeek philosopher said slavery must remain, because without it there could be no leisure class, consequently no philosophical class. Machinery took the place of slaves. Perhaps something will take the place of what we call civilization.

All Of Us

By MARSHALL MASLIN

I . . . I . . . I

A FRIEND of mine is father of a new baby. . . . He's been a new father for at least a month, but so far he has not volunteered one word about that child. . . . I asked him howcome, and he said he and his wife had made a vow not to talk about their children. . . . Such restraint is unnatural and deplorable. . . . A baby in the family MUST be talked about. It's part of the fun.

My record: Never in my life did I ask for a second helping of carrots.

Compliment for the phone company: It's at least six months since I've been given a wrong number.

Surprise: I went to a doctor and he looked me over and he DIDN'T tell me I should stop smoking.

If I have the money I can buy myself a new suit of clothes and achieve the fleeting false impression that I am a new man. . . . How sad that we can't buy ourselves a new self! Perhaps one can. I knew a man who spent a lot of money going to Europe and getting himself psycho-analyzed. And came back with a new personality. . . . But his new self didn't please his friends. Before psycho-analysis he was a pleasantly melancholy fellow. Afterwards he was bumptious, cocksure, not so likeable. . . . However, it was HIS life.

You go to the closet, drag out a suit of clothes you have not worn for months, and you're surprised to discover how good it is. . . . Seems better than the one you're wearing now. But soon you notice the frayed trouser cuffs, the spot that won't come out, the thinness of the cloth at the knees and other places. . . . Very sad.

I can't teach a dog tricks. . . . I used to try, never succeeded. . . . So I say, "Why should we make a dog do tricks? Let him be his natural self." . . . But most dogs seem to enjoy doing their tricks. I knew one, however, that as soon as he met a stranger would do every trick he knew, without being asked, and then stop and refuse to do them again. . . . As if he were saying: "There now, that's over. Now let's be friends."

Good Taste

Dear Miss Markel—I never know whether it is within the rules of propriety for a girl to ask a boy to a dance. Our school has two or three dances a year which I must attend. What am I to do? I can't go unescorted and yet have no fiance on whom I can depjend to take me. MARY ELLEN.

Answer—Buy two tickets and pay for them yourself. Then ask a boy you know fairly well, preferably one who has taken you out or one you are "sure of," to accompany you.

You might find it somewhat embarrassing to ask a new acquaintance to take you to the dance. For you would not know whether he has acquiesced for the sake of politeness or because he enjoys your company.

But do not ask a boy to any affair whatsoever and expect him to supply the tickets.

The World At A Glance

Theater Makes Strides.
Becomes True Forum.
Civic Theaters Increase.

Central Press
New York Bureau
235 East 45th St.
By LESLIE EICHEL
Central Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Feb. 7.—A group of us were discussing the American theater last evening. It seems to have made great strides this season—in New York.

A few years ago the stage play was declared dead. This year it is in the healthiest state of its existence, for the better type of play.

The stage now truly is holding the mirror up to the world—perhaps more so than at any other period since Shakespeare's day.

Of course, there are baubles that last merely a night. But the plays that strike for truth are lasting; and they are gaining.

* * *

AN EXPRESSION?

If the stage is an expression of resurgent youth, as it invariably is, then the stage this year indicates that deep social movements are carrying us on, regardless of our individual preferences or political outcries.

As any producer will tell you, the flood of manuscripts seems chiefly to concern the present social and economic evolution.

Thus, the stage, as a mirror, is reflecting much that we profess not to see in actual life.

Within the next year or two, we probably shall be energized by some social dramas that may stir the nation, that even may become a rallying cry.

There is no freer stage in the world today than in the United States. Thus, the stage becomes a forum—a factor that makes it of increasing importance.

Perhaps we shall look to the stage for the message that will guide us on our upward climb. Perhaps the stage will be even more militant than that—flight of the demogogues and the obstructionists and the usurpers by giving us stark, naked truth.

The stage has come to high estate.

* * *

IN SMALLER CITIES

But how can the smaller cities benefit from stage plays when such plays can be seen only in New York and a few other large cities?

By organizing their own civic theaters, as many have.

Then, too, the traveling company is returning. The play of import and the actor of ability find no difficulty in obtaining a profitable audience, even in cities of less than 100,000 population.

The task is to obtain quality. There is no problem after that.

* * *

WRITERS

Militant writers, who will not be turned aside, are rising.

This speaks well for the future of the United States.

Men who deplore the controversy of the times will themselves be swept aside.

The times demand outspoken debate. Besides, how can one stop it now? We have moved too far in the United States to permit a suppression of speech and thought.

Nor is there a wiser manner to achieve the betterment of mankind than to bring into the open all the miseries and the untruths and the half-truths that deter progress.

The theater, because it has cast off fear, will be the beneficiary.

Therefore, the belief exists that the theater will play a profound part in American life during the next several years.

Too late for some who oppose that estate, it will be realized that the theater no longer is a plaything.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

NO DEPRESSION WITH SOME

If those 10,000,000 alleged unemployed of the country had the initiation, the imagination, the energy and the go-getativeness of the average newsboy or bootblack there would be no necessity for "Relief." In fact, if Americans as a class had had it during the last five years, there would have been no "Depression."

"You need a shine, Mister," he said, "and I can give you a swell one for fi' cents."

"Haven't time," the prospect shot back and without slowing his pace. "Come up to see me some time."

"O. K. Mister," the youngster agreed, now fairly running to keep alongside. "Where do you hang out?"

The prospect halted, grinned and gave the little bootblack his office address. The boy was waiting for him when he arrived at his office the next morning and the contract was performed.

Today's Yesterdays.—Feb. 7, 1779.—The "winning of the west" was begun. A company of 170 commanded by 27-year-old Col. George Rogers Clark left Louisville (Kentucky) on the expedition that captured the Northwest territory from the British. Overcoming incredible difficulties, he laid siege to and forced the surrender of Fort Vincennes, losing only one man.

Feb. 7, 1812.—Charles Dickens was born in Portsmouth, England. For his first published stories, written when he was 21, he received nothing. His last, published after his death, sold for the highest price ever paid for a book!

Feb. 7, 1834—Dmitri Ivanowitch Mendelejeff was born in Tobolsk, Siberia, youngest of a family of 17 children. He was a prodigy who lived up to his early promise. He was only 31 when he gave the world its first periodic classification of the elements, in which he anticipated and named elements not to be discovered until years later, and gave the chemist the foundation plan for research.

Feb. 7, 1894—Will Purvis was hanged twice at Jackson, Miss.,—and lived to tell the tale. Twice the trap sprung, and twice Purvis plunged through it with a noose around his neck, and twice he was not injured. Onlookers who were standing by to see him pay the penalty for murder would not let the sheriff string him up again, and the governor commuted his sentence. Five years later another man confessed the crime of which Purvis was convicted!

W.P.A. Orchestra Now Rehearsing

Musicians From District Are Organized Into New Orchestra

FOUR COUNTIES ARE ALL REPRESENTED

With only a week's rehearsal, which included time for organization, the WPA district 14 orchestra is away to a flying start and within a short time some real musical presentations can be expected. The orchestra is rehearsing in the Cathedral under the direction of Ben Shulansky, assisted by Harry Hammond.

The orchestra numbers 34 musicians in all, including the two directors. They are gathered from Greenville to Rochester and from Butler to New Bedford, which is about the limit of the WPA district. Each of the four counties of Lawrence, Beaver, Butler and Mercer are represented.

The division as to instruments is as follows: Two pianists, one harpist, four violins, eight saxophones, eight brass, three bass cellos, one cello, one drum, one tympani, one flute and two guitars. By dint of hard work Shulansky and Hammond have welded the group into a symphonic entity that will bring pleasure to thousands shortly.

The first public concert is scheduled for February 21 in the Cathedral and after that a date in Mercer on February 27. From then on the orchestra will present programs in all corners of the district.

In the orchestra are musicians who have appeared with the leading bands and orchestras of the country. Every member is there because of proficiency in his instrument and the project is a worthwhile addition to the other projects of the WPA.

FLYING MAY become too complicated for the uneducated pilot. England announces improved "blind flying" with the aid of the cathode ray. The pilot with a map before him would follow a thin point of light moving on the map, showing the pilot his exact location at all times.

ATHENS LEARNS that if sanctions should bring war, British planes "would defend Greece." They might, but all British planes might possibly be needed over London, Manchester, Liverpool and other home spots. The wise nation prepares to defend itself.

WASHINGTON'S statement that talk of "inflation" is not to be taken seriously, delights those who value sound money, even when it is all paper. But when the sound money is all spent, what is to be done? Lincoln printed new money, which turned out to be sound.

We have one consolation, if inflation should come.

When other countries, France under Napoleon, Germany recently, resorted to inflation, those countries were practically bankrupt. This country is still the richest in the world, we have simply run out of "loose chance."

My New York By James Aswell

NEW YORK, Feb. 7—People: One of the easiest entertainers to imitate is Harry Richman. He is done to the life in half a dozen metropolitan night clubs every evening, often with humor and biting travesty.

His voice can be imitated, his manner made to seem absurd: the mincing gate, the tipped straw hat, the hand-to-heart gester. Yet despite the ease with which even the least of the masters of ceremonies can take Richman off, Harry remains one of the very few cut-ups in the sip-and-trip salons who can galvanize an audience to attention.

I think these lads gifted with the ability to fascinate a roomful of diverse, rowdy, and inattentive people deserve serious consideration along with story-tellers, hackers of stone and shapers of clay. Richman in particular, interests me because, although anyone can imitate him, few can equal his box-office appeal.

How does he do it? My guess, after having recently watched his gyrations and shortly thereafter seen him deftly imitated by George Givot, one of the better spotlight spellbinders, is that Richman achieves his effect by a sort of supreme egotism.

He sails out into the spotlight with a slight, engaging sneer on his face and an apparent unconsciousness that there is an audience. Or else he gives the impression more of being out there to judge the audience than to be judged. This impertinence is sensed by the paying customers who immediately go upon good behavior to show Harry that they can applaud his act with proper appreciation.

He never permits himself to be dominated by the assemblage of what Texas Guinan used to call suckers. There is an implied "To hell with you," in his mien and this is dynamically attractive to his fans. Rudy Vallee has some of the same quality, although he is, of course, vastly different in technique as a performer. So has Jimmie Durante.

Richman is never afraid that the ringside will see through his affectations; the point is that he has seen through the audience immediately. He makes them feel that—and from then on they are his slaves.

* * *

The other afternoon I was barging along Seventh Avenue and ran smack into a line of people waiting to buy tickets to the Metropolitan opera. The temperature was ten or thereabout above zero.

It was too cold, in fact, for any of the PWA workers to be out clearing the streets. They might get frostbite and sue the city. But the opera lovers were there in force, waiting to buy tickets in the gallery; hoping for a glimpse and an echo of the gaudy goings-on below.

Now the sincere opera lover is a mystery to me. I know he exists. I know that there is a cultural blindness to some of the Higher Things; I like Wagnerian music, but Wagnerian opera as presented both by the stage and the audience is a double spectacle which verges, at times, too close to slapstick for comfort. Unconscious slapstick, I mean.

Of course the true opera lover exists. His psyche thrills to the extravagent gesticulation, the shrilling plump sopranos, the Tristans with waistlines, the Isoldes with none. He sees through to a deeper beauty hidden from these vulgar eyes; hears a mystic melody to which I am deaf.

Nevertheless I suspect that not all those people in that shivering line were true opera lovers. At least a few of them were going to opera because going to opera is supposed to be a very tony and refined thing to do. They wanted to tell their friends how they adored opera and stood in the cold to see it, just as the noble-souled Neapolitans waits for hours for a poor balcony pew.

At least a few in line certainly would have rather been waiting to see Nelson Eddy, or even Clark Gable; perhaps a fat percentage of them would have. But they'd never line up at ten above for the privilege. Indeed, had they been paid for lining up they'd soon find symptoms of frostbite and begin wondering about suits against their employer. But this was different, this was that mysterious yearning for culture that keeps the soul warm while the body freezes.

HERE'S WHAT YOU'D CALL AN OPTIMIST

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 7.—Return of prohibition by 1945 was predicted here by Dr. Homer W. Tope, superintendent of the Pennsylvania Anti-Saloon league.

"Repeal is a gigantic failure," he told a church congregation. "The pendulum is swinging back our way rapidly," the league will sponsor an educational drive for new "dry" legislation, he added.

PLAINGROVE

HONOR ANNIVERSARY

Misses Leora McCommons and Mary Elizabeth McCommons entertained and seved a 7 o'clock oyster supper in honor of their parents. Mr. and Mrs. Clyde McCommons' 30th wedding anniversary. This was a partial surprise.

Those attending the dinner were Mr. and Mrs. Arthur McCommons and family, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth McCommons and family, John Holiday, Ted McCombs and Robert McCombs. Later in the evening the neighbors cleverly surprised the couple. A delicious lunch was served during the evening.

GRANGE MEETING

The Plaingrove grange met at the hall on Tuesday evening. After the opening exercises the following program was in the hands of the lecturer, Miss Lillian Patterson:

Roll call—My favorite radio program and why.

Recitation, The Mouse's Party—Billy Gardner.

What would it mean for national recovery for this country for one year to advertise and sell milk instead of beer?—Mrs. Edith Gardner.

Music—Mary Elizabeth McCommons.

My experience with cold weather—Open discussion.

Closing song.

An oyster supper is being planned for the grange. The social committee will have charge.

PLAINGROVE NOTES

Fruit Growers To Meet Tuesday

PROGRAM WILL FOLLOW DINNER

Plans have been completed for the annual meeting of the Lawrence County Fruit Growers Association, which will take place Tuesday evening in the Shenango U. P. church, on the Wilmington road, opening with a dinner at 6:30.

The session will be in charge of the president, M. M. Ingham, of Neshannock township, and in addition to the election of officers, there will be an address by L. T. Dennison, of the Agricultural Extension Department of Pennsylvania State College. Mr. Dennison will discuss "Fruit Diseases and Their Control."

It is expected that there will be a large attendance of the membership.

Serve Dainties Of Horse-Flesh

* PRAGUE—A horse-flesh restaurant and snack bar is the latest amenity here.

All the dishes and snacks will be of horse-flesh, which is not cheaper than other kinds of meat, but it is claimed tastier and more tender than beef.

The new restaurant is equipped in the most elegant modern style and is expected to attract many patrons.

Prague already has a goose restaurant where 40 different dishes all made of goose are served.

Oppose Proposed Law For Bankruptcy Secrecy

HARRISBURG, Pa., Feb. 7.—Branded an "amazing proposal" that would shroud bankruptcy proceedings in a secrecy directly opposed to the public interest and vigorously condemned as creating increased opportunity for fraud and misrepresentation, proposed revision of the Federal Bankruptcy Act as formulated by the National Bankruptcy Conference was brought under fire by the Legislative committee of the Pennsylvania Newspaper Publishers' Association. A report filed with newspaper executives of the Commonwealth charged that rather than effect promised improvement proceedure proposed would operate to defeat the principles of honesty and fair practice.

Tentative draft of a bill that would eliminate public notice in bankruptcy proceedings is now before the Judiciary committee of the House of Representatives, hailed by its sponsors as the product of three years' effort toward rewriting the Bankruptcy Act of 1898. The publishers' committee challenged the draft as far removed from the declared objectives of the conference, declaring that the proposed measure would "not serve the people any more than the ashes of a home completely destroyed by fire."

Pointing out that the conferees advocated elimination of all public notice to individuals whose rights or privileges were involved in such proceedings, the report added that rights of unknown creditors and parties in interest had been completely eliminated from consideration.

"All that is necessary to intelligently comprehend the fact that this is a startling proposal," the report continued, "is to observe that hereafter a voluntary or involuntary proceeding in bankruptcy is to be an act done in the dark."

The publishers' committee condemned secrecy as the "great crime" of public administration today, declaring:

"Secrecy in the discharge of the duties of public office from the most lowly to the highest executive and administration officials. * * * every intelligent citizen of today sees revealed as the greatest crime in all economic history."

The report filed with publishers voiced surprise at another proposal embodied in the program of revision, favoring retention of the "vicious fee system," which was described as "the most condemned evil affecting the American administration of Justice."

"An honest and fair title for the effort of this National Bankruptcy Conference, your committee declares advisedly, is 'An Act to Establish a Secret System of Bankruptcy Throughout the United States.'"

The publishers' association has announced preparedness to carry its opposition into congressional hearings and has urged similar opposition, nation-wide in scope, on the part of other groups and organizations functioning in the public interest.

Legion Of Honor Makes Plans For Several Events

Family Night And Banquet For Golfers Will Take Place In Near Future

Plans for the annual Family Night, which will bring forth a program of entertainment for the members and their kiddies, was discussed at the meeting of the Legion of Honor, of the Valley of New Castle Consistory last evening. Albert H. Klingensmith was named general chairman.

Plans were also projected for a banquet for the golfing members of the Legion and their Masonic friends, which will take place at the club house of the Municipal Golf Course.

The committee named by Commander Clarence S. Jarrett, consists of Charles E. Allen, Dr. Jay L. Reed, Chester C. Sweesy, Wilbert J. Chapman, and T. Humphrey Richards. A date will be selected and arrangements gotten under way at once.

Following the close of the business session, George L. Smith, gave an interesting talk in a humorous vein, relative to the general practice of voting as indulged in by the public, which was much enjoyed.

An oyster stew topped the evening's program, after which the members played indoor baseball, Capt. Sweesy's team winning from Capt. Drumm's organization by a narrow margin.

THREE COLLEGES MEET IN DEBATE

Bethany, Bucknell And Westminster Teams Debate At New Wilmington

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Feb. 7.—Westminster College was host Thursday to two college debate teams, from Bethany and Bucknell, both groups arguing with the Titan debaters on the Supreme Court question.

The first debate with Bethany, of the split direct class type, was won by the negative side. Debaters representing Westminster were Calvin Chamberlain, Erie; Asa Offensend, Masury, O.; Charles Shaeffer, New Castle; and Sidney Isenburgh, Sharon.

Against Bucknell, Westminster was represented in an Oregon style debate (cross-questioning) by Jack Harris, Aliquippa; and David Henderson, Pittsburgh.

The question used in both debates was Resolved: That Congress should be empowered by a two-thirds majority to override five-to-four decisions of the Supreme Court. All Pennsylvania colleges use the same debate subject, selected by forensic fraternal groups.

DOGGONE DOG IS DOG DONE ALL RIGHT

(International News Service)

KENTON, O., Feb. 7.—Don't tell Wilbur Young that dogs have no sense.

Determined to shoot the one which had been killing sheep and young cattle, Young went armed into a pasture where he saw a large German police dog greedily eyeing the livestock. Bang! went the gun, and the dog dropped. Inspection satisfied Young that he had killed it, and he went off for a spade to perform the last rites. Returning, he realized some one had taught the robber how to "play dead" only too well, for it had sneaked off into the woods.

Italian Planes Bombed Town

(International News Service)

ADDIS ABABA, Feb. 7.—The town of Magalo, about 125 miles north of Nogelli, has been bombarded by Italian planes, the government announced in an official communique today.

"Five Italian airplanes bombarded Magalo heavily in an attempt to locate large magazines of ammunition which was reported to have been buried by the Italian consul before he left there," the communique stated. "One person was wounded and ten houses were destroyed by fire."

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Feb. 7.—A permit allowing the Chicago showing of animated cartoon motion pictures poking fun at President Roosevelt and the administration today was issued by Police Commissioner James P. Allman.

Final decision on the issue had been put up to the commissioner by Lieut. Harry Costello of the crime prevention bureau, who created a furore yesterday by withholding approval of five reels shown by representatives of the Sentinels of the Republic.

Mt. Wilson Solar observatory was founded in 1904 by Dr. George E. Hale. It was built and is maintained by the Carnegie Institute of Washington.

INTERESTING PROGRAM AT READING CIRCLE '06

The repetition of "Clever Sayings of Children" were enjoyed by Reading Circle '06 members, who gave them in response to roll call at the meeting Thursday afternoon in the Albert street home of Mrs. J. H. Griner.

Two splendid papers were heard, one on "Our Land" by Mrs. John Agnew, and another on "Children of the Shadows," by Mrs. Sherman Kitson. Mrs. H. C. Mitchell contributed a delightful reading.

Mrs. L. T. Moore will be hostess for the next meeting to take place on February 20, at her home on Morton street.

G-Club Meeting

The G-club members met in regular session on February 2, at the home of Irene Gorski, newly elected president. Following routine business, and a report given by Leona Wenda, the group eagerly fell to making plans for an active and interesting month. A club song was selected, and plans for a Valentine exchange were completed. February 13 was set aside for a "hobo round-up" party when members will visit their associates homes for a "hand-out." On March 2, was named for a Lenten doughnut party, at the home of Miss Gorski.

Lunch was served at a late hour. The hostess was assisted by her sister-in-law, Mrs. Caroline Gorski.

The next regular meeting will be held with Mary Mazur, Reynolds street, February 23 at 3 p. m. A cosmetic shower will be tendered Jane Cwynar and Mary Mazur by the club girls, in honor of their birthday anniversaries.

Reunited Ladies League.

Reunited Ladies League members met Thursday evening with Mrs. Margaret Davis on Neshannock avenue, who proved a most pleasing hostess. She had as special guests Mrs. Gertrude Houston and Mrs. Sara Hogue, the former being winner of the hostess gift.

Bingo filled in the leisure hours, pretty favors being won by Mrs. Anna Martin, Mrs. Fronie Davis and Mrs. Bessie Drake. Afterwards, a delicious repast was served, the hostess having for her aide Mrs. Bessie Straight. Seasonal tones predominated in the menu and table appointments.

Their next assembly will take place February 20 with Mrs. Rebecca Strong on Neshannock avenue.

Jolly Eight Club.

Members of the Jolly Eight club were received Wednesday evening in the home of Mrs .Harry Fye, West North street. Two tables of 500 were in progress during the early hours, awards going to Mrs. Harry Fye, Mrs. Frank Dute and Mrs. Earl Dean. Miss Wilma Campbell was a special guest.

Plans were made to hold hankie showers on the members throughout the year on their birthday anniversaries, which will be a new feature of organization. Refreshments were served at the close of the evening.

Mrs. Duncan of Knox avenue will receive the club Wednesday evening, February 12, for a valentine exchange.

Bridgettes.

The Bridgette club was entertained at the home of Miss Esther Paltonen, Forest street, Wednesday evening. Bridge, of course, was the principal part of the program, and prizes were won by Mrs. Esther Nesbit and Miss Blanche Claypool.

Mrs. Elsie Jones was an invited non-member for the occasion. A tasty valentine luncheon was served by the hostess, assisted by Miss Ruby Niemi.

A "leap year" party for members, husbands and friends will take place Wednesday night at the home of Mrs. Esther Nesbit.

The next regular meeting will be in two weeks at the home of Miss Edna Zazzareno, Forest street.

Y. M. M. Club.

Mrs. George Gunnett welcomed associates in the Y. M. M. club to her home on County Line street on Thursday evening. 500 was in play as the usual pastime, the favors being won by Nancy Lightner and Mrs. Mary Haggerty. A delightful feature was a shower of towels for the hostess. Refreshments were served, Mrs. Willis Boyd assisting.

Next Thursday evening the group will have a special meeting in the form of a chicken dinner in the home of Nancy Lightner on County Line street.

The next regular meeting will be on February 20 in the home of Mrs. Mary Haggerty on Florence avenue.

Plamor Club

Katherine Cuba and Mrs. Pearl Yoho were recipients of pretty favors for high scores at 500, which was played for diversion by members of the Plamor club Thursday evening, in the home of Betty Seinkner on South Jefferson street.

Concluding play, the girls were all presented with valentines which contributed further to their pleasure. Lunch was served by the hostess and her sister, Mrs. Anne Ceplece Marie Wroble was a visitor.

On February 21, the club will be received in the home of Mrs. Matilda Shellman on South Beaver St.

O. F. B. Luncheon

Luncheon at one o'clock Thursday in the home of Mrs. Roy Cummings, on Ray street, was a pleasure for the O. F. B. club. There were covers for eight at an attractive table, the hostess being assisted by her mother, Mrs. Eckles, who was down from New Wilmington for the day.

In the afternoon the women sewed, and accepted the invitation of Mrs. Martha Holfelder for the next affair in her home at Walmo, February 20.

MOONLIGHT 500 CLUB ENTERTAINED

Miss Florence Mitchell was a visitor and was awarded one of the card favors at the meeting of the Moonlight 500 club Thursday evening, in the home of Mrs. Harry Leathers, on Sampson street. Other winners of card awards were Mrs. George Woodring and the hostess, Mrs. Leathers. Sweets were served during play.

At the next meeting, February 20, in the home of Mrs. H. J. Reynolds, on East Washington street, the birthday of the hostess will be observed.

OFFICERS RE-ELECTED BY WOMAN'S AUXILIARY

Mrs. D. C. Lindley was re-elected president of the Woman's Auxiliary at a meeting in Trinity church on Thursday afternoon. Other re-elected who will assist her during the year are: vice president, Mrs. C. B. Randall; secretary, Mrs. E. P. Reebel; treasurer, Mrs. C. E. Lyle; devotional secretary, Mrs. T. F. Stryker, and chairman of executive committee, Mrs. F. E. Sowersby.

The next meeting will be on March 5.

American Queen Esthers

Last night Miss Bettie Cole received the members of the American Queen Esthers Society of the First M. E. church in her home on Euclid avenue. The business portion of the meeting was called together by President Elizabeth Slaver, following which Bettie Cole led the group in devotions and singing. During the business meeting it was decided to postpone the contemplated skating party that was planned for February 24 until sometime in early spring.

A delightful program was arranged by the hostess, Miss Cole, who gave an introduction from the study book "Mirrow." Esther Jane Caven then took charge of the session by presenting a brief but interesting story from one of the chapters of the society study book.

At the close of the business session a social time was enjoyed in which games of various types were played. At a suitable time delicious refreshments were served by the hostess aided by Miss Peg Stoll.

The next meeting will be at the home of Peg Stoll and the time of it will be announced at a later date.

T. M. T. Girls

Miss Nora Campoli was a pleasing hostess to members of the T. M. T. Girls on Wednesday evening in her home, South Mill street.

During the customary business meeting, plans were completed for a dance to be held on St. Patrick's Day, March 17. Cards, chat and music were the popular pastimes of the evening with Miss Minnie Toscano winning club prize for high score in 500.

Mrs. Betty Veri was tendered a handkerchief shower in honor of her birthday anniversary. At an appropriate hour, the hostess, assisted by Miss Ginny Marcella, served appetizing refreshments.

In two weeks, Miss Anne Cubellis, Agnew street, will receive the club.

Tip-Top-Merrymakers

The Tip-Top-Merrymakers, newly organized, assembled in the home of Mrs. Jennie Harmon at Bessemer Thursday afternoon. An election of officers resulted in the following being named: president, Mrs. F. Z. Kelly; vice president, Mrs. W. D. Groce; secretary and treasurer, Mrs. R. D. Harmon.

A tureen dinner was served at two o'clock and a jovial informal social time ensued, bringing the afternoon to a close.

Mrs. A. M. Groce of 729 Court street will entertain on Thursday, Feb. 20.

Attend Wedding

Mrs. Clara Ross, Louis Ross, Miss Anna Ross, Jennie Ross, Frank Ross, South Mill street, and Mike Buttera of West Pittsburg, have returned home from East Chicago, where they attended the wedding of Mrs. Ross' son, Sam, and Miss Ros Pullano, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Pullano. The ceremony took place Sunday in Saint James Cathedral, East Chicago.

The newlyweds will reside at the home of Mrs. Lucy Pullano, East Chicago.

P. W. Club

P W. club members met in the home of Mrs. H. Aiken, on County Line street, for the regular session this week, with Mrs. E. Bruce hostess. Prizes were awarded to Mrs. Ruth Suber and Mrs. Harold Aiken. Mrs. Clifford Bruce was awarded the guest favor. In serving lunch, Valentine tones were used.

The next meeting will be on February 19, in the home of Mrs. Ruth-Suber, on Loraine avenue.

Queen Sewing Circle.

Five members of the Queen Sewing Circle met with Mrs. William Crowe, Dewey avenue, Thursday afternoon. A social time was spent pleasantly with various informal pastimes, and before departing, lunch was served. The hostess had her dining table prettily decorated for this feature.

In two weeks Mrs. Mary Harvey of Beckford street will receive members.

Graduation Party.

Mrs. Benincase of East High street entertained guests recently to celebrate her son's graduation. The evening was spent in singing and dancing to the music of D. Benincase. At a later hour refreshments were served.

Carmen was the recipient of many useful gifts in remembrance of the day.

RE-DEAL MEMBERS ENTERTAINED AT INN

Miss Isabelle Jones proved a pleasing hostess Thursday evening to her associates of the Re-Deal club. She entertained at a popular tavern, the pastime being found in cards with two tables in play. Miss Emily Reynolds and Mrs. J. H. Jones captured the prizes at the close of the contest.

A dainty menu, served at tables attractively set in valentine suggestions, completed the evening's program.

Jedema Club Guests

On Wednesday evening, Jedema club members who recently organized, were received in the home of Mildred Crabill on Matilda avenue. The early hours were spent pleasurably with cards, prizes falling to Martha Jane Horchler and Mrs. Wayne Harper, at conclusion of the contest.

In serving a tempting collation, the hostess was aided by her sister, Edrie Crabill and mother, Mrs. W. Crabill. In addition to the usual membership, they had Mrs. Wm. Crabill, Jr., as a special guest, who received the hostess gift.

Their next meeting will be held with Mrs. Clinton Glenn, of Highland Heights, the date to be announced.

Top Notch Club

Cards proved the popular pastime of the evening, prizes being awarded to Betty Bosco, Annette Ckause and Angie Augostine. Dainty refreshments were served, valentine suggestions being carried out in the menu. Miss Angie Pozzutto was a special guest.

In two weeks, Betty Bosco, East Lutton street, will entertain the club.

Honored On Birthday

An informal gathering of friends, met in the G. G. Horchler home on Cherry street last evening, to share in celebrating the birthday anniversary of Ralph Lannigan. Among the guests who shared, included Joyce Belknap of Denver, Colo., and Alberta Horchler of Pittsburgh. Others were from the immediate vicinity.

The time was spent informally with various diversions, and a birthday lunch was served.

M. And N. C. Club

Thursday afternoon was very pleasantly spent by members of the M. and N C. club, with Mrs. C. A. Weaver, of Cherry street. Three tables of bridge claimed attention, the high score awards going to Mrs. F. D. Cox, and Mrs. C. D. Wharton. Sweets and salted nuts were served during the play.

The next meeting will take place February 20, in the home of Mrs. C. D. Wharton, on Wilmington avenue.

Italian Club

At the home of Mrs. Guy Maciariello, 302 rear East Home street, a meeting of the Italian club was held, the hours being spent with cards and music, the latter played by Guy Maciariella. Lunch was served by the hostess' daughters, Lucy and Mary Maciariello.

The next meeting will take place on March 4, at the home of Mrs. Benny Pagliara, 220 East Division street.

1936 Sewing Circle

Mrs. Addison Cuguni will be hostess to the 1936 Sewing circle Thursday, February 13, at her home on Morris street.

Saturday.

T. S., Mrs. Elizabeth Jones, Raymond street.

Little Childhood, Virginia Brink hostess.

Y. W. C. A. Notes

AMATEUR HOUR TONIGHT

The members of the Goodwill Graduate club will drop their role of dignified business girls and bring forth all that "hidden talent" at an "Amateur Hour" to be conducted this evening in the Y. W. C. A. at 8:30 o'clock.

This program, while it does not offer anyone chances of radio or movie fame, promises to be a lot of fun. All members may or may not take part, just as they please.

Marie Paluszak will act as "Major Bowes" and has a beauty of a "gong," made especially for the club.

This affair is being arranged by the new program committee with Nadine Connor as chairman.

MAHONINGTOWN CLUB

Girl Reserves of Mahoning school had a meeting and very interesting program Thursday afternoon in the school building. The program follows:

Devotion—Erma Felix.

Secretary's report—Martha L. Mauck.

Treasurer's report—Charlotte Gaspare.

Jane Martin, the vice president, gave a report of the membership campaign. New members will join next Thursday, February 13.

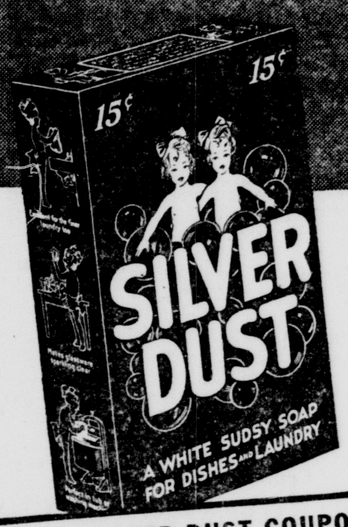
SQUARE CIRCLE

At 7:30 this evening, the Square circle will meet at the Y. W. C. A. to form a group which will be taken on a tour of the Bell Telephone company. Afterwards the girls will return to the Y to be guests of the Goodwill Graduate club featuring an amateur program.

Waitresses under 40 years of age must not be employed in public cafes, hotels, clubs or bars in Rumania, according to a new government decree.

DEEP SUDS TEST PROVES...

SILVER DUST makes dishwashing quicker and easier



IN COOKING SCHOOLS everywhere women have seen the test pictured above. The test proves beyond all question that Silver Dust makes far more suds than the same amount of ordinary packaged soap.

Women who have seen this test are quick to agree that Silver Dust is the ideal soap for dishwashing. At the touch of water, it makes a mountain of active, busy suds that get rid of dirt and stubborn grease in record time.

Try Silver Dust. See for yourself that it actually does make dishwashing quicker and easier. And remember that Silver Dust is always kind to your hands.

CHARGE PRISONERS HAVE DRINKING PARTIES

Recaptured Fugitive From Joliet Alleges Guard Took Him On Escapade

PROBE OF PRISON WILL START SOON

(International News Service)

JOLIET, Ill., Feb. 7.—Sensational charges that the social life of convicts within the walls of the state penitentiary here is unrestrained, with drinking parties and poker sesions a common occurrence, were lent credence today with the disclosures of an escaped convict.

The convict, John Floss, who was recaptured in Chicago, declared he had not attempted to escape but nad merely been taken on an escapade by his guard.

The guard, Homer Talley, was being held in the Will county jail today.

Guard Denies Charges.

Talley denied Floss' charges, stating Floss forced him to drive to Chicago under threat of "cutting me up like Loeb".

Mobilization of investigating bodies to probe prison conditions was begun when ugly charges of laxity and inefficiency in prison administration followed the gruesome prison slaying of Richard Loeb last week.

Loeb, "thrill" murderer of Bobbie Franks, was slashed to death with a razor by James Day, a fellow convict.

Convict Floss and Guard Talley were brought together for questioning by State's Attorney William R. McCabe late yesterday.

Floss, obviously suffering from a "hang over", held his head in his hands as he remarked to his erstwhile guard and pal:

"Why, Homer, you know we were just out on a little drinking bout together. You know we just had a few too many and just went on a joy ride to Chicago."

Leopold Next?

During the course of the questioning Talley remarked he had been informed by convicts that Nathan Leopold, Jr., who shared the "thrill" of murdering Bobby Franks with Loeb, "will be the next to go."

This served to corroborate the theory of McCabe and prison officials that Loeb was the victim of a convict plot, upholding their belief James Day, the 23-year-old convict who inflicted the 56 razor slashes on Loeb's body, was but the tool of a prison gang. Day has stated he killed Loeb in self-defense.

Meanwhile, from Springfield came word Gov. Henry Horner had received acceptances from three more of the 16 prison men he has asked to serve on a commission to investigate Illinois prison conditions, and a refusal from Lewis E. Lawes, famed warden of Sing Sing prison, who telegraphed he could not serve because he was too busy "keeping ny own house in order."

SENIOR HIGH SCHOOL NEWS

McCONNELL HEADS HI-Y

On Monday evening, January 20, the Hi-Y club elected the new officers for the semester. They are: President, Kenneth McConnell; vice president, George Weiker; secretary, Dave Rowland, and treasurer, William Thompson.

OPERETTA GROUP MEETS

On Thursday afternoon immediately following the close of school a meeting of a chorus group and operetta people was held in the auditorium.

At this time parts were given out to those people who will take part in the coming event. The date for the presentation of this operetta will be announced at a later time. It is being given by the members of the chorus and band and orchestra for the the benefit of the music fund. This fund is being built up for contests which will be forthcoming this spring.

Support of all parents of the students has been secured through an organization which was recently formed by the music department of the high school. This not only includes members of the music department of the high school, however, but also takes in many of the students from the junior high schools and also some of the grade schools have offered their support for this mutual undertaking.

CLASS GAMES LIVELY

Although the girls' gym classes have not started yet, the class basketball teams are continuing their league games. The results of the last games were:

Jr. B vs Jr. A Tuesday, February 4, Jr. B 24—Jr. A 20.

N. Y. A. JOBS ASSIGNED

On Wednesday morning, Miss Rebecca Wallace, National Youth Administration supervisor for Senior High School, called a meeting for all persons who are being employed under this movement. The main purpose of the meeting was to assign jobs and times to report for those who have signed up to work.

At the close of last semester about 103 persons were working under this program from the school; the total enrollment now comes to about 153. This work, it is expected will continue throughout the entire semester.

Twenty hours each month or one hour each school day is the required work for these students who are receiving help.

WOMEN TO BE GUESTS

Next Tuesday at 1:30 the home department of the Women's club will be guests at a luncheon served by Mrs. Viola Healy's advanced cooking class in the dining room of the home economics department.

Betty Jane Kison, Elizabeth Slaven, Miriam Clinefelter and Mrs. Viola Healy will have charge of the program.

Between thirty-five and forty are expected to be present.

SQUAD STILL ACTIVE

As the morning session squad has not yet organized, the boys who served last year are still on the job. Many of them will remain for the following semester. Those interested in signing up for the squad should see Miss Mary Riffer, general chairman of the squad, in room 212.

CHECK—DOUBLE CHECK!

Quite a large number of articles that have been lost by students in and around the building have accumulated in the office. Anyone who has lost anything of value be wise has lost anything of value would be wise if he would get in touch with the office. Redemption may be had upon identification.

PLACES ON SPEED LIST

Miss Riddle has announced that, in listing those students who passed the Gregg shorthand test of 100-words per minute for December, Suzanne Sadler's name was unintentionally omitted.

NATURE CLUB TO ELECT

Nicholas Casillo has announced that as soon as the Biology I classes are permanently organized, a meeting will be held to elect the officers for the Nature club. This election will probably be held the latter part of next week.

HI-Y AFFAIRS PLANNED

On Monday, February 3, the Hi-Y met at the Y. M. C. A. building for the weekly meeting. After a short devotional period, supervised by Henry McNicholas, new business for the month was discussed.

Among the items brought up for discussion was the program for the month of February. On February 10 the club will hear Attorney Joe McFate give a talk about Abraham Lincoln. Induction of new members will be held February 17 at the Y. M. C. A. building.

Plans have been made for a "Poverty Party" to be held Monday, February 24. The new members will be initiated into the club at this affair. If all plans work out, this will be a very hilarious and exciting evening for everyone concerned.

George Weiker, chairman of the membership committee, reports that his committee has made elaborate plans for a membership drive this month. Initiation of new members will culminate the drive. Boys interested in joining should get in touch with George Weiker.

ENROLLMENT NOW 2,100

On Thursday morning post graduates reported to the school for the new semester. Principal F. L. Orth announced that about 125 of the persons who graduated returned to take additional work.

Principal Orth also announced that the latest check showed that the enrollment of the entire school, minus the post graduates, is 2100. This just about equals the attendance for the past two semesters.

NE-CA-HI PERSONALS

Pansy Martini has been absent from school this week because of illness.

Louis Edminston returned to school after missing the first couple of days of the new semester because of illness.

Ralph Gardner, faculty athletic manager, was in Pittsburgh the early part of this week on a business trip.

Woman Racketeer Gyps 300 Doctors

(International News Service)

FRANKFORT—Three years in penitentiary was the punishment inflicted by a court here on Luise Barthelmes, 34, unmarried, for deliberately poisoning her blood about 300 times within the last fours years to defraud insurance companies.

Following an operation for appendicitis, Luise caused ulcerations of her wound by intruding tiny bits of gauze into it, and then made damage claims against physicians. The claims were paid by liability companies insuring the physicians.

Between 1919 and 1933 she caused around 300 ulcerations in various parts of the body by the same ruse. Finally she was detected in infecting her wounds after she had collected a total of 66,000 marks.

TO MILLIONS WHO SHOULD USE BRAN

Tests Show ALL-BRAN Corrects Constipation* Gently and Naturally

Since its introduction, some fifteen years ago, Kellogg's ALL-BRAN has been used with beneficial results by millions of people.

Realizing the important relationship between proper diet and health, the Kellogg Company has aided for some years research in leading university laboratories. These tests show that the continued use of bran is thoroughly satisfactory.

ALL-BRAN supplies soft "bulk" which absorbs water, and gently cleanses the intestinal tract. ALL-BRAN also furnishes vitamin B and iron. Use as a cereal with milk or cream, or cook in delicious recipes.

This tempting cereal may be enjoyed by every normal person. Two tablespoonfuls of Kellogg's ALL-BRAN daily are usually sufficient. Consult your doctor if you do not gain relief this way.

Help your family keep well. Serve Kellogg's ALL-BRAN regularly for regularity. Sold by all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

FRESHMAN PARTY

The Freshman party which was held on January 30, was enjoyed by every one. The committee in charge of games had a very interesting program planned. Prizes were given to the winners of various games. At the conclusion of games the refreshments were served, after which the merry-makers returned to their homes.

BESSEMER SCHOOL NOTES

June Shoup has been absent from school with a touch of blood poisoning, and will be able to return to school soon.

Anna Sankovich who was a victim of our extreme cold spell, is improving very slowly.

MODERN MAGIC

Mr. Biberich, professor of German, at Westminster College, presented a program of Modern Magic in the Bessemer High School auditorium, on Tuesday evening, February 4. The acts included, "Aga, the Floating Lady" also "La Mysterie Electrique" and a part of the original act of Houdini escapes.

LEAGUE TILT

The Bessemer High basketball team meets the strong Mount Jackson High team in a league tilt, on February 7. The preliminary game will be played by the girls of both teams. The game is scheduled to begin at 7:30.

This game might be the deciding one for both teams, since Mount Jackson and Bessemer are tied for second place in the W.P.I.A.L. Section 22, each having won 3 and losing 2. This game will be an interesting one for the teams are rivals, and there is much competition between them.

Only a Cold - Don't Fool Yourself

Colds should be checked before they become deep-seated. Colds that hang on—stubborn colds—may lead to more serious illness.

Start at once taking Father John's Medicine, used over 80 years as a treatment for colds and bronchial irritations.

In 9 cases out of 10 Dr. Fredric Damrau, New York, proved by clinical tests that it shortened the duration of colds.

In addition to this proof of value, its use for 80 years is dependable and convincing evidence. Be prepared—keep a bottle on hand.

80 YEARS FIGHTING COLDS — FATHER JOHN'S MEDICINE — NO DRUGS

Lawrence County Farms And Farmers

By H. R. McCulloch, County Agent

FEW CORN VARIETIES RULE AT FARM SHOW

Corn exhibits at the recent Pennsylvania Farm Show gave convincing evidence of the trend toward a few outstanding varieties in place of the many kinds formerly exhibited.

About 90 per cent of the corn exhibits were of four important varieties grown in the state.

Leaming types of corn were most numerous in exhibits from central Pennsylvania.

A warning signal also was observed in this year's corn show. The judges found several dead ears in what were otherwise splendid samples. This condition, they believe, serves notice that there will be seed corn problems during the coming spring. If the pick of the crop contains corn that will not germinate it is felt that the general run of the crop will be likewise affected. Only careful seed testing will reveal the real condition of corn except to qualify for seed. It is recommended that farmers of Lawrence county test their seed to learn its germinating strength or weakness.

PENNSYLVANIA APPLES IMROVE EVERY YEAR

Records from the fruit exhibit of the State Farm Show for the past three years verify reports from other quarters that Pennsylvania growers are making steady progress in putting on the market a standard grade of fruit.

Two classes in the show are reserved for commercially packed fruit - - - one class for bushels and one for barrels. Fruit for these classes is taken by a disinterested party from the grower's ordinary commercial stock which is packed to meet the requirements of U. S. No. 1 grade. At the time of the show, representatives of the State Bureau of Markets examine these samples and make awards on the basis of the percentage of the fruit which meets the grade requirements. Examination of the records of these classes show that 82 per cent of the packages met the grade requirements in 1934, 85.3 per cent in 1935, and 96.1 per cent in 1936. This should be a good recommendation for Pennsylvania fruit, even with the housewife who may not be familiar with exact grade requirements.

SELECT EARLY PLANTED SEEDS FROM BEST STOCK

Lawrence county gardners who order their seeds early have the best opportunity of obtaining the leading strains and selections. Later, these may become exhausted and old, off-type seeds will be the only ones available.

Special strains of Golden Acre are best for early sowing and the first field planting. Following this in earliness is Copenhagen Market of the same type. Marion Market is a yellows-resistant selection of Copenhagen Market.

Large late Copenhagen is somewhat similar to Glory of Enkhuizen in season and size of head. These selections are best for fall use and kraut making.

For winter storage short stemmed Danish Ballhead is best. Wisconsin Ballhead is the yellows-resistant selection but produces a relatively small head compared with Penn State Ballhead and other strains.

Wisconsin Hollander No. 8 produces a head somewhat similar to Houser, but it is more uniform and satisfactory for winter storage. It is large and not so compact as the short stemmed Danish Ballhead.

Super Snowball cauliflower has proved to be an outstanding selection among the various strains at the Pennsylvania State College agricultural experiment station and has been shown in the extension demonstrations over the state.

RULES FOR EARLY MANAGEMENT OF CHICKS

Thirteen simple rules for managing the brooder successfully in growing chicks are:

1. Start a fire in the brooder stove two or three days before the chicks arrive.
2. Use a wire netting around the hover.
3. Place several inches of clean, dry litter on the brooder house floor.
4. Do not crowd the chicks.
5. Have water from which the chill is taken available for the chicks as soon as they are put into the brooder house.
6. Feed the chicks as soon as you get them.
7. Keep the brooder house dry at all times.
8. Do not overheat the chicks.
9. A very dim light burning all night will help correct the situation if crowding is a problem.
10. It never pays to frighten chickens.
11. Provide roosts for the chicks when they are three to four weeks old.
12. Separate the sexes, if possible, as soon as they can be recognized.
13. Change from small chick scratch grain to intermediate size and then to whole grains as soon as the birds will eat them without difficulty.

ADD COLOR TO MEALS WITH FRESH SALADS

Don't forget your salads these winter days. This is an excellent way to supply your family daily with a raw vegetable or fruit, reminds Miss Mary Vogle, county home economics representative. Salads stimulate jaded appetites, give roughage, iron, phosphorus, vitamins B and C, and may be a very colorful part of the meal.

A good salad should be clean, cold, crisp and dry. Cold water will clean and freshen vegetables. Additional crispness can be obtained if vegetables are placed in an open window for 15 minutes. Except when marenating salads, use salad dressing sparingly and do not add until just before the salad is to be served. In marenating the salad is mixed thoroughly in a French dressing until each piece is well coated.

Cabbage, carrots, celery and onions, if stored in the fall, are now available to use for many raw salads. Miss Vogle suggests a few interesting combinations for cabbage and carrots.

1. Onion rings.
2. Nuts and cheese.
3. Raw turnips and celery.
4. Ground raw beets, horseradish and sweetened vinegar.
5. Sweet cream, dilute vinegar, and sugar (slaw).
6. Stewed prunes, honey, and stewed apricots.

Carrots combine nicely with:

1. Raisins and nuts.
2. Celery and sweet pickles.
3. Onions and celery.

Apples are good in all combinations and are perhaps the cheapest of raw fruits for winter salads. Oranges, grapefruit, and bananas make good salads when their price is reasonable. Dried fruits are usually economical. Prunes, raisins and apricot salad "pep up" many a dull meal.

Canned vegetables and fruits may be made into gelatin salads. Fresh pineapple is the one exception. These salads give variety and color.

"A well selected, carefully prepared, and correctly served salad will do more toward lifting a mediocre meal out of the ordinary colors than any other item on the menu, Miss Vogle concludes.

EAST BROOK

MARY JANE MEETING

Members of the Mary Jane Society of the East Brook U. P. church met on Tuesday evening with Miss Ruth Young for their regular meeting. The program for the evening was in charge of Mrs. James Guthrie and Mrs. D. B. McKnight. Youngsters Relish Stories At Library

Althought weather has been exceedingly miserable, children will have their weekly stories related to them by Miss Alice Joyce, children's librarian for the Free Public library. Yesterday was the day which the youngsters gather in the story-hour room to hear related the adventures of witches and goblins and other story book characters. The audience this week reached the total of 80, while that of last week was up to 93.

The thrilling adventures of Happy Cobbler and a story entitled "The Flight" were told yesterday. The next story hour session will feature Valentine stories and a large attendance is expected.

WASHINGTON AT A GLANCE

Government May Turn To Lottery

Seen As Possibility In Raising Much Needed Funds For Federal Purposes

IS POPULAR IN OTHER COUNTRIES

Central Press
Washington Bureau
1900 S Street.

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7— Every time that Uncle Sam simply has to have more money than he has currently available, and already has borrowed pretty close, to what he considers his credit's safety limit, someone arises in congress to urge the establishment of a government lottery.

Such a situation exists at present. A sizable and growing block in the house of representatives favors the lottery method of meeting two or three billions in immediate federal requirements, and then paying off the national debt in comparatively short order.

Considering Uncle Sam's financial straits of today, it wouldn't astonish me to see the plan ultimately adopted.

* * *

Speaking on a low plane, it's a scheme which has its practical advantages.

In the first place, a lottery unquestionably is a big revenue producer. Its advocates estimate that one would yield $1,500,000,000 annually in this country. From what I have seen of government lotteries in much smaller republics, I would say that this was conservative guessing.

Second, a lottery is popular.

A tax levy is hateful. Even an indirect tax, increasing the cost of living, presently is recognized as a burden. It may come to be recognized as an intolerable one.

But a lottery ticket! That isn't a tax. That's a chance to make a big cleanup. It's a bounty. Not an impost.

* * *

POPULAR ELSEWHERE

I don't speak as to the United States, for here government lotteries have been outlawed during many years. But I've watched them in operation under several foreign governments. Their folks like them. Undoubtedly they would like them here too, with a little competent publicity.

The foreign lottery with which I am most familiar is Argentina's.

In its early days the Argentine lottery had the luck to pay a large prize—the equivalent of $150,000 or so—to a poor young European immigrant, one Nicholas Mihanovitch. Nicholas proved to be a good business man. He put his accidentally-acquired cash (but acquired by—gosh!—what an accident!) into shipping on the Parana and Paraguay rivers. The Mihanovitch Line! Since then he's been one of the richest men in South America.

And the Argentine lottery has had all the credit for it.

No remarks in particular from the 90 per cent of losers.

The program works too. The almost infinitely few winners are delighted, and the overwhelming majority of losers don't complain. For some strange reason the losers always appear certain that they are about to win, and don't want to stop the game until they have done so.

Poker players know how this is.

* * *

SOME ARE CROOKED

Government lotteries have been crookedly handled.

Cuba's has been attacked.

In the main, however, they have been honest.

Jesus Insists On Righteousness

"Brass Tacks" On The Sunday School Lesson

The Golden Text

Luke 6:46—"Why call ye me, Lord, Lord, and do not the things which I say."

(The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for February 9 is Luke 6:1-49, the Golden Text being verse 46. "Why call ye me, Lord, Lord, and do not the things which I say.")

By DR. ALVIN E. BELL

This righteousness upon which Jesus insists in this sermon, which may be either Luke's report of the "Sermon on the Mount" or of another sermon we might call "the Sermon on the Plain," is a righteousness to be judged not by the standards of man made laws or human traditions but by the law of God.

The Law Of Sabbath Is Love

When the Pharisees criticized Jesus' disciples for rubbing a few heads of wheat in their hands to satisfy their hunger the disciples were violating no law of God. The essence of all law is love. And Jesus cited how David had applied this law of love, and had sanctioned the precedent, claiming for himself Lordship even over the Sabbath. Again he justified his own act in healing the man with the withered hand in the synagogue on the Sabbath as an application of that same law of love to relieve misery. His critics were plotting his murder on the Sabbath while they were condemning him for showing love and mercy in the relief of misery.

Apostles Of Righteousness Chosen

Luke tells us then that "in those days Jesus went out into the mountains to pray, and he continued all night in prayer to God. And when it was day, he called his disciples; and chose from them twelve, whom also he named apostles." After these twelve had learned from him the righteousness of God he would send them forth to embody it in their own lives and to teach it to others.

The Sermon On The Plain

Doubtless having these newly chosen apostles particularly in mind, Jesus came down from the place of prayer, "and stood in the plain," and preached a marvelous ordination sermon to guide them in their apostleship. He first indicates the marks of a true prophet of God, the blessedness of his poverty and privation and persecution. "For in the same manner did their fathers unto the prophets." The marks of a false prophet he also gives, citing the woes of their riches, ease and empty popularity, "for in the same manner did their fathers to the false prophets."

The Law Of Love

"I say unto you which hear, love your enemies, do good to them that hate you, bless them that curse you, pray for them that despitefully use you." Thus the law of love inclues even our enemies. It produces the patience and long suffering that offer the other cheek; it develops the generosity that "gives to everyone that asketh"; it reaches its climax in that love of one's neighbor as one's self expressed in the Golden Rule: "As ye would that men should do to you, do ye also to them likewise." This it does regardless of the attitude with which it meets, loving, benefiting and befriending all with whom it meets, because it patterns after the love of God in which it rejoices, being "merciful even as the Father is merciful."

Love Proven By Life

This love the Christian learns from God is proven by life lived in accord therewith, "for each tree is known by its own fruit." Saying "Lord, Lord" is not enough. There must be life showing Christ's lordship. This consistent hearing and doing grounds life upon the rock and gives it power to resist all storms and endure unshaken to the end of time.

GARDNER

Mrs. Lee H. Overmoyer and son, Lloyd, of the Ellwood road, both had an attack of grip.

Miss Marjorie Taylor of the Ellwood road spent last week end at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank M. Hay of Gardner.

Joseph Thornberg, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Thornberg, of the Butler road, missed two weeks of school on account of tonsilitis.

Mary and Charlie Zorens, children of Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Zoren, of Gardner, have been out of school for a week suffering with grip.

Mr. and Mrs. William Hall of Gardner went to a birthday party held last Saturday evening in New Castle in honor of Mrs. Herbert Saxon, Sr.

Miss Joyce Gibson of Gardner and Russell Hogue of the Ellwood road spent the week end with the former's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Scott Mayrs, of Neville Island.

Their former neighbors are greatly pleased over the return of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Shaffer, Sr., after an absence of several years. They are nicely settled in the Willard Kennedy property, at Gardner.

Rev. Albert Gurstenberger, wife and little daughter, Marjorie Jeannette, spent Tuesday evening with Gardner friends. These young people are missionaries in the Kentucky mountains and will return there as soon as weather conditions will permit.

Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Wade of the Butler road, went to Harrisburg to visit the family of their brother, George Wade, and to bring their mother, Mrs. Carrie Wade, to her home at North Washington in Butler county, as Mrs. Wade had spent the holiday season at Harrisburg.

Mr. and Mrs. Calvin F. Clark of the Butler road have returned home from a three weeks' trip to Phoenix, Arizona. Their neighbors and many friends in this state are sorry to learn that they have bought a home in Glendale, near Phoenix, and will move there in a few months.

Section G. of the Y. L. B. class, of the Third United Presbyterian church in New Castle met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Byers of the Butler road on Monday night. There were seventeen members present and a delightful evening was greatly enjoyed by all. Mrs. Byers served a dainty lunch at a late hour.

The year 1776 was a great year both in America and England, for besides the Declaration of Independence, the first volume of Gibson's monumental "Decline and Fall of the Roman Empire" appeared. and Adam Smith published his "Wealth of Nations," the world's first great work in political economy.

NAVAL NOTES

By M. L. NIXON
Naval Recruiter, Second Floor Federal Building

Vice Admiral Arthur J. Hepburn has been selected to relieve Admiral Joseph M. Reeves as commander-in-chief of the United States fleet some time in June, 1936. Admiral Reeves has served two years as commander-in-chief. The regular period is one year and Admiral Reeves is the first officer to hold that office for more than one year in the past ten years. He is due for retirement in December of this year. Admiral Hepburn at present is commander, scouting force, and has served over 42 years in the navy. He is a native of Pennsylvania.

The navy department has announced that the sixth class of aviation cadets, U. S. Naval Reserves, 69 in number, would report at the naval air station, Pensacola, Fla., for flight training. Members of this class were selected from the classes of candidates which have received a month's elimination and preliminary aviation training at the naval reserve aviation bases throughout the country. Aviation cadets who qualify as naval aviators will, upon completion of the regular course, be ordered to the fleet for three years active duty.

Nautical Novelties: The man on "wheel watch", steering the ship, has no wheel but a handle similar to a street-car motorman's. The "anchor watch" has no watch nor can he see the anchor; but is a messenger for running errands at the orders of the officer-of-the-deck.

Wordsworth and Edgar Allen Poe are examples of poets who occasionally wrote the last stanza of a poem, first. "We Are Seven" and "The Raven" were so composed.

Hell could be a lot worse. If it is dry, there can't be any rainy days.

Shaffer Trial Nearing Jury

CONTENDS TROOPERS KNOCKED HIM DOWN

(International News Service)

SUNBURY, Pa., Feb. 7.—Climaxed by the defendant's dramatic denial that he fired the fatal shots, the trial of David Shaffer for the murder of his sister, Bertha, rapidly neared a jury in Northumberland county court here today.

The self-tyled Shamokin "bad man", taking the stand in his own defense, heightened interest in the case with a charge that a "confession" introduced by the commonwealth was obtained by "inhuman" third degree methods of state police.

On the record as the case entered its fifth day, however, was Shaffer's admission that he shot and wounded Corp. William Bloom, one of the state troopers at Bertha's side when she fell mortally wounded on a Shamokin street last October 12. "I thought I was defending my life," he said.

To Jury Today

Attorneys in the case expected Shaffer's fate to be placed in the hands of the jury sometime today.

Testimony of the ex-convict who was captured last December 28 by a Benton physician, was a sharp contradiction of state witnesses who said Shaffer admitted killing his sister and crippling Bloom. Two troopers had testified Shaffer confessed the slaying in their presence, without any duress. But Shaffer, pointing out half a dozen troopers as his assailants, declared:

"I was knocked down and when I arose, was knocked down again, then picked up by the hair."

School Directors Wind Up Sessions

Ask Attorney General Margiotti For Opinion On School Financing

J. F. Meck Of Altoona, Is Named President Of State Association

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Pa., Feb. 7 — School directors of Pennsylvania having concluded sessions of their 41st annual convention, today left with Attorney General Charles J. Margiotti a request for an opinion on school financing problems that arose following invalidation of the graduated income tax by the state supreme court.

The association passed a resolution that a written opinion, relative to the Zeisenheim act providing that school districts shall receive $900 appropriations on each elementary teacher's salary be obtained from Margiotti. The carrying out of the provisions of that act depended on the appropriation of $25,000,000 to school districts, the money to be raised through the graduated income tax.

Resolutions Passed

Directors seeks to determine whether provision will be made for fulfilling the program by another appropriation since the income tax act was held unconstitutional.

This resolution and others presented by the association's committee on resolutions embrace the policies to be carried forward during the year. Other resolutions included one providing that notice of dismissal be given only to teachers actually to be dismissed, and that the school code be revised to provide for the physical examination of teachers before the start of each school year.

Officers Named

Officers named at the closing session of the conclave included J. F. Meck, Altoona, President; H. J. Stockton, Johnstown, first vice president; Chester H. Gross, Manchester, second vice president; Dr. W. A. Roberts, Newtown, third vice president; Mrs. Anna Dickinson, secretary-treasurer.

Among the legislative policies set forth in the legislative committee's annual report were a restoration of the provisions of the Edmonds act, a deficiency appropriation of $5,000,000 to meet the state's legal obligation to school districts; emergency aid legislation for financially distressed school districts; a more equitable distribution of the tax burden, the relief of real estate, and the imposition of an income tax; the enforcement of the principle of the continuing contract for teachers; the policy of voluntary consolidation of school districts, and the transfer of motor funds to the general fund.

It is now possible to make a superior mousetrap without going to the woods to escape a code.

The Kum-Join-Us class banquet scheduled for February 10 at the Croton M. E. church, has been postponed to February 21.

Lead Service Tonight

The Men's Gospel team from the Calvary Presbyterian church Rev. R. J. Fredericks pastor, will have charge of the program at the City Rescue Mission, 17 South Mercer street, tonight. There will be special music and speaking.

Keep the cellar windows open. The fresh air will take away that damp and stale smell.

BOY SCOUT Activities

GOING TO YOUNGSTOWN

Youngstown's main Boy Scout Week feature, an elaborate merit badge exposition, will be viewed by a delegation of New Castle scouts who will motor there with adult leaders on Saturday evening.

The boys will see for themselves how a neighboring council manages its show. Within a short time the Lawrence County council is to sponsor one of its own.

TROOP NO. 9

Troop 9 met in Sunny Avenue School Wednesday night. Joe Wilk led in prayer, Emmet Latimer gave the allegiance to the flag, William Church gave the laws and Bill Korkik repeated the oath.

Plans were made for celebration of anniversary week, beginning this week-end. The troop will join other troops of this regional district in attending services Sunday evening in the First U. P. church. E. Hawk will be the host. Parents' Night was also planned for next week.

Two patrols were organized. Joe Wilk was elected leader of the Fox patrol and Frank Stanish of the Crows. A game was played in which the Fox patrol was triumphant over the Crows. Jack Turek, the scoutmaster, gave a short inspirational talk. Dismissal followed the scoutmaster's benediction.

Scribe, Zig Gerloch.

BETHEL PRAYER BAND

Bethel prayer band will meet this evening in the home of Mrs. Amanda Larry, 107 O'Brien street, at 7:30 o'clock.

S. S. PRAYER BAND

South Side Prayer band will meet this evening at 7:30 in the home of Mrs. Ella Rice, 1003 Moravia street. Pansie Wright will be in charge.

MOTHER'S AIDE CLUB

Tuesday afternoon at two o'clock the Mother's Aid club met with Mrs. M. Clark, Grant street. Devotionals were led by Mrs. L. B. Williams. President Mrs. Katherine Engs presided over the business period, when Mrs. Helen Huddle was taken in as a new member.

The hostess, assisted by Helen Tyler, served refreshments, with adjournment following. In two weeks Mrs. Katherine Engs of Green street will entertain.

JUNIOR AIDE SERVING CLUB

The Junior Aide Serving club met Thursday afternoon at five o'clock with Mary Louise Tyler in charge, at their usual place of gathering. Sewing was dispensed with, the time being devoted to reading and conversation. Their first quilt has been completed and the girls are beginning a second one.

A thin black chiffon dress with white pique accents at the neckline and down the side of the bodice gives one a cool and well-groomed appearance for sultry days.

THIEF STEALS PART FROM MOTOR OF AUTO

Mrs. Lucy Covert, 1223 East Washington street, reported to police that while her auto was parked at Grant street and Highland avenue last night someone stole parts from the motor.

Englishman Is Seriously Hurt In Ski Crackup

James Riddell Injured Seriously In Trying To Negotiate Difficult Turn

By PIERRE J. HUSS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

GARMISCH - PARTENKIRCHEN, Feb. 7.—James Riddell, vice-captain of the British ski team, narrowly escaped death in a near-fatal plunge off the course during the Olympic winter sports championships today, as America continued its victorious march through the hockey eliminations. The Yankee sextet, considerably improving upon its performance in the first round yesterday, defeated the Swiss, 3 to 0, in a wild scoring spree at the close of the second period.

Meanwhile, the Americans were defeated in the downhill ski races for men and women. These, as expected, went to the Norwegians.

Birgir Ruud, Norway, won the men's event in 4 minutes 47 4-10 seconds. In the women's division, Nilson Schou, teammate of Ruud, was the new champion in 5 minutes 4 seconds.

Englishman Injured.

Riddell, the injured Englishman, lost his balance in attempting to negotiate a difficult turn and wound up in a tangle of limbs and skiis, after a sickening plunge below. He was rushed to the hospital where a preliminary examination revealed several broken bones. He was not believed to be seriously injured.

America's victory in the hockey series, assuring it of a place in the semi-finals, was not so impressive after the champion Canadians had taken the ice. The Canucks, skating beautifully and handling their sticks like wands, completely bewildered the Latvians to win by 11 to 0. It was the second walkover for the champions in two days.

It was fairly close for one period, the Canadians scoring twice, but they rained in six goals in the final period. At this point, they had the Latvian goalie talking to himself. He had made 40 saves as against the rival goalie's 12, and still couldn't stop the champions.

Mellon Engages Noted Architect

John Russell Pope, To Design Building For Valuable Paintings

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 7.—John Russell Pope, famous New York architect, has been retained to design the building which will house the almost priceless Mellon collection of paintings in Washington, it was learned here today.

Pope is now in Washington seeking a site for the national gallery of art, as it will be known. There will be placed the paintings given to the nation by Andrew W. Mellon, former secretary of the treasury and Pittsburgh financier.

Under terms of Mellon's gift, the building must be completed by June 30, 1941. Mellon gave $10,000,000 in securities to the Mellon public educational and charitable trust for the art gallery. Pope has designed many famous art galleries here and abroad.

Miners To Work On Saturday

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7. — The United Mine Workers today authorized bituminous coal miners in areas where there is an apparent shortage of fuel, to work tomorrow. The authorization is only for the one day.

President John L. Lewis asked public officials in those areas to cooperate to the extent of seeing that the coal thus mined is used only for domestic purposes.

Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Lowery, of Neshannock avenue, and Mr. and Mrs. L. Jenkins, of North Mill street, were in Youngstown, O., Thursday.

NEW RESERVE BOARD MEMBERS RECEIVE COMMISSIONS

Roosevelt Called Amateur Communist By George B. Shaw

Finds Amazing Feeling Against Policies Of President In United States

(International News Service)

"He doesn't know he's a communist, but like the Russians, he is learning from experience," Shaw added.

Shaw said he found an "amazing and enormous" feeling against Roosevelt during his recent stop in the United States. He said this was a tribute, "because there always is a feeling against a man accomplishing something."

The "silly democracy" of the United States "probably will throw him out and elect some gangster," Shaw observed.

Convicted Robbers Enter Appeals In U. S. Court Today

(International News Service)

CLEVELAND, O., Feb. 7.—Twice convicted and twice sentenced to 25-year federal prison terms as participants in the $125,000 mail truck robbery in Warren last April, George Sargent and Anthony Labrizetti, both of Akron, today appealed their case to the U. S. circuit court of appeals in Cincinnati.

The two filed their notices of appeal in U. S. district court here. The appeals will be mailed later today to the Cincinnati court.

Sargent and Labrizetti set forth in their notices that the verdict was contrary to the weight of the evidence, that they were not identified as the men who staged the robbery, and that the evidence did not prove that they were on the scene of the robbery.

Borah-Roosevelt Eat Lunch Today In White House

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—Senator William E. Borah of Idaho, now an avowed candidate for the 1936 Republican presidential nomination, today lunched with President Roosevelt.

The luncheon, which was of the noted "business over the desk" type, was scheduled late this morning, causing speculation as to what matters the Idaho veteran would discuss with Mr. Roosevelt.

Mystery Deaths

Kentucky Convict Is Slaying Victim

Man Is Litterally "Cut To Ribbons" By Fellow Convict At Frankfort

(International News Service)

FRANKFORT, Ky., Feb. 7.—Close on the heels of a break in which four men escaped, a prisoner was slain by a fellow convict in the kitchen of the state reformatory here today.

Matt Van Cleave, serving, two year term for malicious shooting, was slashed to death with a knife wielded by Wendell Osborne, serving 21 years for manslaughter.

According to prison officials Osborne attacked Van Cleave while the two were in the kitchen preparing to set tables in the dining room for the noon meal. Both are waiters. Osborne knocked the other prisoner down with a hammer, slashed his throat and then cut him all over the body.

Guards said Van Cleave was "cut to ribbons".

Officers were unable to determine what started the argument.

Police Use Tear Gas On Crowd Of Striking Workers

(International News Service)

NEW ALBANY, Ind., Feb. 7.—One hundred striking garment workers and sympathizers were routed by tear gas bombs here today when they attempted to storm the Flood county jail to liberate two men arrested by special deputies guarding the M. Fine & Sons Shirt Manufacturing company.

Choked and blinded by the gas, the crowd, composed mostly of women, dispersed in disorder. Only two bombs were used, according to police Chief Edward H. Myer. Delbert Stevens, 22, the only person seriously affected by the gas, was treated at St. Edward hospital and taken home.

The prisoners, Charles Martin, 32, and Roscoe Taylor, 35, were charged with resisting an officer. They were overpowered by deputies as the climax of a fight which followed their refusal to leave the guarded area about the plant.

All Day Institute At Baptist Church

Women's Missionary Society Meets Thursday; Miss Broadhead Elected

An all-day institute was conducted Thursday in the First Baptist church by the Women's Missionary society. Among the important portions of the day's program was the election of officers to serve a two-year term. They are:

President, Miss Alma Broadhead; first vice president, Mrs. Nathan Joseph; second vice president, Mrs. Dave Nesbit; secretary, Mrs. W. C. McCalmont, and treasurer, Mrs. R. E. Elmore.

The home study book, "Toward a Christian America", was reviewed very interestingly by Mrs. Charles T. Metzler, and the foreign topic, "Between Two Countries", was capably led by Miss Alma Broadhead.

An exchange box-luncheon was enjoyed at noon. Devotions were led by Mrs. H. A. Sturdy, assisted by Mrs. Nathan Joseph, Mrs. Charles Heaton, Mrs. Sadie Tillman, Mrs. L. C. Houston, Mrs. Charles Klingensmith and Mrs. Mary Landis.

During the business meeting reports were submitted by Mrs. Sturdy, Mrs. William Wilson, Mrs. Tillman, Mrs. Joseph, Mrs. Metzler, Mrs. Nesbit and Mrs. Fred Howland.

A number of members voiced their appreciation for the splendid service given by Mrs. Jessie McCommon, the retiring president, Mrs. McCommon gave the closing prayer.

FIRST IN PERSIA

The first woman in Persia to discard the veil and to travel unchaperoned on the highways of the world is Mme. Zonra Neidary. Mme. Neidary has served in the Persian ministry of public works and represented her government on the ministry of fine arts in the United States. She speaks five languages and is a brilliant conversationalist.

KING'S DAUGHTERS ELECT

President, Geraldine Getty; vice president, Helen Allen; secretary, Marietta Frazier; treasurer, Martha Moorehead; and corresponding secretary, Jeannett Vogan.

Twenty-four members were present. They were led in devotions by Harriet Schmidt. A chapter from "Seed Corn" was reviewed by Gertrude Graham. Little Miss Barbara Edelstein pleased the group by two lovely piano numbers.

AMERICANIZATION BOARD

The meeting of the Americanization board scheduled for Saturday at the home of Mrs. Charles Greer, 414 North Jefferson street, has been postponed to Saturday, February 15, it is announced today.

Foot Of Snow In Washington

HAS SNOWED FOR THIRTEEN HOURS

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—The heaviest snowfall to blanket the nation's capital since the catastrophic Knickerbocker theater disaster of 1922 today brought the machinery of Uncle Sam's government to an almost complete stop.

In early afternoon, the white flakes had fallen continuously for 13 hours and were a foot deep, with a strong wind creating drifts higher than the heads of the hundreds of hardy workers who trudged to work. Transportation services operated at about 10 per cent efficiency.

Legislators Meet

At the White House, scheduled visitors to President Roosevelt either straggled in hours late or failed to appear at all. Irate legislators, whose efforts to obtain taxicabs were futile, finally gave up the battle to scale Capitol Hill. Congressional committee meetings were called off, or desultorily attended.

The floor of the house and senate, both theoretically in session, were almost as bare as the streets. A quorum call in the senate found but nine senators, including the veterans Borah, Fletcher (D) of Florida, and Smith (D) of South Carolina, present. After three calls, a quorum finally was mustered.

In the house only 60 representatives could be mustered, far less than the constitutional quorum. But no one raised the point, so business proceeded as usual.

Judge Braham Is Heard Last Night

Epworth Men's Organization Has Meeting At Epworth M. E. Church

Judge Walter W. Braham was the principal speaker on Thursday night at a meeting of the Epworth Men's organization in the Epworth church community room.

He had as his topic, the Bible as it fills leading parts in the lives of great men of history and today. He told how great men have followed the Bible to accomplish great deeds in the government and the world at large.

Judge Braham was introduced to the large audience of members and men of the church by George T. Weingartner, who presided over the meeting in a pleasing and capable manner.

A number of selections were sung by a quartet composed of Russell Rhodes, C. H. Moore, Fred Smith and Leonard Kisthart, with William Branstetter at the piano. A pleasing skit was presented by Mrs. Florence Campbell, Mrs. Hanna and Mrs. O'Neill. Closing remarks were made by Dr. J. A. Galbraith.

An appetizing lunch was served at the close. There were about 60 people present.

Father Of State Official Killed By Fall Of Rock

(International News Service)

WILLIAMSTOWN, Pa., Feb. 7—Trapped in a fall of rock, Harry D. Messner, 67, father of Otto Messner, deputy auditor general was almost instantly killed today at the Susquehanna colliery, where he was employed.

Messner, a timberman, was crushed between several large top rocks as the shaft caved in.

Although his one son, the deputy auditor general, a candidate for the Republican nomination for auditor general, resides in Lancaster, the elder Messner's home was at Williamstown. His wife and two other children survive.

During the Civil war, diarrheal diseases brought the hospital admission rate to 876 per 1,000, the death rate to 10 per 1,000. In the World war, with little exposure to causes, the rates for American troops were 35 hospital admissions per 1,000 and a death rate of 0.1 per 1,000.

Almost 4,000 years ago the lovely ladies of the Nile valley used eyebrow pencils.

Clerk-Carrier Test At School Tomorrow

Civil Service Quiz To Be Given At Senior High; 256 Applicants

A clerk-carrier examination will be given by the local civil service board to a host of aspiring applicants to jobs at the local post office in study halls of senior high school on Saturday morning at nine o'clock.

While 256 have become eligible to take the test, Miss Garnet Rhodes, secretary of the board, and the one who will supervise the exam., declared her belief that not all will report tomorrow.

The examination will provide a list of eligibles for vacancies at the local post office. It is believed only a few jobs—possibly three or four—will be available as a result of the new 40-hour postal work week.

Home Hygiene Class To Begin

This evening in the North Street School at 7 o'clock there will be a class organized in home nursing and home hygiene, under the Adult Education program. Great interest has been manifested in this branch of the educational program and many registrations have already been received for this evening's class and it is anticipated that there will be many more register tonight.

It is probable that there will also be a first aid class for women of the city show an interest in this class.

RED CROSS NURSING REPRESENTATIVE HERE

ALLEGED NUMBERS SELLER IS FREED

Thomas Brown, colored, alleged seller of "numbers", is free today because he is only a "little shot" in the racket, according to Mayor Charles E. McGrath, who before he discharged Brown on a charge of suspicion in police court warned that had Brown been one of the "higher-ups" he would have received a sentence to the Allegheny county workhouse.

Brown was in a Weaver street house yesterday when city detectives called. They found a number salesman's book on him. He had sold 60 cents worth of numbers.

Services Tonight At Tifereth Israel

Regular Sabbath services will be conducted at 8:30 o'clock tonight in Tifereth Israel synagogue. Rabbi Pinchos Katz will speak on the subject, "A Portion of the Week." A number of announcements of importance will also be known at this time.

A dark sheer in black or navy is ideal for mid-season wear, and can be worn in the morning, afternoon or evening. It is always flattering and always ready.

Dr. Griffith Talks To Medical Society

Pittsburgher Evening Speaker; Next State Head Coming In March

Dr. John P. Griffith, Pittsburgh, addressed members of the Lawrence County Medical Society at their regular February meeting at The Castleton last night. He spoke on "The Acute Abdomen With Special Reference to Differential Diagnosis."

It was announced last night that Dr. Maxwell Licks, Erie, president-elect of the Medical Society of the State of Pennsylvania, will come to New Castle for the society's March meeting.

MRS. WICK ENTERTAINS

Devotions were led by Mrs. Mildred Lindsey and the business matters were supervised by the leader, Mrs. H. A. Anderson. Plans for a George Washington luncheon were talked over.

Refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. R. W. Bees and Mrs. William Fox.

Must Shift Funds To W. P. A. In April

Problem Of Providing For Jobless Is Considered At White House Conference

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7—A shifting of funds from other government agencies to the Works Progress Administration will be necessary about April 1, in order to take care of the nation's unemployed through to July 1, President Roosevelt said today

Mr Roosevelt declined to undertake an estimate of how much works relief would cost between now and July 1, but he stressed to his press conference that no particular increase was contemplated.

Administration officials charged with caring for the unemployed have known for some time that funds would have to be transferred to WPA about April 1, the president said. He pointed out that many projects being started now won't start putting people to work until after April.

The money to keep the work going will be shifted from all departments and agencies, the executive indicated, particularly the army and navy, which are doing quite a bit of work already in the nature of PWA and WPA projects.

FORTY HOUR DEVOTION AT N. C. HOSPITAL

Services Will Continue This Evening, Saturday And Close On Sunday Night

This morning at 6 o'clock, in the chapel of the New Castle hospital, the annual Forty Hour devotion opened.

Mass, celebrated by the Rev. Fr. Francis Stifter, chaplain, followed by the singing of the litany of All Saints, by the Rev. Fr. Sholtz, of Mahoningtown, marked the opening of the services. Tonight at 7 o'clock, reposition of the Blessed Sacrament will be conducted. Services will continue Saturday morning at 6 o'clock and on Saturday night at 7 o'clock. A number of visiting priests will assist in the solemn closing, Sunday evening at 7 o'clock.

The altar of the chapel has been beautifully arranged, with a profusion of flowers, by the sisters of the south side institution. The devotions are conducted in every Catholic church and chapel in the Pittsburgh diocese. Services have been arranged in such a manner so that the devotions are conducted every day of the year in a church or chapel.

Designate Salary Rate For Sealer

Council met in the city building today and adopted an ordinance placing the salary of the sealer of weights and inspector of measures at $75.00, a month, or $900.000, a year. Civic Theatre Guild Scores New Success

There could be any one of a dozen reasons why "The Queen's Husband" presented Thursday night by the New Castle Civic Theatre Guild in the Washington school, was tops for the Guild's efforts thus far. Offhand we would suggest direction, casting, and a sincere desire by every member of the Guild to put on a really good performance. Old fashioned hard work in rehearsal probably ought to be added to these, but whatever the reasons the result was near the mark the Guild has been shooting for since it was born.

First of all the play selected was the kind of theatrical meat that earnest amateurs can get their teeth into. Written by Robert E. Sherwood, the lines are smart and clean and entertaining. The plot concerns a mythical kingdom in the North Sea, ruled over by a royal "Casper Milquetoast" who is under the joint and several thumbs of his wife and the cabinet. He is hardly a king in the accepted version of kinging, but is merely the "Queen's Husband." However, down under the humility is a strain of humanity and justice that finally asserts itself, his daughter marries his secretary instead of a playboy prince, the peohave the yolk of tyranny removed and the king lapses back into his inferiority complex.

Long Live The King

The part of the queen's husband was taken by Robert Turner, and after his performance we can't help but wonder where the Guild has been hiding him. Never once was he guilty of over-acting, instead there was restraint there that brought out his climaxes with far more emphasis. A sort of combination of the technique of Charley Butterworth and Charley Ruggles. He was the star, but trailing him close for honors were Betty Glover, as the queen, Tom Cunningham as General Northrup, Charlotte Bartlett as the princess, and Amil Lelenko as the secretary to the king.

There is a tendency to give amateur productions undue credit at times. It is not the purpose of this review to give undue credit. It does want to stress the statement that the "Queen's Husband" was easily the most professional thing the Guild has done. With shows of such quality the Guild can go places.

The direction has been mentioned briefly. It deserves more, much more. In the capable hands of James R. Green, the cast responded to direction that was intelligent; and being intelligent was skilled. Direction can be judged by the attention to detail and Green overlooked little if any of the small things that make for success.

Witht he direction goes plenty of credit for the stage set, built by Fulton Magill. The set was so beautifully done and fitted so well that perhaps there were some who might have missed the excellence of it. It took days of tedious work and creative genius to complete, but Magill can feel that his work is appreciated. Costuming, staging and makeup were all good, in fact the entire show from footlights to backdrop clicked.

Entire act music was furnished by a trio from the New Castle Senior high school. In the trio were Jane Bryan, piano; Arvo Aho, violin; Vincent Evanoski, cello. Their music had its part in the success of the evening.

Cast

Phipps—Delbert Fletcher.

Controversy At Winter Olympics Is Settled Today

(International News Service)

GARMISCH-PARTENKIRCHEN, Feb. 7.—England's threat to withdraw from the hockey contests in the winter Olympics, because of a controversy over the status of two of its men, was ironed out satisfactorily today.

The players, Archer and Foster, were re-awarded back to England when Canada withdrew its claim to them, with the result that the British went out on the ice to meet Sweden in the second round—and peace reigned again.

Committee Favors CCC Continuance

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7. — The house Democratic steering committee has decided to back continuance of the CCC camps.

The committee also proposed today that present regulations, which limit enrollment to sons of relief families, be rescinded.

"The committee believes that it would be a mistake to abandon the camps now," said Chairman Sabath (D) of Illinois. "There are many projects still unfinished and we believe that they should be completed."

Sharon Man Is Suicide Victim

(International News Service)

SHARON, Pa., Feb. 7—Despondency over ill health was blamed today for the suicide of Walter Hickey, 54.

Hickey, according to authorities, drilled a hole through a door, attached a rope, stood on a stool and fired a bullet into his brain. The rope held him as he fell.

The body was discovered by a son and daughter as they returned from school

WATER MEN

By O. Anderson Stewart

THEY sat on the shady side of the Island Belle's tiny pilot house; the Island Belle —the smallest of the cargo boats running up and down the Louisiana bayous.

"Dad, why don't you quit?" Falia fumed as she retreated before a blaze of mid-afternoon sunshine. "Your eyes are weak, you're not feeling well, and you know you're too old to be running a boat, anyway."

Captain Myatt removed his pipe from his mouth and spat leisurely over the rail.

"That's a helluva note to be coming from you, Falia. I'm a water man. . . A water man never quits—and you know that."

Falia Myatt picked up a huge palmetto leaf and began fanning with it. Her smock-like print dress, sleeveless and held loosely in place only by a belt at the waist, outlined the curves of her slender body with every motion of her arm. Her legs were bare and a nondescript pair of sandals clung perilously to her feet. Yet there was something exquisite about her; something that jumped at you from her tanned, cameo face, from her searching eyes and from the way her hair hung in a riot of tangled black curls almost to her shoulders.

She said: "You're just stubborn, Dad. You never think of how much I hate this way of living. You wouldn't think of it when mother was living. She hated the swamps and you knew she hated them. But you kept her here. Heat and mosquitoes and loneliness and nothing to do but ride up and down the bayou and look at catfish. . ."

The old man sat very still.

"Your mother," he said at length, "came from a class 'way different from river folks, but I worshiped her. I kept her here because I thought she'd come to like it in time. . ."

"She never did. And people say I'm like her."

"I suppose it would make you happy if I stayed here and some day got married to Julien Rollins."

"What makes you say that?"

"Julien's your first officer and you're always talking about him He's just like you only he hasn't guts enough to be a real water man."

YOU'RE wrong," Captain Myatt said, "both ways. Julien's plenty good as a water man. He's got more guts than you think. But he's the last man I want you to marry."

Falia's eyes widened. "I thought you always wanted me to marry him," she said, and stood up and shook back her hair with a quick gesture. She reached out then and took a match from the old man's pocket, struck it and applied it to his pipe. "Well, I'm glad I was wrong. I can't stand Julien. Besides, there's a certain somebody named Nicholas I've been meaning to tell you about."

"Nicholas?"

"Nicholas Bruyerre. He's Creole and his family's one of the oldest and finest in New Orleans." She sat on the rail and swung one bare leg back and forth. "He's divine!"

Captain Myatt said: "Can he handle a boat?"

"Lord, no!" Falia said. "That's why we get along. He's got class."

"Like your mother." The old man puffed violently at his pipe. "You either have class or you don't . . . I don't."

Falia said impishly, "You don't need any, darling; Nicholas and I have enough for the family," and flicked his nose with her fan. She started to walk away. "You can stay here and melt. I'm going ashore where I can keep cool."

She turned the corner of the pilot house and walked smack into First Officer Julien Rollins. The young man "oofed", then rallied to his advantage. His arms circled her.

Falia frowned. And slowly disentangled herself. She said: "Dad and I were just saying things about you."

"Thanks," First Officer Rollins said. "I know what you said wasn't in my favor, but to show I don't hold a grudge, I'll pick you some wild roses if you'll climb that hill with me. . . Or if you'd rather go swimming, I'll hold your clothes."

Falia laughed. "You wouldn't have much to hold. But I'd rather pick flowers." As they crossed the narrow deck to the rheumatic gangplank she stopped suddenly. "You know one thing, Julien Rollins?" she said softly. "For a water man—and a bum one—you do have fairly decent thoughts now and then."

At the end of the gangway there was no wharf. Instead, a sun-baked landing place, like a giant carbuncle, rose from the very edge of the water. They skirted this and climbed to a high wooded hill beyond, where huge flags of hoary moss hung like pendulums from every tree. Falia flung herself upon the leaf-covered ground. Julien Rollins followed suit.

Falia said: "How would you like to marry me, Julien?"

"I'd love it," he said. "And you too."

She sighed softly. "I'm sorry . . . You never will."

"Why not?" He brought his face within inches of hers. His eyes sought hers.

She said, lowering her eyes: "You're part of the swamps, like moss and mosquitoes and mud and bad smells. I used to like them—and you too. But I've changed."

"You're still Falia. You'll never change. And you love me," he told her.

She frowned darkly. "Growing up with you doesn't make me love you."

"Maybe not," he admitted and caught her hand. "All the same, you do."

She sat upright and pushed back her hair and plucked sprigs of moss from her dress. "Have it your way, Julien. But I'm engaged to marry a man in New Orleans. His name's Nicholas and he's a real man. . ."

Julien sprang erect He glared. "Is he a water man?"

"No," she retorted. "That's why I'm engaged to him."

The young man dropped to the ground again. "It don't mean a thing then. You can't marry an outsider. You'll marry me, and like it."

"I'm not taking orders from you, Julien—" She stopped and flung out her hand. "I hate this damn' wilderness. I'm sick of living like a pig—all cooped up in a dirty little boat. . . Now, if you don't mind, let's pick those flowers."

"I'll pick 'em—all you can carry—when this is settled. Sit down, Falia!"

Something in his tone arrested her motion to leave.

Juien said: "Just now you were sure you didn't love me. I'll prove that you do."

"How?" She stood up defiantly.

High overhead a mocking bird ceased his mocking and cocked a jealous eye down at the human tableau. Then suddenly the little bird flitted to safety. The girl was running wildly.

"I hate you, Julien Rollins!" she flung back. "You're a brute of a water man. I'd rather die than marry you. . ."

The young man made a motion to pursue the running figure, then changed his mind abruptly.

TWILIGHT settled lazily, reluctantly, upon the Island Belle. The crew of the little boat—all three of them—sat down to the evening meal which Falia served in the tiny mess room just aft the pilot house. An unusual quietness hung over the boat. At the table only Captain Myatt seemed inclined to talk.

He addressed Julien. "Falia's just told me she's leaving us. She was crying."

Julien looked up quickly. "When did she say she was leaving?"

"One week from today," Captain Myatt said. "After the fruit trip. Getting married."

"And you gave your consent," Julien demanded, "without knowing the man?"

"Consent hell!" the old man exploded. "She didn't ask for any. Why don't you do something, Julien?"

"Your father says you're planning to leave the bayou in a week," he said.

"He told you right," she said evenly. "I'm leaving the day after the fruit trip."

"Because of what happened today—because I kissed you?"

"Frankly," she said slowly, "your clumsy efforts did annoy me somewhat. But I'd hardly call that bear hug of yours a kiss."

She laughed in his face as she stood up. Then she walked away. Julien made a quick step forward and caught her by the shoulders.

And then, competely but with more deliberation than on the former occasion, he took her in his arms. She tried to resist, tried to scratch his face, but did not avert her lips. And Julien kissed her as he had said.

He said grimly: "And I'm going to give you one every day for the next week. If you laugh again, I'll raise it to two. I'd love to, anyway and just hope I get the chance."

Falia gasped and backed away. She couldn't believe what she knew had happened. She gasped again and fled to the pilot house.

Six days came and six days passed, as days have a habit of doing. Julien kissed Falia at some time during each one of the six. But after the first day she submitted meekly and the game lost its zest. If Captain Myatt noticed anything strange in the behavior of either he chose to ignore it, and made no comment

At last came the day of the fruit trip. Falia's last voyage down the bayou before going to New Orleans to marry Nicholas to whom she had been writing daily. But there was no sun to gladden the occasion. Only clouds, slow moving gray clouds. And rain. Bayou rain. And it had been falling all night.

The fruit trip was the most important of the year. Small planters brought their harvest to the bayou and shipped it down together. Captain Myatt always carried it, and always posted sufficient funds to cover any and all losses en route. But even as he did so he realized that a mishap which would cause him to lose his precious cargo would ruin him. He left all loading to Julien and only came out of the pilot house to see that every basket and crate was covered with water-proof canvas.

"Hope it stops raining," he complained loudly. "Rain bothers my eyes."

Julien laughed. "Makes you see better, sir."

Captain Myatt continued as though he had not heard: "And I reckon as how the Bend will be damn' rough today." The Bend was a wide curve in the bayou, half way down to the Gulf. It was dangerous at all times, but in high water when markings were covered, to try the Bend was almost suicide.

"I know that," Captain Myatt admitted, "but you never know when the Bend'll spring a new trick on you." He turned to leave. "Tell Mullen to start the engines. It's time to get under way. And listen, mister, you look sharp for cypress knees. When you spot 'em, holler like hell. . ."

A FEW minutes later they went down the bayou. There was no shore line to be seen anywhere, nothing but a yellowish, whooshing expanse of tumbling waves. Muddy water on a rampage.

Hours passed. Wet hours, long hours. Then suddenly backwater surged by, going in every direction. The Bend was in sight. Julien paced back and forth across the tiny bow and wondered just what would happen if they should miss the channel by so much as a few feet. He wiped his brow—

Crash!

Julien had had no time to yell a warning. He had had none himself. The submerged tree trunk only came to the surface when it reared to smash into the Island Belle. The boat seemed to shudder and tremble. And the next instant Julien found himself crushed to the rough floor beneath an avalanche of boxes and crates that tumbled crazily in every direction.

He sucked in a great volume of air, and flinched as it seared through his empty lungs like liquid fire. He gasped and struggled to his feet. Blood ran down his neck from a gash on the side of his head. His right arm was numb.

At that moment the pilot house door was flung open. Falia stood in the opening—a white-faced Falia. "Julien!" she almost screamed, "dad can't see. I told him his eyes were weak. And now all this rain. . ."

Julien gasped and let in more white-hot air. "He wants me to take the wheel?"

"You'll have to," Falia said and really saw him then. "You're hurt!"

He grimaced. "Just a scratch; nothing to it." He walked unsteadily along the deck to the three steps. He climbed them and they entered the pilot house. The boat ploughed through the water unguided. Captain Myatt stood by the wheel and pawed at his eyes.

"That you, mister?" he exclaimed as they entered.

"Yes, sir," Julien said. "What happened?"

"I can't see a damn' thing. My eyes—"

"Good Lord!" This time Falia screamed. "Look, Julien!" She pointed.

Julien looked. A monstrous cypress knee had suddenly reared up directly in the path of the boat. Julien sprang forward, thrust the old man aside and spun the wheel hard over to port as Captain Myatt staggered back and collapsed upon his bunk in the corner.

"Julien," Captain Myatt snapped, "you're in command."

The Island Belle reared on a muddy wave for the crash. The gnarled cypress knee crouched and waited. The boat descended. And as it dove at its doom, Julien wrenched the wheel over another inch.

"Oh!" It was a prayer of thanksgiving. "Oh," Falia said again and closed her eyes. "You missed it."

Julien shook his throbbing head to dissipate the yellowish mist that fogged his brain. "S'posed to miss it," he said. "I'm the second best water man on the bayou. . . Scared much?"

"Nothing to be afraid of. Everything's—"

Engineer Mullen flung open the door and entered the pilot house. "Hell's broke loose down below!" he jabbered "That tree cracked two planks at the water line. Engine room's half full o' water. Maybe we better lower the boat—"

"Nothing doing," Julien broke in, "we gotta get this fruit down on time."

"You're crazy!" Mullen yelled. "This boat wallows like a pig and we're almost to the Bend. Ain't nobody ever took a leaky boat through there in high water."

"I'm in command," Julien snapped, "and I'm steering this boat through the Bend."

The silence that followed was eloquent. No one disturbed it.

FALIA'S eyes flashed. She wanted to be angry. She tried desperately to be, but could not. She wasn't afraid with Julien and somehow she wasn't anxious to leave the bayou right then. His words were harsh, but caressing. They did something to her. His kisses had been like that—harsh and sweet and wonderful. . .

Julien said to Mullen: "Hustle back down below. Stuff waste in that leak. Stuff anything—yourself if you want to, but check that water."

The Island Belle plunged into the Bend.

Julien said: "The bayou'll get you if you're afraid. It'll never get me. I'm not afraid and I love it. And so do you. You been trying to fool yourself. But you can't do it. This is your life."

Falia said nothing. But then she couldn't right then.

"Stand over here by me," Julien commanded abruptly. "I got something to tell you."

Falia obeyed. She couldn't seem to help it.

Julien barely missed a tree top. He grinned. "I'm buying me a boat A boat all my own. What d'you think o' that?"

She said: "I—I think it's swell."

"I think it's swell, too," he said boyishly. "A boat all my own and a wife all my own. You'll be the wife, Falia."

She gasped. The nerve of the man! As if what she might want to say didn't matter at all. Well, just for that, she'd show him—she'd show him a thing or two, all right. . .

"Darling."

Julien said it suddenly and awkwardly and didn't turn his head as he said it.

And Falia was thankful he didn't. She gulped and closed her eyes and trembled and was happier than she had ever been before. Nicholas had called her darling; he called her that very often. But this was different.

AFTER that they said nothing. But then they didn't need to. And after a while the water became calm and the waves were only tail-end ripples and the boat passed out of the Bend.

"I promised you something every day for a week," Julien said. "This is the last day of the week, which means there's one more kiss due you. And since I can't let go this wheel you'll have to kiss me."

"You don't by any chance," she said, "expect to boss me, do you, Julien?"

"I got to do it," he told her. "A water man bosses everything he touches. . ."

So she kissed him. And though there was only one due, she kissed him thrice.

And then it was that Captain Myatt sat up on his bunk. He rose slowly to his feet.

"I'll take the wheel, mister," he said, and smiled.

His daughter stepped back in amazement.

"But Dad," she exclaimed, "can you see well enough to steer?"

"Hell yes. Sure. I could see all the time."

"But you said—"

He grinned at her. "I know well enough what I said. And I'm old enough to lie if I want to."

He pushed them from the pilot house and closed the door, but his voice boomed after them. "Make her wash your face, Julien. It's in a helluva fix."

12-Minute Divorce Record Wins Approval Of Judges

(International News Service)

SAN FRANCISCO—Fast divorces today had been approved by San Francisco Superior judges, following the all time speed record set by Presiding Judge Elmer Robinson, who granted an interlocutory decree twelve minutes after the action had been filed.

"I heartily agree with Judge Robinson that the courts should be speeded up" said Judge John J. Van Nostrand.

He said that in cases where it was apparent the courts could do nothing to bring about a reconciliation it is to the best public interests to assist the divorce with all possible expediency.

Judge I. L. Harris, who agreed with Judge Robinson, as to the necessity of speeding up the courts held that no divorce should be granted unless the court had satisfied itself there was no chance of a reconciliation.

"Marriage is one of the few necessary institutions on which the state is founded," he said. "We should set aside the marriage contract with caution. I believe with Judge Robinson, however, that there is nothing to be gained in long drawn out and bitter divorce trials."

Presiding Judge Robinson said he had adopted the policy of speedy divorce after "long consideration."

"If both sides are adequately represented I believe it is in the interest of economy and the public policy to grant—or refuse—the divorce forthwith.

"I do not believe in divorce, but as long as our laws permit them there is nothing to be gained by making the obtaining of them a painful, tedious and expensive process."

Happiness In Marriage May Soon Be Foretold

(International News Service)

HARTFORD, Conn., Feb. 7. — Would your life be happy if your sweetheart became your bride? Or would your marriage with the man of your dreams be a success?

Dr. Hornell N. Hart, professor of sociology, at Hartford Seminary Foundation reports that within a few years predictions on the future happiness of any given couple will made much like weather forecasts today.

It's based on statistics of past marriages.

For instance, it was found that couples who wanted to have children were happier than those who did not; that the probability for married couples to be happy was slight if the boy and girl married before they were 21; that it was better for the husband to be older.

Applying these results, obtained after long research to persons contemplating marriage, it should be possible to forecast their happiness when married, according to Dr. Hart.

The research was conducted by Ernest W. Burgess and Leonard S. Cottrell, sociologist of University of Chicago and Cornell respectively. Each person told what qualities in the other were disagreeable to him or her, described religious feelings, attitude toward parents-in-laws, toward having children and many others. A similar research is being conducted by Professor and Mrs. E. Lowell Kelly, of Connecticut State College.

"In a few years," said Dr. Hart, "it will be possible to predict the effectively as we now predict the weather, a couple's chance for success in marriage.

"Fantastic? Not at all. Insurance actuaries predict one's life expectancy. We can just as readily make predictions about marriage happiness."

Voltage Expert Debunks Popular Ideas Of Lightning

Says That It Does Strike More Than One Time Same Place

(International News Service)

DENVER, Feb. 7. — A bit of information tending to "debunk" one of the oldest and most popular beliefs was contributed by Karl B. McEachron, high voltage experimenter, during a visit to Denver.

Lightning, he said, does strike more than one in the same place. In fact, it sometimes hits the same spot as many as 40 times. It all happens so fast, though, that to man it appears as one stroke, he asserted in explaining the "multiple stroke."

McEachron gave several scientifically-sound hints on how to avoid being struck by lightning bolts.

He listed the following "dont's" to remember during an electrical storm:

Don't sit in the bath tub.

Don't use the telephone if you live in the country because lightning arresting wires are not under ground as they are in most large cities.

Pressure, McEachron explained, is responsible for much of the damage that accompanies a lightning stroke. When a tree is struck, he said, pressure is so great that something similar to an explosion occurs.

Effective Way To Break A Habit

(International News Service)

PORTLAND, Ore.—State policeman George M. Rogers, is rapidly achieving a reputation for writing "prescriptions" to cure bull elk of the barn-entering habit.

When appealed to recently by an Enterprise, Ore. family, who complained that three bull elk had broken into their barn on several occasions in search of feed, Rogers gave them the following prescription, with the added information that he had tried it and it "worked like a charm."

"Load a shotgun with shells of fine shot, make frequent application of the remedy to the stern end of said elk, and it'll be all over pronto," Rogers wrote.

How To Kill Rats; Give Them Dope

(International News Service)

ADELAIDE, South Australia.—The Federal Government hopes to be able to exterminate rats in Australia by making them dope fiends.

So impressed are Commonwealth scientists with a novel idea of an Adelaide Board of Health officer, L. W. Lawlor, that the Government has made him a grant to establish an anti-rat experimental station in South Australia.

Rats are partial to poppies, Mr. Lawlor has discovered. He believes that the crude drugs the flowers contain are the attraction.

Coast To Vie With South In Frog Olympics

To Demonstrate The Jumping Abilities Of Bull Frogs At Big Meet

(International News Service)

SARASOTA, Fla.—One of the many moot questions between Floridians and Californians will be settled on February 21 when the International Frog-lympics will be held here.

The question of the respective jumping abilities of Florida and California bullfrogs is expected to be settled once and for all, for the "entry list" includes many famed jumpers.

An invitation sent to Angel's Camp, Calaveras County, California, locale of Mark Twain's famous masterpiece, "The Jumping Frog of Calaveras County," is expected to be accepted.

Decries Old Music Of Modern Bands

(International News Service)

BOSTON, Feb. 7. — "Most bands are playing the same music they played 40 years ago, and are still using the same terrible arrangements."

Edwin Franko Goldman, "King of Bandmasters," deplored the decline of bands before the two-day Bandmasters' Clinic sponsored by Boston University and the New England Festival Association.

Speaking of school bands, Goldman said Eastern schools have fallen far behind Western schools. He pointed out that interest in bands was stimulated in the West by giving players individual instruction and also giving them academic credit for playing.

TRAILS STOLEN CAR TO JUNKYARD

(International News Service)

OLD WASHINGTON, O., Feb. 7.—Grimly and implacebly E. C. Dugan has trailed his stolen model "T" Ford since 1925 only to find it at last in a junk yard in Franklin, Pa.

Sparing no effort, Dugan dogged officials who traced the car to Oil City, Pa., and from there to Franklin. At Oil City it was learned that the owner, who had bought the car at a police sale had finally consigned it to the junk dealer. Details of its career as the high powered motor of a desperate bandit are lacking, the thief, the constable, who arrested him, and the justice of the peace who auctioned off the Ford are dead, but Dugan has the satisfaction of knowing at long last something of the model T's checkered career. Why he insisted upon tracing it for 10 years has not been explained.

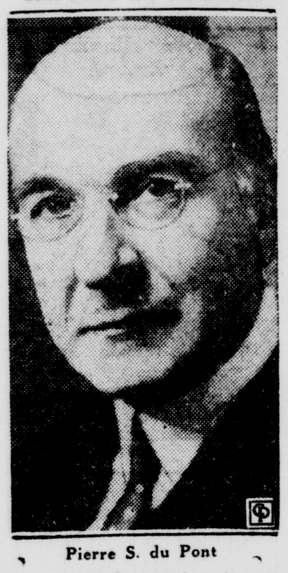
Income 31 Million



Pierre S. du Pont

Pierre S. du Pont had an income of approximately $31,490,000 in 1929, according to estimates based on a speech in his defense in the senate by Senator Daniel O. Hastings, Republican, of Delaware, du Pont's home state. Senator Hastings said du Pont paid income tax of $4,563,988 in 1929 after deducting $982,473 for charity.

WAGE FIGHT OVER NEUTRALITY BILL

Pending neutrality legislation in congress has split the senate wide open with the insurgents led by Senator Hiram Johnson (R.) Cal., opposing the measure sponsored by the administration. Senator Johnson's attack was brought into the open with publication of the stinging denunciation of the legislation by John Bassett Moore, world authority on international law, who pictured the administration bill as a complete dictatorship and as a "curious blend of homicidal and suicidal mania". Senator Key Pittman, (D.) Nevada, chairman of the senate foreign relations committee, hoped to win his committee's approval of the measure, despite the fact that in the senate committee there is a powerful bloc opposed to the administration's permanent neutrality proposal. This group includes Senator William E. Borah, (R.) of Idaho and Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg, (R.), Michigan, two Republican presidential possibilities.

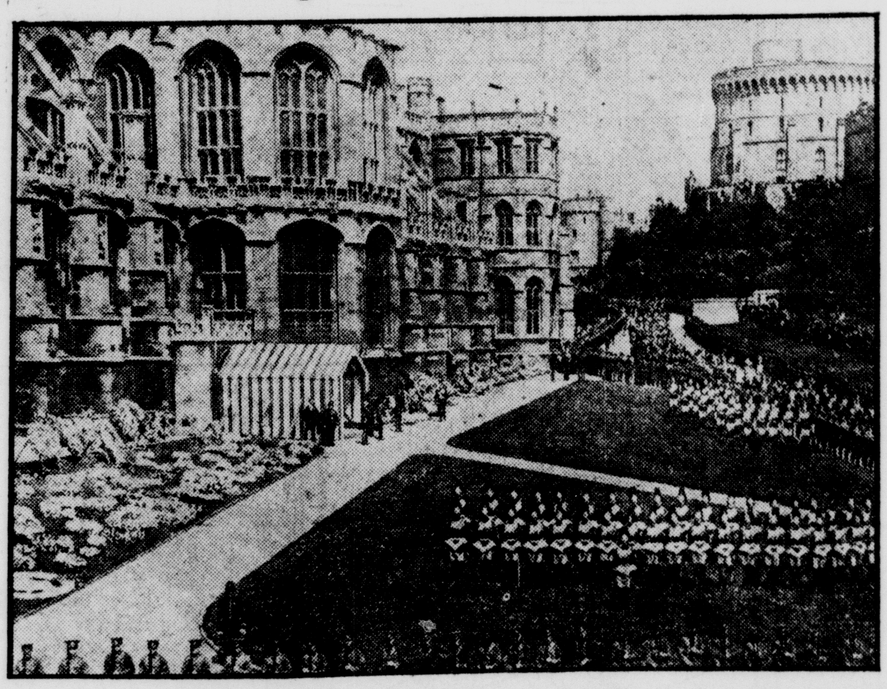
Where George V Joins Ancestors at Rest



The shadowy confines of Albert Memorial Chapel at Windsor, England, will hold the earthly remains of Britain's mourned ruler, George V. He will lie next to his father, King Edward VII, whose funeral cortege is shown winding through the castle grounds to the chapel built by Henry III seven hundred years ago.

Deficiency Bill Approved Today

Bill Carries $296,000,000 For Payment Of Benefits To Farmers

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—The first deficiency bill carrying $296,000,000 to permit payment of AAA benefits to farmers under present contracts and "moral" agreements, was sent to the White House today after the House approved the conference report on the bill.

Under its terms, the AAA can immediately begin making benefit payments on contracts existing before Jan. 6, 1936, when the Supreme Court scuttled the AAA. Of this total $236,000,000 is for payment of contracts. The remainder is to carry out moral obligations to wheat producers and others whose contracts were only partly completed.

The bill carries $11,578,375 for employment of personnel and other administrative expense incurred in payment of the soldiers bonus.

Funds are provided to meet old-age pension payments to the states until June 30, 1936, and to meet other deficiencies in the social security program.

The vogue of mixing wine or water, lemon juice, sugar, spice and water was brought to England from India and it seems to be named from the Hindu word "punch" meaping five, referring to the usual number of ingredients.

DON'T WANT DOGS TO GO ROUND AND ROUND

(International News Service)

Mrs. Mull was granted a divorce from her husband in the West Chester court here when she testified that her husband "would swing my dogs around by their tails".

Mrs. Mull said she owned 22 dogs.

Try rubbing the cords of the windows that stick with soap and then running them up and down a few times. It works wonders.

STAMP NEWS FROM EVERYWHERE

BY JOHNRAE EARL, SEC. NEW CASTLE STAMP CLUB.

By JOHNRAE EARL, Sec'y.
New Castle Stamp Club

As you already know the stamp collecting world is looking forward with anticipation to the two new stamps which will make their appearance at postoffices about the county in a very short time. The first, a new bi-color sixteen cent special delivery-airmail stamp is scheduled to make its appearance next Monday, February 10.

Texas will be the honored one the other stamp which will appear for the first time on March 2. This is being issued to commemorate the Texas centennial which is being observed this year by the people of that state.

Both of these stamps will be of the large variety similar in size and shape to the regular special delivery stamp . Stampers are looking forward to seeing something very unusual and different in this new sixteen cent stamp.

Due largely to the fact that the hobby of stamp collecting is very rapidly growing and is adding hundreds of new members each day, it would be wise for me to give a few pointers in this column in regard to starting a stamp collection.

How To Start A Stamp Collection

A few lucky people from time to time, have the good fortune of being able to start their collections with a treasure hunt, by searching for stamps among old letters or correspondence stowed away in the attics or cellars of their homes. Other people have friends who work in banks and business houses, and who save for them the stamps on incoming mail. For the average person, however, there are two principal ways of acquiring stamps: first, by purchasing from a dealer; and second, by exchanging duplicates with collector-friends.

When you come to buy stamps, remember that the best and least expensive beginning for your collection is to purchase what dealers call a general variety packet. They range in size from one hundred to several thousand varieties.

How To Enjoy Duplicates

A single good copy of a stamp is quite enough for the average collector; but collectors in various ways always acquire several copies, or duplicates, of some of their stamps. To the beginner what to do with these duplicates sometimes looks like a difficult problem.

But far from being a problem, duplicates to most collectors are an almost unlimited source of pleasure. Other collectors have duplicates, too, and nothing is more fun than to get together with your friends and swap duplicates. In this way each collector can dispose of his extra copies and acquire new stamps without cost.

Stamp trading is one of the most enjoyable of pastimes, so much so that it makes an excellent common interest for the formation of a stamp club.

How To Use Stamp Hinges

Many good stamps have been ruined because uninformed collectors have stuck them down permanently with glue or paste. Let it be said here, once and for all, that the only proper way to mount stamps in an album is with the little gummed slips of transparent paper that are called hinges. Hinges not only enable you to insert and remove stamps from your album with ease and efficiency, but also prevent to the stamps and the album.

One picture is worth a thousand words in explaining the use of stamp hinges, so we refer you to the diagram and the following notes.

1. Bend back the top third of the hinge and lightly moisten the gum at the end of it as indicated by the shaded area in the drawing.

2. Attach the hinge to the top of the stamp, with the crease of the hinge protruding just above the perforations.

3. Moisten the lower third of the hinge as indicated by the shaded area.

5. The stamp has now been pressed into place. Note that it is really hinged and may be turned up and over for inspection. Many collectors make lightly penciled notations beneath their stamps, to which they turn for ready reference.

The great advantage of using hinges is that, when the hinges are dry they may be easily peeled off stamps and album pages without damage to either. But never try to remove a hinge while it is still wet. Unless you allow plenty of time for drying (about half an hour) the removal of a hinge may result in a torn stamp of a hole in your album page.

Next week I will go a little further into the details regarding the hobby of stamp collecting and will at this time relate how to guage perforations, and how to watermark your stamps and determine which variety it is, and also how to distinguish duplicates which really are not duplicates, but have very slight, almost unnoticable variations.

Potato Growers Meet Next Week

Annual Session Will Take Place. In Westfield Church, February 12

DENNISON TO BE SPEAKER

Announcement was made today by President R. D .Walter, of the annual meeting of the Lawrence County Potato Growers Association, which will take place on Wednesday, February 12, in Westfield Grange hall.

Sessions will take place morning and afternoon, opening at 10:30, with the business session. There will be a dinner at noon, followed by an afternoon program, when the principal speaker will be L. T. Dennison, of the Agricultural Extension Department of Penn State College. His topic will be "Potato Diseases and Their Control."

The annual election of directors and officers will take place at the morning business session, when seven directors will be elected.

News Briefs From City Hall

Police department received reports last night that several streets were slippery. The reports were relayed to the department of streets.

Autoists reported sledridders were in danger of injury on Lyndal St. and Galbreath avenue last night.

SPARE TIRE COMES LOOSE FROM AUTO

Several sledriders attempted last night to hitch their sleds to the spare tire of an automobile at Hillcrest and Delaware avenues. The tire came loose and according to the report made to police by the owner of the car the boys took the tire home.

Turning Inventor, Local Youth Finds 'Accuratio' In Demand At Colleges

Office boy to inventor—that is the story of Oliver Theophilus, New Castle student at Muskingum college, New Concord, O., who expects to become a minister.

Mr. Theophilus, a junior, whose home is at 1012 Beckford street, has been working his way through college in the office of the dean. In this capacity it is his duty to average grades—and that's a long, tedious process even if you have calculating machines. He set about industriously to revolutionize the whole procedure and as a result has produced the "Accuratio", an apparatus that correctly figures the averages for you. On turn of a wheel and your ratio is calculated. Besides being accurate and simple, the "Accuratio" saves time. Grade point ratios can now be figured in one-fourth to one-half less time than before.

The New Castle youth has his own factory—in his college room—and is now manufacturing his product for several of the larger colleges and universities of the state. He anticipates production on a larger scale once he has his patent.

OLIVER THEOPHILUS

Besides his inventive work, Theophilus clerks in the dean's office 24 hours a week and takes 13 hours of courses. He is majoring in speech.

Local Girl Scouts Joining Observance

"International Month" Being Observed Here And By 14,000 Troops

February is "International month" in Girl Scoutdom and will be observed in 33 countries.

The 21 troops in New Castle will be having special programs of one kind or another. One troop is qualifying for the "World Knowledge" badge and will find especially interesting things to do. Folk dancing from the various countries will be in full swing.

Of the 14,000 troops registered now at national headquarters, New York, nine are on foreign soil. Three of these troops are abroad in China, where Baraba Lucile Hoose of Pagoda troop, Peiping, was recently invested as the first Golden Eaglet in that country on the recommendation of Mrs. Nelson T. Johnson, wife of the American ambassador. One Girl Scout troop is in Uganda, Africa, and includes the daughters of the local potentate, Dowdi Chwa, and there is one each in Aruba, Dutch West Indies; St. Thomas, Virgin Islands; Haiti, India and Persia.

The United States, through Mrs. J. Storrow of Boston, founded the international home at Adelboden, Switzerland, to which a fund, known as the Juliette Low Memorial, sends American and other girls each summer for a holiday. World friendship through closer contact and mutual understanding is a cornerstone of the Girl Scout building.

Inform Police Of Three Accidents

Several automobile accidents were reported by operators of the cars to city police yesterday. However, no persons were hurt. The accidents, according to the reports, were as follows:

Auto of William I. Miller, Edgewood avenue, and a machine with Pennsylvania license 17P14 were in a collision in Mahoning avenue at 6:40 a. m.

Jack Griffiths, East street, reported his auto and a truck of the New Castle Grocery company were in an accident in Sycamore way when his car skidded. The time of the accident was not stated.

E. R. Bacon, R. D. 2, reported his car was being driven in North Mercer street, skidded and hit a car owned by a Mr. Love which was parked.

Dr. Lowry Will Extend Courses

Dr. Ellsworth Lowry, of the Extension Department of Penn State, who has been conducting a class for school teachers at the North Street school building in this city, for some months past, is preparing to open two classes for the remainder of the school year, he announces. On Monday afternoon and evening each week he will present courses on, "Present Trends in American Education," and "Main Currents of American Literature." The new course will not be limited to school teachers he announces.

SLEDRIDER INJURED WHEN SLED HITS CAR

Phillip Evans, 12, received bruises about his head and a leg at 7 p. m. yesterday when the sled on which he was riding crashed into the auto driven by John L. Burns, 237 West Moody avenue. The accident occurred at East Washington and Beckford streets. Burns took the boy to the nearby office of a physician. Evans was not injured seriously.

National Defense Will Be Stressed

Appeal Is Made For Army And Navy During Defense Week

SECRETARY DERN ENDORSES PLAN

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—An appeal to the people to pay heed to the needs of the army and navy during national defense week, Feb. 12th to 22nd, was made by Secretary of War Dern in a letter to the reserve officers' association, in charge of the observance.

Endorsing the plans to conduct a national program of education in the interest of adequate national defense during the week, Dern said:

"National defense week serves annually to remind our citizens that one of the primary purposes of the formation of our federal government was to provide for the common defense. A basic duty of every citizen is to defend his country.

"The reserve officers' association of the United States is rendering a splendid public service in sponsoring national defense week. I hope that during national defense week of 1936 every American citizen will inform himself of the military and naval needs of our country and of the progress being made to meet those requirements."

Chief of Staff General Malin Craig also sent a letter to the association calling attention to the need for an adequate national defense.

"Past history and history now in the making convincingly demonstrate the fate of nations which do not adequately prepare themselves to preserve their existence," he said.

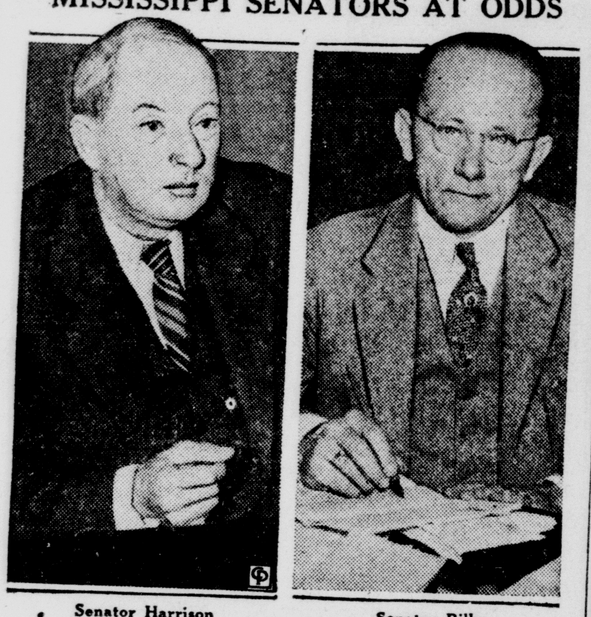
MISSISSIPPI SENATORS AT ODDS



Senator Harrison — Senator Bilbo

A significant political battle between Mississippi's two Democratic senators was opened when Senator Theodore G. Bilbo launched a bitter attack against appointment by President Roosevelt of Judge Edwin R. Holmes as a judge of the fifth circuit court of appeals. Bilbo told a senate judiciary subcommittee that Holmes, sponsored by Senator Pat Harrison and appointed by President Roosevelt, was not fit for the job. Harrison will be up for re-election to the senate this year.

On Court House Hill

A court house official called attention this morning to the fact that there are five members of the local bar who are entitled to be addressed as "Judge." They are Judges James A. Chambers and W. Walther Braham, present presiding officers, formed Judges R. L. Hildebrand, J. Norman Martin and Judge E. M. Underwood, who looks after the bankruptcy cases in this county.

The Y. M. C. A. of the Pittsburgh and Lake Erie Railroad, Campbell, Ohio, has placed on record at the register and recorder's office, a plot of their camp grounds at Elliott's mills, Lawrence county. The plot contains 39 acres, and is located at the bridge over the Slippery Rock creek, just south of the old Elliott mill site. There was a controversy over the property lines in the courts here, and considerable trouble was experienced in digging up old records. The plot which has been recorded, designates the boundaries of the Y. M. C. A. property as fixed by the order of court.

Letters of administration in the estate of the late John F. Woods, of this city, have been granted to Attorney J. Wilbur Baer. Other letters granted are as follows: Estate of Erastus A. Hunter, late of Hickory township, to Lawrence H. Miller; estate of William S. Allen, late of this city to Stewart Allen; estate of William J. Stevenson, late of North Beaver township to Anna E. Stevenson; estate of Elizabeth Jane Maxwell, late of this city, to Francts H. Maxwell; estate of Sadie Reeder, late of South New Castle Boro, to Victor Driver.

Examination of 1936 budget estimates which have been submitted to county commissioners by Controller Frank W. Hill, would indicate that it may be necessary for the commissioners to raise the county tax millage this year. Last year there was a reduction of one mill with the result that the income did not meet expenses. It is practically certain that the commissioners will have to restore this mill, and whether or not it will be necessary to add another mill will depend upon what savings the commissioners may be able to make.

There are certain charges that are fixed expenses and others that vary considerably, especially in the welfare and court departments. From present indications it does not look as though the relief load is going to be lightened very much this year. Reports of the state welfare work in which a reduction is shown in the relief load, do not present a true picture of the situation.

Many of those who are being taken off the state rolls are merely being shifted to the county rolls, under the plea that they are unemployable. The county rolls, therefore have not been decreasing, but have been steadily increasing. The commissioners are determined to save wherever possible. One of the savings that has already been made is in the matter of mileage allowed county officials and employes in the operation of their automobiles.

Registering assessors in boroughs and townships will sit at the polling places in the county on February 26th, to register those who are not on the registration books, and to make any changes in the registration that the elector wishes. This does not apply to the city which is under the permanent registration law. Changes may be made in the city at any time by going to the registration bureau at the court house. There have been a lot of changes made recently in the city, but it is not believed that there will be so many in the country districts. Registering assessors in boroughs and townships are expected to return their books to the county commissioners office on February 27th.

Do This to Ease Sore Throat Instantly

Relieve Soreness in Three Minutes This Easy Way

1. The moment you feel a throat irritation, crush and stir 3 BAYER ASPIRIN Tablets in ⅓ glass of water. Gargle twice. Do not rinse mouth.

2. If you have a cold, take 2 BAYER ASPIRIN Tablets and drink a full glass of water. Repeat, if necessary, according to directions in package.

If you want the most astonishing and quickest relief from sore throat, you have ever experienced, just do this:

That's all! Relief will come almost instantly. For the Bayer Aspirin will act like a local anesthetic to ease throat pains. And, at the same time, will soothe and quiet irritation.

People by the tens of thousands are combating sore throat this way. Doctors endorse it. And scientists acclaim it as perhaps the most effective gargle yet discovered—for it provides a medication, and it takes medicine to combat a sore throat.

If you have a cold with your sore throat — take two Bayer Aspirin tablets with a full glass of water at the same time you gargle. When you buy, though, be sure to get real BAYER ASPIRIN TABLETS. They dissolve fast and work fast.

Why BAYER Aspirin Works So Fast

Drop a Bayer Aspirin tablet into a glass of water.

By the time it hits the bottom of the glass it is disintegrating.

IN 2 SECONDS BY STOP WATCH

What happens in these glasses happens in your stomach — Genuine BAYER Aspirin tablets start "taking hold" of pain a few minutes after taking.

AROUND CITY HALL

Sergeant James Steiner of the police department fell several days ago and sprained an ankle.

It is reported that within the near future the making of the triennial tax assessment for the next three years will get under way.

Among the duties of the city council will be that of naming a successor to the late Matthew Gunton, city planner.

Proprietors of pool and billiard parlors will meet with the mayor at three p. m. next Wednesday.

After the city buys two new police cars they will turn their attention to considering bids for two new street department trucks.

Director of streets B. F. Butler declares that tenants and property owners are responsible if pedestrians are injured on ice covered sidewalks.

Years ago three sanitary policemen were employed by the city. The work now is done by one man.

Fire Chief James E. Thomas showed he was on the job when he had every fire water hydrant tested and put in condition for service.

New Castle At Ellwood Tonight

Section Three Rivals Will Battle At Ellwood City High Floor

BEAVER FALLS AT ALIQUIPPA

New Castle high school "Red Hurricane" basketball team will go to Ellwood City tonight for a section three battle with the fast Ellwood City high quintet. The game will be played at the Ellwood City high gym. The reserves of the two schools will play the preliminary game at 7 o'clock.

At New Castle recently the "Red Hurricanes" defeated the Ellwoodians 25 to 19, and the Schillmen have revenge in mind tonight. Ellwood City will be minus the services of Kraynack and Luxemberg. New Castle will have Toscano and Cabas missing from the team that met Ellwood earlier in the season.

If New Castle high is to continue in the sectional race for the honors this year they must win tonight. Another defeat will put the New Castle team out of the running for good.

League Leaders Clash.

The feature game of the section three card tonight will be played at Aliquippa high gym where Beaver Falls will be called upon to defend its league lead against the team that holds to second place. This should be a lively scrap from start to finish with the odds favoring the big tall Aliquippians. Beaver Falls defeated Aliquippa at Beaver Falls earlier in the year, and hope to turn the trick again tonight. Aliquippa has a better team in the second half of the race than they did in the first half.

Butler At Ambridge.

The other sectional battle for tonight will find the Butler high team at Ambridge for a return engagement. The "Bridgers" upset Butler over at Butler recently and the Heinzermen want revenge. This should be a fine game in the valley. Butler has a muchly improved team the second half. Frannie Webster is the leading scorer in the league and plays forward for Butler.

Coast Polo Team Wins First Match

(International News Service)

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 7—Featuring the play of Eric Pedley, newly chosen member of the American team which will invade Great Britain this summer, the Midwick California polo team today won the first game of its international series with a British team here.

The next game will be played Sunday.

The Britishers, headed by the hard-hitting Eric Tyrell Martin, took an early lead in the game yesterday, but soon were swamped by the canny shifting from defense to attack which features Pedley's play.

Mrs. Maureen Orcutt Crews, Miama, will pair off with Marion Miley, Lexington, Ky. in the other semi-final match. Mrs. Hill beat Mrs. Marion Turpie Lake, Plandone, L. I. 4 and 3, yesterday.

The fate of Clarence W. Spears, as Wisconsin coach sustained another blow today when he was accused at Madison, Wis., of ordering novocaine for an injured player and liquor for exhausted ones, even before repeal. William Fallon, trainer for the Wisconsin teams, testified before a regent's investigation committee that he was ordered to give a pain-killing narcotic, novacaine, to George Deanovich, 10 minutes before the game with Iowa in 1934. Coffee "spiked" with liquor was given the team between halves of the Minnesota game in 1932 and again in 1935 at Spear's direction, Fallon testified. Fallon brought an attorney to the hearing to try and save him from making a public declaration. The regents insisted on a complete revelation.

His days as an athete ended, Bruce Caldwell has launched a law career as a partner in the legal firm of Mayor John J. Spellacy, at Hartford. He cut a niche in Yale's football hall of fame, then played baseball in the Eastern league. He led the batters for two years with averages of .381 and .373. He played with New Haven, Albany and Hartford and received trials with Cleveland and Brooklyn. However, his throwing and fielding ability was not so warm and his baseball career ended when he returned to Yale, entered the law school and graduated last June. He weighs 215 now and his chief concern is to keep down his averdupois. He rates Ken Strong of West Haven, one-time New York U player immortal, as the best all-around grid player he ever saw in action.

Bethany Loses To Westminster

Titans Score 54-30 Victory In Game At New Wilmington Last Night

RESERVES PLAY MOST OF CONTEST

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Feb. 7.—Coach John Lawther sent his reserves into the game against Bethany College, as the Titans took the second game of the season from the Bisons by a score of 54-30, in the Westminster gym last night.

With the score of 22-5 after ten minutes of play, Coach Lawther sent in his reserves who scored 11 points while the Bethany varsity was finding the basket for 9 points.

The Titans sank four baskets and a free throw for a 9-0 score before the Bisons found the basket for two goals to make the score 9-4. Then the Titans started a scoring rampage that netted them 12 points while the Bisons were getting 1.

Bennett left the game with only 4 points and weakened his 15 point average badly. John Krivosh, Titan varsity guard, stayed in the game long enough to steady the reserves, and then joined the first-string five on the bench.

Andy Demo, Johnstown forward who subbed for Backus earlier in the year and who exhibited an early season tendency to score easily, found his old form and came through with 12 points including five field goals. "Susie" Gilliland, New Wilmington boy, and Mike Pawk, former Butler independent star, played well for the reserves.

Although Thursday night's game was easy going for the Titans, a more formidable foe will be faced Saturday when the Tartan courtmen from Carnegie Tech journey to New Wilmington for a return game with Coach Lawther's proteges.

Lawther was glad to take his varsity out of the game early to give them a rest before what will probably be the hardest game of the season with Tech.

Never did the Bisons penetrate the zone-defense of the varsity, registering only 2 field goals while the first-stringers remained in the game. While Bethany was scoring 8 field goals for the entire game, the Titans were collecting 23. Half of the Bethany scoring came through free-throws.

The score:

Titans To Meet Tech Saturday

Premier Contest Of Season At New Wilmington Is Forecast

TECH WINNER IN PITTSBURGH, CLASH

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Feb. 7.—With the modern Tech-Westminster basketball series record standing at 4 for Westminster and 1 for the Tartans, the Tech courtmen journey to New Wilmington for the second game of the 1936 series Saturday night.

Last year's game went to the Titans by a 33-30 score, the first game between the two schools since 1930 when the Tartans went down before the U. P.'s 29-20. In 1929, two games were played, both going to the Titan fives by 47-28 and 40-21 scores.

The first game of the 1936 season lost by the Titans went to Tech by a 37-30 score, when Fitz-Wilson in the closing minutes of the game, scored 3 baskets in as many minutes to put the Tartan courtmen out with a safe lead.

This season's record for the Titans stands at 12 won and 4 lost. Two Westminster defeats came in the East at the hands of St. Johns and John Marshall; and two more on Pittsburgh floors, by Tech and Pitt.

"Wes" Bennett whose four-year record for scoring has averaged 15 points per game has suffered a minor slump recently and in two games against weaker opponents, Youngstown College and Akron Goodyear, the tall forward scored only 12 and 13 points. Bennett scored 11 points against Tech in the early season game, and is about due for a high-score again.

Bennett's scoring average is higher than any two team-mates combined. Jack Willits, Bennett's running mate, has an average of 7 points for each game played; Krivosh 5; Demo and Hunneke 4 each.

Coach Lawther's starting lineup will probably throw Hunneke and Krivosh into the forward positions; Backus at center; and Bennett and Willits at guards.

PULASKI JUNIORS WIN GAME

The K. Pulaski Juniors handed the George Washington Sophomore Hi-Y team a 16 to 12 defeat at the "Y" Thursday night in an Older Boys league battle. The stars of the game were Smiolowski, Campbell and Woolcock.

Feature Game At Bessemer

Mt. Jackson High Will Try To Stop Fast Bessemer Quintet

SECTION RIVALS TANGLE TONIGHT

It's another Mt. Jackson-Bessemer battle tonight, if you please, and the party is going to be over at the Bessemer high school. The preliminary girls' game will start at 7.30 o'clock. The Bessemer high gym will no doubt be packed to the very rafters.

There is a lot of rivalry in this battle tonight that brings the two section 22 rivals into action. Bessemer recently defeated the Mt. Jacksons at Mt. Jackson by a score of 18 to 13 and there is bound to be a lively scrap tonight with the Spearmen of Mt. Jackson pepped up to avenge this setback.

Lots Of Color.

Bessemer high has been going along at a merry clip and hopes to ride roughshod over the Mt. Jacksons tonight. Coach J. K. Fredericks will have his strongest possible lineup available. Young and Marshall will handle the forwards with Olson at center and Poushey and Calderaro at the guards. Grimes will no doubt see plenty of service.

Mt. Jackson will have McConnell and Macaluso at the forwards, with Snyder at center and Keely and Gleghorn at the guards.

There is always a lot of color to a Bessemer-Mt. Jackson high game and the battle about to be unfolded tonight will be one of the very best of the season. Both teams still have a chance to come through in the sectional championship race.

New beach capes and coats made of new transparent silk voile that transmit the health rays of the sun without sunburning, are ideal garments for by-the-sea wear.

Shenango Battles Wampum High Five

Contest Will Take Place At Shenango High Hardwood This Evening

Shenango high school basketball team will encounter one of the toughest quintets in the county tonight, when they take the hardwood against Wampum high, at Shenango floor. The game will follow a preliminary engagement between the Wampum and Shenango girls teams.

The preliminary setto begins at 7:30 o'clock. Earlier in the season the Wampum team managed to eke out a 24-23 triumph over the East New Castle representatives who will be out to avenge for the trimming. The game promises to be one of the fastest of the season on the Shenango floor.

The probable lineup as announced by the two coaches:

Shenango		Wampum
Pack	F	Flumer
Irvine	F	Marshall
Lysko	C	McBride
Weresuk	G	Fontana
Pitzer	G	Scala

Polish College Quintet To Play Falcons Saturday

Everything is in readiness at the Polish Falcon hall for the invasion of the Polish Alliance college team of Cambridge Springs, Pa., Saturday night. The preliminary game starts at 7 o'clock.

The Polish college quintet is one of the fastest in this section and they are out to take the measure of the Falcons at New Castle. Russell Kawa and Henry Koszela will have to be at their best tomorrow night to bring home the bacon for the Falcons.

This is the feature attraction on the Falcon court this year and a big crowd will no doubt turn out to see the collegians in action.

Coach Spears Faces Charges At Wisconsin

Will Question Coach On Using Alcoholic Stimulants Before Game

(International News Service)

MADISON, Wis., Feb. 7. — Dr. Clarence W. Spears, head football coach, was expected to be called to the stand today as the University of Wisconsin board of regents pushed its investigation of Wisconsin's current athletic "situation" to a conclusion.

Spears will be called on to answer charges that he ordered administration of alcoholic stimulents to Wisconsin football players.

"Bill, don't give them orange juice and sugar between halves any more. Give them brandy and coffee, but don't let the fellow in the front office know about it."

Dope Was Used

Fallon also testified that before the Iowa game in 1933 he injected a local anesthetic into the broken finger of George Deanovich, an end under "Spears' order."

Asked if he thought this treatment proper the trainer responded: "I don't think any man should be doped up any more than a race horse should be."

U. S. Hockey Team Hopes To Enter Olympic Finals

Defeat Swiss Team 3 To 0, Canadians Loom As Real Threats To Title

By PIERRE J. HUSS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

GARMISCH - PARTENKIRCHEN, Germany, Feb. 7.—America's hockey team made itself a certainty for the winter Olympic semi-finals today when it suddenly found its real form for the first time since leaving the United States and defeated Switzerland—the strongest hockey outfit in Europe—3 goals to 0.

The Americans found themselves for only about two minutes—the last two minutes of the second period, when they drove through all three of their goals—but this was sufficient to down the speedy Swiss.

Canadians Win.

At the same time Canada remained top-heavy favorite for the hockey championship by disposing of Latvia 11 to 0 in the same easy fashion as Poland was beaten yesterday.

The United States ski team was due for its first actual competition today in the downhill races for men and women.

Throughout the first frame and most of the second of the American-Swiss hockey match the Yanks, fighting furiously, had been unable to penetrate the Swiss defense until they broke through just before the gun.

Score Three Goals.

Three Boston lads were responsible for all the American goals. Frank Spain, who hurt his knee in yesterday's 1-0 victory over Germany and was carired off the rink, scored first on a pass from Frank Stubbs, also from Boston. Spain hooked up the puck and cut across for a clear shot at the cage.

A minute later Eldridge Ross, unguarded for a sceond, slipped a clean shot into the net. And just three seconds before the period ended, Jack Garrison, who has been playing an outstanding game at right defense, scored a long one from the center of ice.

The Americans weren't so good in the final period. Their passing was ragged, but they were content to defend their lead.

Waether Clear.

Tomorrow Canada plays Austria in its group . There are four brackets in the preliminaries, the winners of each meeting in the semi-final playoffs, with Canada and the United States certain to fight each other.

The blizzard that made yesterday's hockey matches almost invisible was all over today, and the weather was cold, clear and sunny.

VANCE'S FAST BALL WAS WONDER OF BARNSTORMING TRIPS

TODAY IT'S DIZZY. Yesterday it was Dazzy. Dazzy Vance was as much a hero to small town folk in his heyday as Dizzy Dean is today. Especially on barnstorming trips was he the tops. The big thing in those days was the speedball. Dazzy, as his name suggests, dazzled them.

The Dodgers had everyone believing that Dazzy's fast ball couldn't even be seen. It was the custom of the outfielders and the infielders on the Dodgers to lie down in their positions while Dazzy was pitching in exhibition games. Some would even leave the field as Dazzy mowed down the opposition inning after inning.

One day the club appeared in a small midwestern town. Dazzy was setting the local men on their ears.

Andy High sat nonchalantly on second base. The first two boys at bat that inning struck out. But the third one swung and darned if he didn't hit one straight through the box. Dazzy, dumbfounded, ducked. The ball landed squarely in Andy High's mitt on second base.

"Whew, fellows, did you see that? That guy can even make 'em hit 'em where he wants to. What a pitcher!"

"Y" Devil Dogs Topple Pulaskis By Score 40 To 39

The "Y" Devil Dogs led by Mike Kulich, former New Castle high star, with 21 points, topped the K. Pulaski five last night at the Pulaski floor 40 to 39 in a fast and well played contest, in which the Pulaskis rallied in the closing minutes of the game to almost overtake the "Y" Devil Dogs.

The game was nip and tuck all the way with the lead see-sawing back and forth at intervals. The first half found the "Y" Devil Dogs out in front with a 22 to 20 count. Earl Bauman and Seneski supplied eight points apiece for the Devil Dogs. For the Oaklanders the work of Boron, Chernyavsky and Hnat was the best.

PITT PLANS FOR CHARTER DAY

University Will Be 149 Years Old On February 28, It Is Announced

(Special To The News)

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 7.—Charter day will be observed at the University of Pittsburgh on Friday, February 28, at which time the university will be 149 years old. As the day is observed, the Pitt students and faculty will look forward to next year's charter day, at which time the 150th anniversary will be celebrated.

Founded two years before the constitutional convention created the United States of America, the university has evolved from Pittsburgh Academy, which later became the Western University of Pennsylvania, and, in 1908, the University of Pittsburgh.

Already work is being done on next year's 150th anniversary. Mrs. Agnes Lynch Starrett, assistant professor in English, has been appointed by Chancellor John G. Bowman to write the history of the university from 1787 to the present.

Work is being rushed on the completion of the Heinz Memorial chapel, erected by the family of the late Howard Heinz; and of the Stephen Foster Memorial auditorium, in which will be housed the manuscripts of the noted composer, collected and contributed to the university by Josiah K. Lilly of Indianapolis, Ind.

The Cathedral of Learning, world's tallest schoolhouse, has been completed on the exterior since last year and much of the interior is in use. The university library, now housed in State Hall, will be moved to its new location on the fourth, fifth and sixth floors of the cathedral, some time before the end of the present college year. All but the various professional and graduate and research schools will be housed in the cathedral, presumably by next February when the 150th anniversary is celebraetd.

Jesse Moore Is High In Shoot

Jesse Moore with a brilliant 195 string out of a possible 200, was the high man in the semi-weekly shoot of the New Castle Rifle club at the Cathedral range. Second honors went to Ruby Moore and Leo Hill each with a 188 count.

Will Play Only "Simon Pures"

(International News Service)

SAN JOSE, Cal., Feb. 7—San Jose state college banned from the schedules of all other college teams due to its unique policy of "room and board" for its athletes, today had announced it would abandon the plan.

Cancellation of the games by other schools caused the change, it was announced by Dr. T. W. MacQuarrie president of the college.

East Brookers At New Wilmington

East Brook high school basketball team will play a county league game at the New Wilmington high court tonight. The girls' team of both schools will play the preliminary game at 7:30 o'clock.

The Emerick coached machine defeated the New Wilmingtonians at East Brook earlier in the year and for that reason the Eaglesonmen are out to avenge that setback tonight.

Younger Boys Play Saturday

The Younger Boys Basketball League at the "Y" will get under way Saturday afternoon with three games on the card. The first game will start at 2:30 o'clock.

The Troop No. 9 team will tangle with the Keystone Midgets. The Ben Franklins will meet the Cosmos Juniors. The DiCarlos will meet the New Castle Celtics.

Castletons Will Battle Tin Mill

Saturday night at the Y. M. C. A. floor the Castletons will battle the Tin Mill Five in a House-Indus League game. The game will get under way at 8 o'clock. There is a lot of rivalry between these two teams and a fast engagement is looked for.

BROTHER AND SISTER MEET AFTER 40 YEARS

(International News Service)

Jacob and his sister had been separated when they were youngsters by their mother's death. It wasn't until recently that Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Groom could arrange a trip to Sycamore, Ill., the home of Groom's sister, now Mrs. William Potts.

Pass Ordinances At Meeting Of Borough Council

Sewer Project Discussed And Passed At Monthly Meeting Thursday Night

SELECT PERSONNEL OF STREET DEPT.

ELLWOOD CITY, Feb. 7—Several ordinances were passed by the Ellwood City Borough Council at its monthly meeting in the city building on Sixth street, on Thursday evening.

An ordinance vacating an alley and the replacing of it by the Ellwood Foundry and Machine Company was passed on third and final reading after arrangements were made for sewer rights. Another ordinance establishing a building line in Ewing Park was passed on the third and final reading. It is effective only from this date.

Council instructed the secretary to inform the Chamber of Commerce that the transient ordinance presented by the Chamber, is already covered by a borough ordinance on file here.

Council passed an ordinance signed by Councilman E. J. Reinheimer which recommended the borough to enter in contract with the Pittsburgh and Lake Erie Railroad Company to obtain a right of way and waiver of damages in the construction of a 36 inch storm sewer on 12th street. The president of Council and secretary were authorized to carry out all the necessary negotiations. The rules of council were suspended to pass the ordinance on first and final reading.

Two agreements were also approved of at this time. One that the borough enter into agreement with the Pennsylvania Power Company to obtain the right of way to construct electric power transmission line across their property for a period of five years. The borough officials were authorized to sign papers. Upon recommendation of the sewer committee council approved an agreement with the Beaver Enameling Company of this city to obtain a right of way and waiver of damages in the construction o f a six inch storm sewer across their property. This will be a WPA project.

Name Personnel

Upon recommendation of the street committee the personnel of the street department was elected as follows: Street Commissioner, Robert Linn at $156 per month; Miles Christie, operator of the street sweeper at $128 per month; employees Edward Gallagher, Carl Gallagher, Floyd Barto and E. S. Bleakney at 52 cents per hour, Patsy Patrick, Joe Parisi, and D. B. Gallagher at 44 cents per hour. Mr. Bleakney will be transferred to Ewing Park during the summer and fall. His place will be temporarily filled by appointment of the street committee. It was announced that council will formally appoint a dog catcher at its next meeting.

The finance committee recommended that Mervin L. Cunningham, 1933 tax collector compile a list of unpaid taxes and property numbers in preparation for filing. And also a list of unpaid personal taxes with the reasons of non-payment. After this he will be relieved of his duties and his services will terminate in April.

A recommendation of the electric light and gas committee, installing a permanent record of meter deposits in the borough with the owner's signature, was passed by council. The changes and equipment for this will cost the borough $300. The WPA will provide the clerical help.

A number of form bids for the razing and salvaging of the Central school building and the construction of a new municipal building, with alternate bids, was passed by council. The razing will be a WPA project which has received the Harrisburg approval and is now awaiting federal confirmation.

Councilman A. J. Howell announced that the American Railway and Express Company is instituting air service and is contemplating to use Ellwood City as one of the landing bases. Land near Belton here has been inspected for this purpose. President Sitler announced that he will announce a committee later to investigate this matter and give every possible assistance.

Mrs. Fred Henderson Pleasing Hostess

ELLWOOD CITY, Feb. 7.—Mrs. Fred Henderson proved a pleasing hostess Thursday evening when she received the members of the E. T. M. club at her home on Fourth street, for their regular meeting. Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Benn of this city were special guests.

The evening hours were whiled away around four tables of 500 at the conclusion of which Mrs. Earl Duncan and Mrs. Al Neininger, W. D. Porter, and Earl Duncan won the prizes for the ladies and men respectively.

At an appointed hour an appetizing luncheon was served by the hostess. Mrs. Earl Duncan invited the club to meet at her home on Spring avenue on Feb. 26.

Annual Indoor Meet Has Scouts Working Hard

Boy Scout Troops Of City To Compete For Stiefel Trophy Next Monday

ELLWOOD CITY, Feb. 7—Much interest is being shown in the different Boy Scout troops in connection with the indoor meet that is to be held on Monday night at the Presbyterian church. Several troops will compete for the Stiefel trophy and the boys are working hard to get ready for the contests.

Another thing that has the boys all excited now is that many of them are having their way paid to the annual Scout dinner that is being held on next Tuesday night when Elmer Faber, a member of the Pennsylvania State Police will speak. Word has just been received that the Foremans Club is going to pay the way for their whole troop. Certain other sponsoring bodies of Scout Troops are considering sending their troop.

Enjoyable Event At Hostess House

Mrs. J. Jay Dunn, Sr., And Mrs. W. R. Johnston Hold Valentine Party

ELLWOOD CITY, Feb. 7.—An enjoyable event was held last evening at the Hostess House on Glenn avenue when Mrs. J. Jay Dunn, Sr., and Mrs. W. R. Johnston were joint hostesses to a number of local friends at a delightful Valentine party. The home was appropriately decorated in a red and white color scheme and clever favors.

A delicious dinner was served at 6:30 with covers laid for 40. The remainder of the evening was whiled away around ten tables of contract bridge. The prizes at the close went to Mrs. Carl Hayes, Mrs. Herman Wilson, Mrs. Walter Close, Mrs. E. N. Sanders, and Mrs. Frank Krouse.

Mrs. Joe Latiano Is Club Hostess

ELLWOOD CITY, Feb. 7.—Mrs. Joe Latiano was hostess to the members of the T. O. B. Club Thursday evening at her home on Crescent avenue. Mrs. Fred Smith of Monaca was a special guest.

Two tables of bridge were in play during the evening. Mrs. Tom Newman was found to be the winner of the high score award. Mrs. Smith was presented with the guest favor.

A dainty luncheon was served by the hostess at a later hour. The club will meet again next Thursday at the home of Mrs. Bruce Myers on Crescent avenue.

At an appropriate hour a tasty luncheon was served by Mrs. Alfred Peyson and daughter Grace.

J. D. McKinley of Fourth street, who has been confined to his home with pneumonia, is reported well on the road to recovery.

New Castle High Invades Ellwood

Thrilling Game Is Expected From Two Evenly Matched Teams Tonight

RECORD CROWD IS IN PROSPECT HERE

ELLWOOD CITY, Feb. 7.—All roads tonight will lead to Lincoln gym in Ellwood City when Coach Phil Bridenbaugh's New Castle High basketeers will invade this city for a return contest with Ellwood City High in a Section 3 contest. Once more Lincoln gym is expected to be filled to capacity and school officials are making preparations to accommodate a record crowd.

Despite their two recent losses which included a neat trimming at the hands of the Beaver Falls Tigers last Tuesday, Ellwood is given an even chance to stop the "Red Hurricane" cagers. In this half the red and black has lost to New Brighton and defeated Ambridge. Their record to date shows five victories and three losses to Ellwood's two wins and six defeats. For the second half both teams lost two valuable men. New Castle is minus the services of the invaluable Toscano and Cabas, while Ellwood has lost Captain Kraynack and Luxenberg.

Besides it being the main attraction of the year here, and the natural rivalry between the two schools, Coach Denny Schill's proteges have a score to settle with the red and black. With the advantage of playing on their home floor where the locals are hard to handle, it appears that New Castle will have their hands full. Anyway it will be no walk away for anybody. The Ellwood Wolverines hope to wipe away some of the sting of last Tuesday's trimming and a victory over New Castle would certainly be a fine tonic. The locals are about due to click on all six.

New Changes

Last Tuesday Coach Bridenbaugh uncovered a good forward combination when he started Dutkin and Nocera instead of Mumford and Carik. The former played a prominent part in the defeat of Ambridge. Grommes will be back at center. Covelli and Adams are the guards who replaced Toscano and Cabas. A change or two may appear in the Ellwood line-up tonight. Here-to-fore Hauserman and Hazen were at the forwards, Flannagan at center, Marcus and Pishioneri at the guards. It is probable that Greco may start in place of Pishioneri or Metz go into action at forward thus shifting Hazen to guard. Also Hughes may start at the pivot position which would shift Flannagan to a guard. This latter arrangement would give the locals an advantage in height. A team with Hauserman, Hazen, Hughes, Flannagan, and Marcus has looked good in practice. Hughes has played varsity center last year and should take care of this position capably. Flannagan has played guard last year and this and has proved his worth.

The Reserve teams of both schools will clash in a preliminary game at 7 o'clock. The varsity game is scheduled for 8:15. Fans will come early to claim choice seats. Any seat in the spacious gym affords a clear view of the floor. Nearly 2,000 witnessed the Beaver Falls game. It is expected that this will be equaled or bettered tonight.

BETHANY CLASS HAS FINE MEETING HERE

After a short business meeting a social time was enjoyed. At an appointed hour a luncheon was served by Mrs. Welsh, assisted by Miss Judith Aubrey. The class will meet again March 5.

Rotary Addressed By Midland Pastor

Club Votes To Co-operate And Participate In Scout Anniversary Week

ELLWOOD CITY, Feb. 7.—A good showing was made as to the purpose to attend the joint dinner next Tuesday evening in honor of Boy Scout Week, by the Ellwood City Rotary club at its weekly meeting last night in the First Presbyterian church.

Wayne Shiever had charge of the program last evening and introduced as the speaker of the evening the Rev. Paul J. Gibson, pastor of the Presbyterian church of Midland, Pa. Mr. Gibson is an eloquent speaker, and with a wide experience. He chose as his subject last evening, "The Fifth Piccolo Player". The story is that in a great orchestra in which there were five piccolo players, the leader stopped the orchestra in its playing and said that the fifth piccolo player was not doing his full duty and asked that he do so. Mr. Gibson emphasized the worth of the individual. The message was well calculated to cheer any individual who might be possessed of some inferior complexes.

FIDELITY CLASS MEETS LAST NIGHT

ELLWOOD CITY, Feb. 7.—Mrs. Alex Bohlander was hostess to the Fidelity Bible class of the Bell Memorial church last night at her home on Allenby street, with 20 present.

After a short business meeting a delightful social time was enjoyed. A delicious luncheon was served later by a committee composed of Mrs. Homer Christie, Mrs. Clarence Adams, Mrs. Leona Lash, and the hostess.

At the next meeting on March 5 there will be a tureen dinner and election of officers.

HOSPITAL NOTES

BIBLE STUDY

ELLWOOD CITY, Feb. 7.—This evening the regular weekly Bible Study class will be held at the Glad Tidings Tabernacle at North Sewickley at 7:30. The pastor, Rev. Frederick Rader, will conduct the class.

ELLWOOD PERSONALS

Mrs. Chester Cable and children, of Scottdale, are the house guests of Mrs. Mary Fox of Seventh street for a few days.

Leo Mason and W. Bruce Hunter of this city returned from a business trip to Detroit, Mich.

WAMPUM

CLUB MEETING

Mrs. Joseph Montozzi was hostess to the G. T. G. club this week. Bridge was the pleasure enjoyed by the members. Mrs. Nick Scala won first prize, Mrs. P. Shana and Mrs. Michael Pozzuto second.

The hostess was assisted in serving a dainty lunch by Mrs. Nick Scala.

Mrs. Pozzuto will be hostess to the club in two weeks.

MISSIONARY MEETING

Mrs. Clarence Stapf and Mrs. J. D. Shelatree were hostesses to the ladies of the Missionary society on Wednesday at the former's home.

A quilting party was enjoyed by 15 members and two special guests, Mrs. John Galbreath and Miss Elinore Jackson.

At noon dinner was served by the hostesses, assisted by Mrs. C. M. Harvey.

March meeting will be the annual tureen dinner and guest day for the ladies.

A year for each chicken stolen, was the punishment meted out in a circuit court at Conway, Ark., recently to Albert Mitchell, negro farmer. Eight fowls were taken.

Stock Market Is Firm Today

Motor Shares Are Active Today As Market Moves To Higher Ground

By LESLIE GOULD
Intternational News Service Financial Writer

NEW YORK, Feb. 7.—A run-up of over two points in Chrysler in response to record earnings and a dividend boost featured a firm stock market today.

Auburn also jumped two points but General Motors and other auto shares were only fractionally higher.

Steels and communication issues also displayed strength, for a time. U. S. Steel rose nearly a point and Bethlehem half as much, but these gains were erased later. Western Union extended its rise about a point.

Activity and strength in N. Y. Central featured the rail division with small fractional gains predominating. Oils, aviations, and copper issues were steady. Canning shares were down fractionally.

Two 10,000 shares of Packard changed hands at 8½, and later a new high of 8⅝ was established.

TEXAS CENTENNIAL EXPOSITION TO BE HELD HERE

Frozen-In Islanders Get Food Via Airlanes

Loud Speakers of U. S. Ready to Broadcast

HOW INTERNATIONAL BOUNDARY IS BEING CHANGED

With steam shovels instead of cannon, the international boundry line between the United States and Mexico is being changed near El Paso, Tex. The Rio Grande river is being straightened with engineers and workmen from both countries wielding pick and shovel in an effort to remove millions of tons of earth. Meanderings of the upper Rio Grande are being cut from 155 miles to 88 miles, with the exchange of 7,000 acres of land between the two countries. The work will cost $6,000,000, of which the United States will provide 88 per cent and Mexico 12 per cent. Aerial view shows scene.

American Public Smoking and Drinking More

Tastes of the American public change with the times. Old habits fade as others are revived. Such indulgences as "chawing" tobacco and dipping snuff are on the decline. Even card playing is losing its appeal. On the other hand, people are smoking more and drinking more. The trend of these habits is gauged through tax figures revealed by the internal revenue department.

Hoffman Wanted Publicity Says Writing Expert

Milwaukee Man Feels Positive That Hauptmann Was Implicated In Kidnaping

(International News Service)

INDIANAPOLIS, Feb. 7.—A craving for personal publicity prompted Gov. Harold G. Hoffman, of New Jersey to reopen the Lindbergh kidnaping case and grant Bruno Richard Hauptmann a reprieve from his impending death, John F. Tyrell, of Milwaukee, a handwriting expert, said in addressing a meeting of the Indianapolis Bar Association here.

Tyrell said he was a state witness in the trial of Hauptmann. He declared there was no doubt about the guilt of Hauptmann and that his handwriting proved there was no one else in the plot.

Tyrell said that the most damaging evidence against the defendant was the letter he wrote to the Lindbergh family, with which was sent the sleeping garment of the baby. He said:

"This was conclusive proof that Hauptmann had contact with the baby and that he was the writer of the ransom notes. It is impossible for any person to leave out things in his writing that characterizes it. It is impossible to disguise handwriting because we do not know what the peculiarities are that characterize it."

BARKING CANINE FRIGHTENS THIEVES

(International News Service)

Next morning, Butz found two large burlap sacks in the yard. Inside of them was most of his chickens, which had been taken from his coop. The dog's barking had frightened away the thieves.
